Rehabilitation Work Is Faced In New England

Fires Are Conquered In Several Cities In Flood-Swept Districts

FOOD SUPPLIES ARE LOW IN SOME TOWNS

Deny Reports That Cambridge, Vermont, Has Been Swept By Fire

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 8.—Having fought and conquered flood, freezing temperatures, fire and disease, each in turn, New England today was face to face with the terrific task of rehabilitation.

Fire, the newest of New England's tortuous menaces of the past four days, struck at Ludlow, Vt., and at Springfield, Vt., yesterday, but a battle waged in knee deep slime and debris left by the retreating flood waters found citizens victorious today.

With food supplies already dangerously low, the Ludlow, Vt., fire added to the town's troubles by leveling the only bakery. From this shop the citizens had been receiving their daily ration of half a loaf of bread.

Fire Subdued

Although scores of men volunteered in fighting the blaze, only the flood saturated condition of other buildings prevented a general conflagration. High winds whipped the blazing brands over the downtown district for more than an hour before the fire was subdued.

At Springfield frantic and weary citizens found it necessary to repair broken water mains before water could be directed on the fire which broke out there. Cambridge, Vt., denied late last night the reports circulated earlier in the day that fire had swept the community.

Vermont in Distress

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Starvation and commercial ruin were the two gaunt spectres stalking hand-in-hand in the wintry blasts over the desolate flood-swept areas of Vermont today.

Coolidge Host At "Flood" Breakfast

Prominent Illinois Leaders Visit Coolidge On Flood Situation Today

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Coolidge gave a "flood control" breakfast at the White House this morning, entertaining a number of Illinoisans and others who came to the capital to impress upon congress the need for saving the Mississippi valley from further catastrophes.

The guest list was headed by Gov. Len Small of Illinois, and Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson of Chicago.

Rogers Reckons Indians May Pay For Boulder Dam

LAGUANA, N. M., Nov. 8.—They struck oil on the Navajos over three years ago. I foolishly asked "how often do they get their payments for their oil royalty."

Well they hadn't any yet. They took a million of it to build a bridge across the Little Colorado River so tourists wouldn't have to drive so far around to see the Grand Canyon.

The Navajos paid for the bridge and there had never been a Navajo crossed it yet.

If the Indians' oil royalties hold out they will have enough to build the Boulder Dam for the whites. Poor Lo!

I suppose I will be recalled for telling this Magruder and Summerall.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Fifty Judges To Be Named In Pennsylvania

Expect Million And Half Votes To Be Cast In State During Day

LOCAL CONTESTS HOLD INTEREST

No Statewide Elections Of Any Kind Concerned In Day's Balloting

By S. I. NEIMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—Pennsylvania went to the polls today at the general election to fill local and county offices in all parts of the commonwealth and to elect 50 persons to judicial office in 24 counties.

Crisp weather, with a hint of snow in some parts of the state, promised a heavy vote. While unofficial reports were that registration was in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 persons, it was anticipated that the total vote today would be slightly in excess of 1,500,000.

Seek Judicial Places

One hundred thirteen candidates holding a total of 168 nominations, seek election to the half hundred judicial positions. The Republican party has candidates for every position, while the Democrats are in the running in 48 of the 50 races, having withdrawn in two instances.

The prohibition party has nominees in 43 places in the judiciary, the labor party 16 and the socialist party 11. In many instances one candidate holds two or more nominations, and in one case, that of Judge John S. Fine, in Luzerne county, four nominations are held by one man.

Some indication of the statewide interest shown in the judicial elections is gained by the fact that only in three counties are nominations for common pleas judgeships without opposition, while in Allegheny county, for instance, there are 33 candidates for nine judgeships.

Harry Jeffreys Is Man Believed To Have Actually Hired Detectives

SEVERAL APPEAR FOR TESTIMONY

Norman Glasscock, Juror, Discredits Story About Meeting With Lamb

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — The man who the government now believes actually hired the 16 Burns detectives that kept the Fall-Sinclair jurors under surveillance came before the Federal Grand Jury today.

The grand jury is probing charges of alleged jury tampering by Harry F. Sinclair and his associates, disclosure of which resulted in a mistrial of the Teapot Dome Oil conspiracy case. The witness who appeared today was Harry Jeffreys, chief clerk of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company.

Injection of Jeffreys into the investigation came as a direct result of yesterday's testimony by William J. Burns and his son W. Sherman Burns.

Those following the probe were somewhat surprised as both Burns and his son had indicated that H. Mason Day, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration Company, was the employer of the detectives. Day is out on $25,000 bond, he and Sinclair having been charged by assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw with conspiracy to attempt to illegally influence a petit jury.

Several To Testify

Waiting to appear before the grand jury while Jeffreys was testifying, was A. Cheldon Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Refining Company. He and Day are alleged by the government to have been "contact men" between the Burns agents and Sinclair. Charles G. Ruddy, Burns manager in charge of the jury stalkers,

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 8. —Chin Lung, of New York, and Soo Hoo Wing, of Newark, N. J., Chinese youths barely out of their teens, were executed at state's prison shortly after midnight today for the Tong murder in Manchester last March of Ong Ging Hom.

While the young Irish wife of Soo Hoo was on the verge of collapse after a frantic day of futile last minute appeals, her husband, confused and dazed, was led to the death chamber and hanged at 12:28 o'clock. He was pronounced dead at 12:42.

Chin had preceded him and had been pronounced dead after 14 minutes.

They died on the hanging machine that has been idle since the execution of Gerald Chapman, the "superbandit," nineteen months ago this morning.

MARE WINS RACE WITH DEATH

Dolly Varden is still the fast old mare she used to be. Seven years ago Dolly won the applause of track fans as she did a mile in 2:10, but Dolly ran her greatest race recently when, with her owner, Mrs. Violet B. Elmer, of Albany, N. Y., on her back, she thundered down the road to save the life of Corinne Handy, 15, who was at the mercy of a runaway horse. Dolly sprinted a mile, cut in front of the runaway, bringing the animal to a halt. Dolly, her mistress and Corinne Handy are shown above.

Dr. J. J. Tigert Makes Address

Educational Commissioner Is Heard By Large Crowd At Senior High

OPENS OBSERVANCE OF EDUCATION WEEK

Educational week was opened in New Castle Monday evening when Dr. John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, spoke on "The Teacher Supreme" in the Senior High School auditorium. About five hundred people were present to hear the Commissioner.

Dr. Tigert is an entertaining speaker. Tall and droll, with the Kentucky accent still strong, he has a dry humor which is thoroughly enjoyable. The public school teacher he termed as being the hope of the Republic and in speaking on his subject said among other things.

The "Teacher Supreme" suggests the qualities of the ideal teacher. No teacher can attain to the ideal of perfection, but the ideal is a constant stimulus in the struggle for self government. The primary incentive for the gathering of teachers in meetings and associations is professional growth. Valuable and pleasant as the social aspects of these gatherings may be, unless they provide a medium for better teachers and better teaching they can not be justified.

First, no teacher is ever likely to achieve great success who does not love teaching. No one is likely to suc-

JOSEPH RUOFF DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Resident Is Found Dead In Bed Late Monday

Joseph Ruoff, aged 62 years, a well-known resident of this city, was found dead in bed at his home, 318 Northview avenue, late Monday afternoon by members of his family when they went to call him to go to work.

Mr. Ruoff's death was very unexpected, as he had been in his usual health when he had laid down earlier in the day. He worked on Sunday night, having been on the night turn at the Grasselli powder plant, where he was employed in the fuse department. He had not complained to anyone about feeling ill. His death is believed to have been the result of heart trouble.

He was born in Transfer, Mercer county, March 6, 1865, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ruoff. He had been a resident of New Castle for 23 years and was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Mary E. Ferguson Ruoff, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. George Miles of Cuyahoga Falls, O., and Miss Hazel Louella Ruoff, at home. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Louise Bartteiger, of Youngstown, and a brother, Andrew Ruoff, of Transfer, Pa.

Funeral services will take place Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 2:30 p. m. from his late residence. Rev. W. E. McClure of the First Presbyterian church will officiate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Republican and Democrats stood shoulder to shoulder today and appealed to congress to relieve the vast and fertile Mississippi Valley from the menace of floods.

Hundreds of Middle Westerners thronged the hearing room where the House Flood Control committee is considering flood control legislation and heard such redoubtable antagonists as Senator James E. "This question transcends all partisanship," said Watson. "It should be regarded as a national problem, and a pressing problem. It demands the united support of an united people. This is a problem for congress to deal with. Talk of a fifty-fifty plan is ridiculous it is a national matter.

Philadelphians At Polls Today To Elect Mayor

Heated Mayor Fight In Philadelphia Brings Out Big Vote Today

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Partly overcast skies and freezing weather greeted Philadelphians today as they went to the poles to elect a mayor, an entire city council, a district attorney, a sheriff, receiver of taxes, a recorder of deeds, three county commissioners, five judges of common pleas court, two orphans' court judges, a judge of the municipal court and 19 magistrates. The Republican organization candidates were heavy favorites to win all places.

The chief contest to be decided by the voters is that of the mayoralty, with Harry A. Mackey, Republican ex-campaign manager of Senator-elect William S. Vare, competing against J. Hampton Moore, ex-mayor and leader of the Citizens' party. Mackey was a favorite as the polls opened today, although political observers say the trend has been towards Moore during the past week.

The early voting was without disorder and was reported heavy for the organization candidates.

Voting In City Is Rather Light, Precinct Reports For Morning Show

WINTRY WEATHER CONDITIONS HERE

Believe Large Vote Will Be Polled Before Seven O'clock, However

Winter weather, with snow gusts and chilly breezes, forcing the temperature down to the freezing point, greeted Mr. and Mrs. Voter today as they stepped out to exert their prerogative as American citizens. The job of electing city and county officials was at hand and the campaigns which were started back in July came to a head.

At most election precincts the vote at 10:30 this morning was rather light, lighter than it was during the primary election. The vote is expected to increase in numbers as the day gets older and at the dinner hour tonight will probably be a rush.

No disorder had been reported at any of the polls at noon, most of them having but few watchers and workers around. Apparently the cold weather had driven the spectators to warmer quarters.

Indications of the past few days have pointed to a large vote being cast, but the number of ballots cast at noon did not bear out this prediction.

OHIO OUTCOME IS RATHER IMPORTANT

Number Of Congressmen To Be Elected In Scattered Districts

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Today is election day in a score of states.

The fact, however, evoked but a flicker of interest in the capital. The issues, such as they are, are so denationalized that even the most farsighted of party leaders here could see but little significance in the results as applied to the presidential sweepstakes a year from today. Local issues everywhere predominate.

Perhaps the nearest approach to a national issue at stake today is provided by the wet and dry contests that feature several of the elections.

Ohio Center of Interest

In Ohio, long a cockpit for the warring elements of prohibition, the voters are called upon to ratify or reject an enactment of the legislature that is backed by the Anti-Saloon League. It involves the system of local justice courts whereby liquor law violators may be haled before rural tribunals and penalized accordingly. The United States supreme court knocked out the previous system, whereupon the Anti-Saloon League had it reenacted in somewhat different form. Today's election amounts to a referendum on that re-enactment. Mo-

Owners of the theatre declared they had no labor trouble. As far as could be learned, there was no loss of life.

When the temperature was torrid and the sun was burning hot, and the average pedestrian looked for a shady spot, milady wore a fur around her neck of lily white, disregarding observations that she looked a perfect sight. When Spring was in the offing, say six weeks or two months off, she was wearing straw, though other folks were shaking off a cough. But the winter now is with us, fact its down to thirty-three, and milady's garb is puzzling to an average chap like me. Where she should wear fur encircling a neck built like a swan, it is bare and white and glistening and the rabbit fur is gone. And instead of heavy hosiery, the silk is thin and sheer, fact the only thing protected is a portion of her ear. Oh her ways are enigmatic, and her actions are the same, but what use to chide or cavil, always she will be the same.

Allegheny Takes Steps To Prevent Dishonest Vote

CAVANAUGH LEADS LIST OF WATCHERS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—With alleged irregularities in the recent primaries still fresh in mind, officials of the Allegheny County Elections Association pledged themselves to see an honest vote count here.

Leading the forces of the County Elections Association, which is affiliated with the state body, was Thomas J. Cavanaugh, known throughout Pennsylvania for his many raids and seizures as federal prohibition agent. A host of Cavanaugh's subordinates were assigned to watch the polls.

In Allegheny county the contest attracting most attention was that for county commissioner. C. C. McGovern, county controller, bolted the Republican party following his defeat for Republican nomination for county commissioner in the primaries, and with his supporters formed an "Independent" party.

McGovern is opposing James Houlahen, Democratic incumbent, for the minority party commissioner post. J. G. Armstrong and C. V. Babcock, Republican incumbents, stood for re-election.

Appointment of the former federal dry agent as chief investigator for the County Elections Association came on the eve of the election. Cavanaugh said he would co-operate with the Allegheny County Bar Association and the district attorney in prosecuting election irregularities.

FIFTY JUDGES TO BE NAMED IN PENNSYLVANIA

dicial races, there was no dearth of competition in the municipal, borough and county elections. In the large cities, in fact, there was almost unparalleled bitterness, especially in Philadelphia and Harrisburg mayoralty fights.

Nineteen counties will elect 36 judges to serve 10-year terms on common please benches, with 86 persons seeking the offices.

In only seven instances sitting judges are not candidates for re-election: in Blair, Centre and Delaware counties the incumbents failed of renomination at the primaries, while in Luzerne county the sitting judge was not a candidate, the same being true of two judges in Philadelphia. A third incumbent in Philadelphia withdrew.

Although the 29 other judges are all candidates in a number, they are under different banners than those which they carried to victory originally. This holds true in Allegheny, Schuylkill and Lackawanna counties. In Bradford, Montgomery and Northampton counties nominees for common pleas judgeships are without opposition.

Five judges of orphans' courts are to be elected for 10-year terms in Berks, Montgomery, Fayette and Philadelphia county. With all five present judges candidates for re-election in five counties—Adams, Forest, Mifflin, Perry and Snyder—associate judges are to be elected for six-year terms.

ALLEGED SLEUTH "FIXER" APPEARS BEFORE PROBERS

has testified that he reported to both men.

Also waiting were Norman Glasscock member of the Fall-Sinclair jury, and William V. Young, Burns operative. An affidavit was filed in court yesterday by Long stating that on October 22, Glasscock motored to a commercial flying field and there met H. R. Lamb, assistant to the Attorney General, the two engaging in a twenty minute conversation.

This according to Burns constituted "jury tampering."

Lamb already has denied the affidavit in toto and established an alibi. Glasscock was prepared to do likewise today, he said.

"I've never been on Potomac Flying Field in my life," said the juror, "and I haven't the slightest idea who Lamb is."

Long, the Burns agent personally failed to support his affidavit charging that H. R. Lamb, assistant to the Attorney General had attempted to tamper with juror Glasscock.

The operative was brought down from New York for questioning.

Assistant District Attorney Burkinshaw took Long into his office preliminary to bringing him before the grand jury.

"I'm going to give you an opportunity to identify Lamb," Burkinshaw told him.

Long had sworn he followed Glasscock to a commercial flying field where he met the driver of a roadster, later identified as Lamb's car, and the two had engaged in a twenty minute conversation.

Lamb was brought into Burkinshaw's office alone.

"No," said Long after a careful scrutiny, "that's not him."

A dozen newspaper men were then brought in.

"Can you pick Mr. Lamb out of this group?" challenged Burkinshaw.

STATE CONVENTION HERE IN JANUARY

Harry Lilly, New York club woman, Kerwin H. Fulton, president of the General Outdoor Advertising company, and C. B. Lovell, secretary of the Chicago organization.

All arrangements are being made through Tom Mokes of Johnstown, who is secretary of the state association.

When the company met in convention last year at Reading, New Castle was selected as the next convention city, because it is in the center of a territory which has more population to the square mile, large cities excluded, than any other part of Pennsylvania. Delegates from Ohio and West Virginia will also attend the convention.

While they are here, the delegates will attempt to standardize the bill board structure that will be used in coming years. To do this, some building in New Castle will be leased for the convention, and on it will be placed the new sign. An attempt will also be made to iron out the conflict between newspaper and direct mail advertising, and to link up these different branches of general advertising so that they will harmonize.

DR. J. J. TIGERT MAKES ADDRESS

ceed in any vocation who does not have his heart in it. Natural ability and ample technical qualification will not insure success where there is inertia or indifference. Among the ancients, Moses stands out as the central figure. No other man of his time possessed greater natural talent. For the development of his talent Moses took forty years of education. He was skilled in all the arts of his time. He was a savant and post-graduate of the University of Karnak. As soldier, statesman and scholar, he stood without a peer. And yet, at the culmination of his preparation and training, he found himself facing failure. He had no purpose in life. One day, swept off his feet by uncontrolled passion, he committed an act of violence and became a fugitive from justice. On the Plains of Midian, there came to him the vision of a great task to which he might dedicate his exceptional abilities. He bared his feet at the side of the burning bush and, filled by God with ambition to go back into Egypt, he returned to the land of his birth to dedicate the rest of his life in leading his people from a land of ignominious bondage. He was literally fired by God with enthusiasm.

"Enthusiasm" means "God within us." There is little hope that the teacher who regards teaching as an ordinary task or a temporary pursuit will ever rise above mere mediocrity or, perhaps, failure. The turn-over among teachers has been too great to raise the standing of many teachers to excellence. Three-fourths of those teaching in our rural schools change positions each year. The president of one of our great universities has characterized us "a tribe of intellectual tramps." Reliable estimates have established the fact that each year approximately 16 per cent of our teachers leave the profession.

Art, science, philosophy, and literature have not opened the gates which lead into the corridors of spiritual enjoyment and intellectual appreciation. A boating party on a beautiful lake was attracted by the unusual size and color of the water flowers. Some were enraptured at the beauty of the flowers, but one member of the party said, "It is a shame that no one ever learned to cook water lilies so you can eat them."

Much strife has been engendered and no little surprise awakened in recent years with reference to the scientific theory of the origin of man. The hand of man and the hand of the anthropoid ape are so similar in their physical characteristics that scientists link them together in their physical origin and evolution. But what a vast difference between the hand which for countless ages has climbed the trees, gathered cocoanuts, and of late turned the handle of an organ under the tutelage of man, and the hand which built the pyramids, the Brooklyn bridge, and the Woolworth Building, composed the oratories of Handel and the sonatas of Beethoven, placed upon immortal canvas the sainted madonnas of Raphael and the silvery landscapes of Corot, and who wrote the tragedies and comedies of Shakespeare? Physically these hands are almost alike. They have the same number of bones and the same prehensile qualities. The difference is in the intelligent and spiritual power back of the physical manipulation of the hand. It is a difference in education.

He closed with the following quotation.

"I am Education. I bear the torch that enlightens the world, fires the imagination of man, feeds the flames of genius. I give wings to dream and might to hand and brain.

"From out the deep shadows of the past I come, wearing the scars of struggle and the stripes of toil, but bearing in triumph the wisdom of all ages. Man, because of me, holds dominion over earth, air, and sea; it is for him I leash the lightning, plumb the deep, and shackle the ether.

"I am the parent of progress, creator of culture, molder of destiny. Philosophy, science, and art are the wheels of my hand. I banish ignorance, discourage vice, disarm anarchy.

"Thus have I become freedom's citadel, the arm of democracy, the hope of youth, the pride of adolescence, the joy of ages. Fortunate the nations and happy the homes that welcome me.

"The school is my workshop; here I stir ambitions, stimulate ideals, forge the keys that open the door to opportunity. I am the source of inspiration; the aid of aspiration. I am irrestible power."

Dr. C. C. Green introduced Dr. Tigert and said that in selecting a speaker to open Educational Week here the school system wanted nothing but the best and that the best had been secured.

Prior to Dr. Green's introduction Mrs. Rose M. Nothdurft vice president of the New Castle School Board made a plea for the school carnival which will be held on Thursday, November 10, the proceeds of which will go to the Library Fund.

havoc and destruction. Let's not count the dollars, but the good their expenditure will do."

Seek Speedy Aaction

Harrison told the committee he hoped flood control legislation would be the first tackled in the new congress "and shoved right along to the President's desk." He, too, stressed the point that the burden of cost must be borne by the Federal government.

"It is absolutely impossible," he said, "for the stricken people in these flooded areas to bear 25 or even 15 per cent of the cost. Their cotton and grain lands are now seas of mud. It's going to require all their resources and more to rehabilitate themselves. I cannot conceive of congress doing otherwise than dealing with this situation in a big non-partisan way. Personal views should be forgotten for the common good of all."

Judge A. G. Little of Arkansas, reviewed for the committee the flood-ridden history of the lower Mississippi Valley, and told of the millions the various states have spent in trying to control the Mississippi and her tributaries.

"They can't do it," he said. "The job is too big. It must be done by the Federal government."

Fireman Called To County Line St.

A still alarm received at 11:50 o'clock last night through the police department, called the chief of the fire department to the home of W. C. Carnes, 509 County Line street. It was found that owing to an overheated condition of the heater, the wall paper was cracking and the woodwork scorching. There was no actual damage.

LITTLE NATIONAL INTEREST SHOWN IN DAY'S VOTING

Congress Elections

There are four special elections to fill vacancies in Congress, and two of them involve the prohibition issue.

In the first district of Colorado the issue is clearly drawn between Francis J. Knauss, Republican and dry, and S. Francis White, Democrat and wet.

In the second district of Ohio there is a three-cornered contest involving various degrees of dampness. Harry Schafer, independent Republican, is classed as the wettest of the trio, which includes Charles Tatgenhorst, regular Republican, and John C. Dempsey, a Democrat.

Detroit Contest

Still another wet-dry contest is offered by Detroit's mayorality election, in which Mayor John W. Smith, the incumbent, is running on a platform so wet that it literally drips. He has made no bones about the fact that liquor is sold in Detroit, and that it will continue to be so if he is re-elected. His opponent, John C. Lodge, has conducted a campaign of silence.

These contests involving prohibition will hold the center of interest for national party leaders. They are expected to provide, in a small way, the answer to the disputed question between wets and drys as to whether prohibition sentiment is waning or gaining in these United States.

In Pennsylvania

The other congressional elections are in the 35th New York district and in the first district of Pennsylvania. For the latter place, John M. Beck, former solicitor general, seems to have a walkaway. He has the support of the Vare machine in Philadelphia. His election will bring to the House one of the nation's foremost constitutional lawyers.

The only two governor contests are in Mississippi, where the voters merely ratify the victory won by Governor Theodore Bilbo in the recent Democratic primary, and the other, a slambang contest in Kentucky between J. C. W. Beckham, Democrat, and Flem D. Simpson, Republican. The continuance of pari-mutuel betting in Kentucky horse-racing hinges upon the outcome there, Beckman being anti-racing. A number of states will pass on constitutional amendments and legislative enactments, and three states, Kentucky, Virginia and New Jersey, select new legislatures.

The most important of the constitutional amendments is in New York, where the Republicans are endeavoring to have the governors elected for four years instead of two, and have the gubernatorial election synchronize with presidential election.

New York is normally a Republican state nationally, and the Republicans there feel that the change in the state constitution would help them in state campaigns. The Democrats are bitterly opposing it.

All else in today's elections is purely local. The contests scarcely afford a curtain-raiser for the big show that is now getting under way for a year's run into next election day.

home state of President Coolidge, Vermont, was admitted on every hand to be in dire distress.

The hand of starvation was gripping the city of Newport, Vt., on the shores of Lake Memphremagog, according to a party of couriers. Even drinking water was on a ration basis. Relief must reach Newport soon or be too late.

Of the 130 known New England flood dead, 114 were in the state of Vermont. Motor trucks were battling the heavy mud cast up by the flood and airplanes were zooming overhead today. But this was only temporary relief for Vermont's thousands of homeless.

Those who traversed the Green Mountain state were of opinion that it will take months to restore railroad transportation. Not only are the railroads at a standstill, but the highways are a tangled, muddy mass of ruins and craters, a condition which will take months to repair. Snow has already fallen, aiding the work of rehabilitation, but causing great suffering among refugees. Warm clothing was said to be the greatest need.

The menace of fire was still abroad. Ludlow and Springfield, Vt., have fought it off.

Stores in Montpelier, Barre and several other Vermont cities were reported sold out of all stock with the merchants idle. No drug stores were open in the capital city, Montpelier.

With grim determination the people of Vermont—like the great mountain boys and minute men—were facing the situation bravely—struggling valiantly beneath a heavy load. To many it appeared that the load was too heavy to bear.

"We hope to be able to take care of the situation ourselves," was the statement of Governor John Weeks. But business men of Vermont did not appear to share his optimism. They were said to be of the opinion that there was not enough money in the state to provide for restoration and that man power was also needed.

Estimates of Vermont's property damage by the flood fluctuated between $25,000,000 and $50,000,000. Boston banks have sent $500,000 in currency into the stricken state. But it appeared today that Vermont must receive outside help. Unemployment throughout Vermont was widespread, a serious economic phase of the situation.

In other states reconstruction and relief were well organized and the situation was well in hand. Communication with the outside world had been re-established with hitherto isolated communities. Food and supplies were going forward along with medicines and doctors to battle dreaded typhoid and pneumonia.

automobile also started forward. He was unable to get out of the way and was shoved by his machine for the intervening space of fifty feet into the city truck, being caught between the two machines. There was a small Bell Telephone company hand truck in front of the city truck.

When Attorney White was extricated it was found that he was rather badly bruised and hurt and he was taken to the office of Dr. E. U. Snyder by Officer Nelson. From that place he was removed to the office of Dr. Jesse Cooper, where X-Ray pictures were taken, after which he was removed to his home.

When he was hurled and crushed between the two machines, he lost his watch and glasses. These were recovered later by the police department and turned over to Mr. White.

New York City adds about 450 to its population every day of the year.

Her parents, Colonel Henry H. Rogers, and Mrs. Rogers, apparently favored her wedding Ramos. An unconfirmed report was current today that the wedding gift of Colonel Rogers to his daughter was a check for $500,000. Most of those in a position to know would not discuss the rumor, but one member of the Rogers household said the report was not true.

Dr. Rosenthal Says Army Experience Most Valuable

Got A Wealth Of Experience Not Available Any Place Else In The World.

Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, Doctor of Optics, who is now located on the third floor of the Greer Building at 22 N. Mercer street, was among the first of America's young men to answer the "call to arms" in 1917, having enlisted the next day after war was declared. Dr. Rosenthal was at that time a practicing Optometrist at Brownsville, Penna., with a substantial clientelle—all of which he "threw over" to enlist.

It was decided that Dr. Rosenthal could best serve his country in the medical corps, keeping his "buddies" fit to fight, so he was sent to Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, and assigned to the staff of the School of Opthalmology at General Hospital 14, because of his special training and expert knowledge of optics.

At General Hospital No. 14, Dr. Rosenthal was associated with the greatest eye and eyesight specialists the country boasted, headed by Dr. Schweinitz and Dr. Meyer Weiner, with whom Dr. Rosenthal was associated for 24 months, during which time every imaginable optical case came to his attention. "I handled cases of every description and gained a wealth of clinical knowledge that would not be available any place in the world," says Dr. Rosenthal. Dr. Rosenthal never fails to attend some clinic from two to six weeks each year to keep abreast with modern methods in all branches of Optometry.

POLITICAL GUESSERS

THERE is no mathematician like the political oracle and forecaster. On demand, or even without it, he will draw out his pencil and show precisely how many votes each candidate will receive and how the various districts are lined up. A year before a national convention he figures out on the back of an envelope how many delegates each candidate will have, and how the percentages of the whole number will vary on successive ballots in the convention.

Before President Coolidge's immortal words had sunk in, these lightning calculators had it all figured out how many delegates Lowden had in sight, the size of the Hoover camp, the numerical proportions of the Hughes following and the size of the delegates bodies supporting the other possible candidates. The problem is solved with the utmost exactitude, and it is apparent that the prophets would not give up a single one of the votes they assign to each man who may or may not be in the running.

Strangely enough, they never figure out a majority sufficient to nominate any one man, taking pains to point out that they are giving only a sober and cautious estimate which is likely to be far exceeded by next spring. Anyhow, they insist that the delegates whom they enumerate are already "in sight." But dreamers and intoxicated persons often "see things" which people who are awake and in full possession of their senses cannot perceive.

The fact is no one knows how the delegates will line up at either of the national conventions next spring. The decision of Mr. Coolidge not to seek reelection left the Republican nomination up in the air and the several issues dividing the Democratic party makes it equally uncertain as to who will win its presidential nomination.

RIVALRY BETWEEN CITIES

CLAIMS by Baltimore to having the cleanest streets of any city in the United States are disputed by Tulsa, Oklahoma, which does not stop there but goes so far as to boast of being the cleanest city in all respects.

It is a healthy sign when communities fall out over which is superior to the other in some department of community life. It is the first manifestation of civic self-consciousness, without which no community can expect to improve itself.

There should be more competition between cities and towns. Such competition always proves mutually beneficial. It supplies the "common cause" which mobilizes the entire community back of every community project. That is because it appeals to the patriotism, pride and sportsmanship of the whole citizenry.

Every state can furnish one or more instances where friendly rivalry between cities or towns has stimulated the growth and betterment of both rivals. Off hand one can cite Toledo and Columbus in Ohio, St. Paul and Minneapolis, Atlanta and Birmingham, Baltimore and Buffalo which are near-twins in population, and countless others. Set up two towns on opposite sides of a river and you start an eternal feud for leadership that manifests itself all the way down to the border battles of the younger generation.

The ease with which communities can be embroiled in competitive progressiveness suggests that much good might come from a contest among cities and towns for selection on a given date of communities excelling in various civic virtues. The largest population, best streets, best park system, cleanest city, least smoke, least traffic congestion, fewest traffic accidents and most efficient municipal government are but a few of the goals to be worked for in such a contest.

HUMAN CAPACITY TESTS

DESPITE the criticism which has been made of the efficacy of intelligence tests, the war department is satisfied they have their place in sifting out the recruits applying for enlistment in the army. The tests have been adopted after long study by a board convened for that purpose and a try-out in one recuiting district in each of the corps areas.

One of the tests is an abbreviation of the revised Binet-Simon scale used during the World War. The changes are still being rung on the validity and meaning of the conclusions as to the general level of American intelligence. That test alone is probably inadequate for a general sizing up of intellectual calibre. But it may have its place, subject to future necessary allowances as part of such an estimation. The war department practice will be to supplement this test by another, called the minimum mental examination. The recruiting officer gives a literacy test, a reading vocabulary test, a vocal vocabulary test and, for non-English speaking applicants, a performance test. All these together ought to prove more valuable than the isolated intelligence test. The try-out of the new system ought to be of value not only to psychologists, but to those in the business and the educational fields who are seeking a really fair and reliable means to estimate the human material with which they have to deal.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:49. Sun rises tomorrow 6:40.

A keen observer of traffic violations tells us confidentially that the main thoroughfare stop signs in New Castle do not seem to be wearing out very many brakes.

We heard a chap say after he got a bid to a banquet where it read "10 a plate" that he could go over to James M. Smith's pottery and get a far better plate for two or three dollars at the most.

We raised three or four stalks of tobacco in our garden this summer and we gave it to a chap who said he cured it. We do not want him to smoke it around where we are during this winter, but he can smoke it in our garden next summer so it will kill all the noxious bugs there. It is fierce stuff and the burning of an old boot would smell like ice cream compared to it.

Last week we got bills for about six or seven that we had already paid some days previous. Just because times are a bit hard is no good reason for trying to collect accounts several times. A lot of people are making a lot of mistakes and the only thing that saves us is the returned check or the receipt. It is often hard to convince a lot of people that you have paid if you have nothing to show for it.

The modern idea in fashion, so far as we have been able to observe seems to show everything but the brains.

Oil City is to have an airport and it is to be donated to the city by a prominent citizen. It is indeed a prominent citizen who will do a handsome thing like that and that kind of prominent citizens are also scarce. There are citizens who think they are very prominent, but they never feel it strong enough to give very much coin while they feel that way.

Some birds seem to be awful busy, even if it is nothing more than changing things from one pocket to another.

Ruth Elder says her husband is "a darling boy". He is waiting on the shore for her to come back to America after high flying with another man. He sure is a darling sucker.

It is nice to be familiar with the classics, history and things scientific, we are told, but that kind of knowledge isn't very valuable in carrying on a conversation with a modern flapper.

A statue of Frederick the Great, which was removed from a prominent spot in Washington during the world war to keep it from being demolished, and placed away in a cellar, is to be brushed off and placed in its old position again. The war is really all over but the paying of the bills and taxes for it.

When a man thinks he knows more than he does he is pretty sure to talk more than he ought to.

One of the great advantages of not living near a tropical seacoast is that one does not have to look at beautiful bathing girls all the year around. It is said that the strain on the eyesight is terrible with men in such places. And we believe it.

A Chicago judge declared that the drinker and not the seller of booze should be put into jail. Where would we get all the jails? We hardly have jails enough now for the sellers and the drinkers outnumber the sellers five to one at least. The sellers are seldom drinkers, because they know at least that.

In Mexico they have an effective system of getting rid of objectionable political characters. They just keep on executing them until what is left finally shut up and keep quiet. You cannot beat that system!

There have been many cases where dead bodies have been found and identification has been impossible until some dentist came along and identified some of his work in the face of the victim. This leads us to believe that most dentists at least know their teeth.

Some of us are getting an awful wallop at the polls today. And we will pay for it in cash before four years are gone by.

America has few impressive chimes but that little bell on the cash register suits the national taste better anyway.

Astonishing, isn't it, how old habits cling? For instance, a woman will pull up her skirt when she sees a mouse.

What a tragedy we can imagine when we read the words, "The victim left a wife and children in the old country."

You may have noticed that when candidates start out to defeat the regular Republican nominees they designate themselves as "Democrat" or "Independent", but just run on false pretense. Are they ashamed of being what they would try to make the people think they are not?

You have seen many of the alleged politicians who tell you how to vote and who evidently think they know all about running the government. However, did you ever stop to think what kind of a government we would have if those birds were to run it? Heinz preserve us! Also murder!

SO SHE STOPPED CRYING

A young woman, suing a man for $50,000 for breach of promise, began to weep softly in the court room in Chicago the other day. But the cry didn't last long.

"I'm not going to have a crying spell going on in my court room," announced the judge. "You're crying your way into a verdict and I'll set it aside as soon as you get it."

The plaintiff promptly dried her tears and justice proceeded to proceed.

A dear old Quaker lady was asked what she used to make her complexion so lovely, and her whole being so bright and attractive, and she answered: "I use for the lips, truth; for the voice, prayer; for the eyes, pity; for the hands, charity; for the figure, uprightness, and for the heart, love."

THE PRINTED WORD

Printing was discovered in 1441. Previously the words of the human race were rudely recorded. Printing, as it improved, gave progress to thought. It has preserved and broadened ideas in all subsequent centuries. It releases to posterity the riches and research of the human mind. When people read they think; when they reason, they are on the road to righteousness.

If a newspaper picks and chooses its news for what is uplifting, or the opposite, it is not toting square with its readers and its readers will eventually desert it. A newspaper is a reflection of the happenings of the day. When it deflects the news it is not holding the mirror at a dependable angle.

Fable: Once there was a girl who posed for a kodak picture and didn't show all her teeth.

The Pittsburgh Sunday papers were full of advertising for advance Christmas buying, urging epople to make a payment and lay away. A trip to Youngstown a few days ago revealed that all the big stores have Christmas goods displayed there and are actively pushing its sale. Our own stores can take a lesson from this. Christmas goods ought to be displayed and on sale now. The idea of centering it all on the last two weeks and making an intensive drive is wrong. The cream of the business is gone long before that time. Within a few weeks the Christmas Savings club money will be disbursed and there will be lots of it this year. Have your friends and patrons make their purchases now on the lay-away plan. To take the business away from outside stores competition must be met in the matter of price and convenience of buying.

The slight fall of snow and the extreme cold weather of Sunday brings to all of us the realization that the season is near when we can expect such weather. And it brings a real Thanksgiving and Christmas atmosphere. And it made a hole in the coal pile.

While the principal duty of the newspaper is to publish the news readers should not forget that papers do a great many acts that are beneficial as public service in digging up news and publishing it. It was a Washington, D. C. newspaper man, a reported, who ferreted out the alleged jury tampering in the Fall-Sinclair trial and brought it to an expose. It is those things that make a paper good.

Ruth Elder is on the way home and chief among those waiting for her is her loving husband and she is tickled pink to know that she will soon see him. Now we would like to know if Mrs. Haldeman is to be on the dock to meet her famous husband and to break up the combination that has met with so much acclaim the past several weeks.

The French dancing masters have taken a new step in the direction of ball room culture. It is called the "Dirty Dig." We have had the Black Bottom and now this Dirty Dig. Perhaps the next will be the "Wine Bath" with apologies to Earl Carroll.

A noted physician predicts that in the near future a man of 70 will be considered young. It would be fine if this condition coud be brought about before the next presidential nominating conventions. It would be a sweet relief to several gentlemen we know of.

An Englishman expressed his amazement at our lack of interest in the oil trials now going on in Washington. He isn't expected to know that nearly everyone is excitedly watching the race between Mayor Thompson of Chicago and the New Ford car.

Any blanket rule about putting to death weak minded people as a way to better the human race might include too many.

A Rich Man's Trial.
Mexico's Quick Action.
A Clown's Death.
Plagues, Famine Needed?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

A private detective, engaged to shadow jurors in the Fall-Sinclair oil case and ascertain the financial condition of "jurors," has been found. When government detectives got him he had enlisted in the Marines, and would soon have been on his way to Haiti.

One juror in this case, involving a rich man and a former cabinet officer accused of bribery, said, according to government testimony, that he expected, when the case was over, to have an automobile "as long as a city block."

Our prosperous men, especially the very rich, are supposed to set a good example. At least they are interested in maintaining respect for law which protects them, first of all.

What impression is made on the average mind when a detective agency "trails" members of the Fall-Sinclair oil jury, plainly seeking some juror that might be bought?

Suppose a detective agency went about examining rich men's houses to find how burglars might most easily break in. Would that be tolerated? Evidently an attack on the jury system in the interest of high finance is different from a burglar's attack on the back door of prosperity.

Mr. Dwight Morrow, recently of J. P. Morgan & Co., is learning about other political methods in Mexico. Three days ago he was eating ham and eggs on President Calles' ranch. Today he reads that Calles' men caught Gen. Gomez, a rebel against Calles. Gomez was caught, fleeing through a Mexican canyon. Five minutes later he was dead.

President Calles does not mince matters, and those that oppose him, if wise conduct their opposition across the Mexican border, not on Calles' side.

Marceline, famous clown, rose to the top of his profession. Millions laughed at him, children especially, as he went about, with bright pink nose, baggy clothes, always serious.

He lies on a slab in the New York morgue today. Nobody claimed his body, after he shot himself to death, alone, poor, in a miserable furnished room. Photographs showing him in the day of his glory were spread before him on the bed, as he kneeled to blow his brains out.

"Laugh, and the world laughs with you. Weep, and you weep alone." Ella Wheeler Wilcox wrote her well known poem the morning after her first party, when she was seventeen.

In the train, going to the party, she saw a woman weeping. Her dead husband was in the baggage car. Mrs. Wilcox said: "I thought I could never smile again, after crying with that poor woman. But I went to the party and danced all night. I wrote the poem when I woke up in the morning; ashamed to think how easily I had forgotten."

Poor Marceline, now on his cold slab, learned also that the world forgets easily.

The Rev. W. A. C. Kennedy, British, says, "Britain stopping famines and plagues in India has sent the population from 100 to 300 millions. Now Hindus want to get into Africa, where there is more room."

European races in South Africa are attending to that.

Absence of plagues and famines in Asia has increased population there also. And they are anxious to get into the United States. That also will be attended to.

Lord Esher says there were only 850,000,000 people on earth in 1800. Today there are about 1,800,000,000. The increase, a little more than one per cent a year, will make the population of the earth in 3020 more than 12,457,000,000.

That need not worry you. Henry George reminds you that if a puppy dog's tail kept on growing as it grows when he is a puppy each old dog would have a tail thirty feet long. No dog has such a tail.

To begin with Texas could feed the 1,800,000,000 people now on earth, under intensive cultivation. In the second place, flying machines will enable people to live with plenty of room for ten billion humans, on hilltops and mountains with no inhabitants today.

And in the third place, when people become highly civilized they will have fewer children. Providence leaves nothing important to chance.

Greece, disturbed by assorted Bolshevism, Communism, Radicalism, and heaven knows what, requests our government to tell the Greek government how we "control the Reds."

Ours is a simple method, named PROSPERITY.

Give men work with good wages and they are content. That is their nature. Give them insufficient work or underpaid work, and you will have the demonstration called "red."

If prosperity were destroyed the red color would spread here as quickly as anywhere else.

Twenty thousand individuals in Britain, including women, are growing orchids and find it profitable. The Dutch tulip craze has not been duplicated or any insane price offered for a "black orchid." But a single orchid sells for as much as $5,000. One collection sold for $53,000.

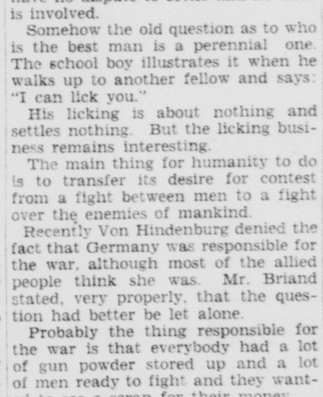
Orchid raising is intricate, interesting work, with its cultivation of strange hybrids and trading in seedings and orchid spikes.

Young women that would like a beautiful occupation producing something that can be put in the savings bank might write to our Agricultural Department at Washington for advice.

Count Czernin, who was Austrian minister for Foreign Affairs in the war, thinks England, France and Germany will unite in the near future to wipe out Russian Bolshevism. That would be a considerable job. Russia, occupying one-sixth the surface of the globe, might be temporarily conquered, but wouldn't stay conquered. Besides, the young gentlemen of England, France and Germany are not anxious to go out and be shot all over again.

The latest plan "to help the farmer" is a farmers' union that would ascertain the cost of products and fix prices that the people must pay. You can do this for railroads, but can you do it for farmers? Suppose one year you raise more potatoes than the people will eat, and next year potatoes are scarce. How will you regulate prices then?

ABE MARTIN



I'll bet if Frank Lowden lived in Mexico he'd run so fast from th' presidency that his vest pockets would dip sand. It's purty hard t' read a newspaper in a buss or street car full o' yellow knees.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE MOST INTERESTING THING IN THE WORLD

You may not believe it, but the stubborn fact is that the most interesting thing in the world is a fight of some kind.

The enormous crowds recently gathered in Chicago to witness the fight between Tunney and Dempsey and the enormous amount of money involved in that event, millions of dollars, shows that the most primitive form of personal contest still is at the front of all interesting things.

What the contest is about makes no difference. Nothing is to be settled. Nobody cares one way or another over the issues. They just want to see the fight.

Neither Tunney nor Dempsey is anybody in particular except rather prepossessing young men and men in the pink of physical perfection. They have no dispute to settle and no issue is involved.

Somehow the old question as to who is the best man is a perennial one. The school boy illustrates it when he walks up to another fellow and says: "I can lick you."

His licking is about nothing and settles nothing. But the licking business remains interesting.

The main thing for humanity to do is to transfer its desire for contest from a fight between men to a fight over the enemies of mankind.

Recently Von Hindenburg denied the fact that Germany was responsible for the war, although most of the allied people think she was. Mr. Briand stated, very properly, that the question had better be let alone.

Probably the thing responsible for the war is that everybody had a lot of gun powder stored up and a lot of men ready to fight and they wanted to see a scrap for their money.

Fundamentally the thing that brought on the great war was the same thing that brought on the Tunney-Dempsey fight.

Perhaps in time some other thing than the question who is the best man will come to the front, but so far in the world's history that remains the most interesting question.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

FROM THE DEPTHS.

Species of sea worms classified as "amazing creatures" some of which are said to be 100 feet long, have been captured in the Pacific Ocean near San Diego by Professor W. R. Coe, Yale University, as guest research worker at the University of California, Scripps Institution of Oceanography at La Jolla.

These remarkable sea denizens, known by the scientific name "nemerteans" have been examined by few biologists of the world. Dr. Coe is believed to be the only living scientist knowing much about them.

To a Zoologist the worms are especially notable for their length, some of the more common species extending a yard, their bodies being only a fraction of an inch in width. Certain of the "nemertean" species are reported to be longer than any known animal, 100 or more feet. Even the whale has not been found to reach quite that length, says Dr. Coe.

"Nemerteans' are predatory animals," the authority asserts. "They live on other kinds of worms to a considerable extent. For killing and capturing prey they have an astonishing proboscis which is withdrawn through the head into a sheath in the body when not in use. From this sheath it is thrust out to strike the prey. In some species this weapon is longer than the body itself.

Most "nemerteans" live in the sea and most of those in the sea live upon the bottom in mud, rock crevices, spaces between shells and among sea weed. Some, however, live free, swimming at considerable depth in the ocean. There are about 600 species known of which nearly 400 exist along the California coast.

About seventy five of these California species were first revealed to science by Dr. Coe.

REVERSING THE TABLES

I stayed at home to work today
While Nellie went down town.
A woman poor came to the door,
Dressed in a tattered gown.
Her stockings were a shame to see.
Her skirt was frayed about the knee.
Her sorry plight appealed to me.

My heart was touched. Said I to her:
"Come in and sit you down.
Rest here awhile and maybe I'll
Get you another gown."
And so I hurried up the stairs
And searched her stock of teddy bears
For things I know she never wears.

I found that dame a hat or two
And several pairs of shoes.
A compact small, a cape and shawl
And things she'll never use.
I rigged her out from head to feet
In raiment warm and good and neat,
And sent her smiling down the street.

But when my Nellie homeward came
She liked it not at all.
I heard her cry: "Oh where are my
Good cape and party shawl?"
I gave those things away, said I.
A poor old woman happened by.
It was a foolish trick to try.

Bible Thought For Today

JUDGMENTS THAT COMFORT: —I remembered thy judgments of old, O Lord; and have comforted myself. Psalm 119:52.

POPULARIZING KNOWLEDGE

Thomas H. Hoyer of La Grange, Ill., writes that he was interested in a recent discussion in this column about the popularizing of knowledge. The discussion arose out of the prize offer made by a New York magazine and a New York book publisher for the best book having a tendency to make knowledge the property of the average reader.

Mr. Hoyer says: "You mentioned Van Loon's 'Story of Mankind' as an example of this kind of literature. What books had you in mind in addition to this one? I would appreciate a list of such books, and I believe many of your readers would also appreciate it."

It strikes me that there must be a demand for a short list of books that one might read this winter with good results for one's store of general knowledge. Books that are easy to read and cover a goodly range of knowledge. Books that one who is not a college graduate might read for the purpose of obtaining much of the knowledge that one is supposed to get in college.

All right, I'll try it. This will be a short list, such as a fairly busy person might get through between now and the next hot weather, by reading in spare time, in the evenings that are not otherwise occupied, and on holidays that are not too full.

I'd put the "Story of Mankind" at the top of the list, I believe, as a book covering history in a very easy manner, and interestingly.

Next, I'd try "The Story of Philosophy", by Will Durant. Especially for the man who has never had philosophy in school, this is a book worth careful reading.

Skipping back to history, I'd try Wells' "Outline of History". I wouldn't swallow it whole. I'd keep always in mind that this man Wells has strong prejudices that he cannot keep out of his most judicious writing. But the book is one that can be very useful.

Third on the list, "This Believing World", by Lewis Browne. It will give you a rapid review of the history of religions, which ought to help in getting a look at the world of thought.

That's a heavy list already. I would recommend interlarding this steady reading with a judicious selection of the "Today and Tomorrow Series", a line of very informative little books published by Dutton. In this list are books that are brief and easy to read, covering a vast range of subjects that are of interest to the knowledge-seekers of today.

That's a fair program of winter reading, all in all.

Consider Plans For Thanksgiving Services For Churches Of City

Tentative plans are being arranged for the annual Thanksgiving services of the churches of this city which will be observed during the Thanksgiving season either on Thanksgiving Day or the evening previous.

Arrangements are underway either to have a union meeting of all the congregations of New Castle in the Cathedral or to have services in churches in the various sections of the city.

It is quite probable that the East Side, South Side, Seventh Ward and downtown churches will have their own individual services.

Plans considered thus far by a number of the churches for a separate service are the services of the East Side churches, Epworth M. E. Second United Presbyterian and Third United Presbyterian. The meeting will be held in the new Third United Presbyterian church, East Washington and Adams street on Thanksgiving Day at 10 a. m. Dr. A. J. Randles of the Second U. P. church will deliver the message.

The South Side congregations will convene in Central Christian church, Long and Pennsylvania avenues Wednesday evening, November 23, at 7:30. Rev. Emrys Thomas, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church will preach. Music will be furnished by a mixed choir. On Thursday morning at 10:30 there will be a second Thanksgiving service in the Primitive Methodist church. Rev. J. L. Petrie of the Grace M. E. church will be the preacher.

Further arrangements for the services held throughout the city on this annual occasion will be announced within the next few days.

Burns Declares Juror Shadowing Always In Vogue

Alleges That All Important Criminal Juries Have Been Shadowed

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Shadowing jurors in important criminal cases has always been customary, William J. Burns, head of the detective agency that bears his name, said today in a statement defending the activities of 16 of his agents who trailed members of the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy jury.

"I know of my own knowledge," Burns said, "that for 35 years the government has employed operatives to watch jurors in important criminal cases in practically every state in the Union, and the defendant has been accorded the same right. The universal exercise of such rights has never been challenged."

Business Change In Seventh Ward

Elder And Martin Store Is Purchased By G. O. Schiedemantle

With the closing on next Monday, Nov. 14, of the Elder & Martin store, at the corner of North Liberty and Wabash avenue, one of the oldest business of the seventh ward will pass out of existence. G. O. Scheidemantle having purchased the stock and merchandise of this merchandising establishment.

The corner store building in which this merchandising establishment has been conducted for approximately 40 years or more, although under different names and by different owners, is one of the landmarks of the community.

This store was best known under the former firm name of A. D. Newell & Company. Messrs. Harry L. Elder and Charles L. Martin having conducted the business at this store a little over 11 years. Verdict Awarded To Plaintiff In Sum Of $5,985

In the case of Antonio Fiello against the Public Service Commission which has been on trial before Judge Chambers in the Lawrence county court, the jury this morning returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $5,985. This was one of the cases growing out of the erection of the Gardner avenue viaduct. Fiello owned properties, or 80 feet frontage on which there was a house and a cement block building which were left considerably below the street, when the western approach to the viaduct was built.

The viewers awarded $4,000 damages but the defense was not satisfied and took an appeal with the result that the award was increased $1,985 after a trial which lasted for several days.

The jury went out yeterday afternoon, agreed about 11 o'clock last night and returned a verdict when court convened this morning.

Take Legal Steps To Settle Estate Of Late S. S. Mehard

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 8.—Legal steps to settle the estate of the late Judge S. S. Mehard, who died in 1917, were taken in a petition filed before the Mercer County court this morning, by John M. Thompson, trust officer of the Union National Bank of Pittsburgh, in which it is asked that a citation be served upon C. B. Mehard, of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Mary Frankel, of Mercer, and Mrs. Sadie Hosack, of Pittsburgh. The citation asks that an accounting be filed of the Mehard estate. The two women mentioned are widows of two of the men who were executors of the Mehard estate, and the other is the remaining member of the original board of executors.

The Union National Bank of Pittsburgh was named as executor some time since, and the action today is an effort to secure a settlement of the estate.

Judge J. A. McLaughry, who received the petition fixed December 5, as a time for an answer being filed by those named in the citation.

The estate is said to be nearly a million dollars.

SATURATION.

One of the ablest manufacturers in this country gives a sensible definition of the "saturation point." We are always hearing about the saturation point for motor cars and for other products. In reality is there any such thing? Of course there is, theoretically, but not practically. The saturation point for any given article will be reached when "everybody has one and none ever wears out."

NOT GLOOMY.

A Chicago orator paints a gloomy picture of the world. He asks for the "re-establishment" of justice and fair dealing. And a Chicago newspaper man sets out to answer him. Says the defender of today's times and today's life

"Compare the Roman empire with its complete domination by wealth and family. Compare the England of Charles II with its utter cynicism and moral degradation. Compare the United States of Grant's administration with the United States of today. Would anybody trade the farmers of America today for the peasantry of Europe a hundred years ago?"

STUDY YESTERDAY.

Before we begin to paint pictures of the world today in comparison with the world of yesterday be sure that you have your history on straight. Be sure that you have learned something about the world of yesterday. There may indeed be evidence of a coming decline in civilization. This writer is inclined to think there are. But so far—in the present years—the state of mankind in the most enlightened countries is far happier than it was three or four or five hundred years ago.

GIVE IT TIME.

A good many people who find that the enforcement of the prohibition law is not the simple easy matter that they expected it to be, are now discouraged. They want to give up the experiment. They want to turn back to the free and easy production and consumption of alcoholic drinks. Those who thought the enforcement of prohibition would be an easy matter simply indicated their ignorance of the human nature of the average citizen. Pulling habit and custom out by the roots is a difficult and a serious matter. It can be done and in time will be done in this country but it will taek a great deal of time. Much progress has been made. The consumption of liquor has been enormously reduced. The effect on the health and temper of the people and upon a growing generation will be such that the effort will have been worth while. But it is folly to believe that we can proceed other than slowly.

Texas has more than fifty counties each of which has a greater number of square miles than the State of Rhode Island.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

ON THE BACK OF A BUCKING BAT.

No sooner had Peter taken his seat upon her soft, fat, furry back than Mrs. Flittermouse took to her wings, and so suddenly that the boy very nearly lost his balance.

Whish! Off to the right. Swish! To the left! Flip, flap! Up into the air! Flop! Down toward earth again.

Twitch! A stop half way between tree tops and the ground, and now, but for a moment only, right straight ahead!

"I've heard about a bucking bronco, but I'll bet a cookie he is no harder to ride than a flying Bat. It's lucky for me that her wings are so wide or I'de never keep my seat," muttered Peter, as Mrs. Flittermouse jerked her way through the moonlit sky. "Good gracious, how ever does Mrs. Flittermouse know where she is going? I can't notice that the lady keeps to any course like my bird steeds did! I should think by this time, with all her twists and turns and stops, she would have forgotten where she started for. Hey! Look out! Tree ahead!"

Peter cried out in alarm and braced himself for a crash against the tree's trunk. But nothing happened. So Peter straightened up and heaved a sigh of relief, as Mrs. Flittermouse skimmed by a white birch without so much as touching it with the tip of her wing, although between it and the bark one could scarcely have squeezed a feather.

"Don't see how you managed that, little lady!" cried the boy. "Good work, but I thought you were going to dash out your brains against that tree! Oooooch!"

In spite of the first escape Peter couldn't see how Mrs. Flittermouse could possibly avoid being caught in the prickly branch of a wild pear tree just ahead. He closed his eyes. Poor Mrs. Flittermouse! If nothing worse happened she was going to have a great gap torn in her left wing. He waited for a cry of pain. None came. Mrs. Flittermouse never even uttered a squeak. Peter opened his eyes. The prickly pear tree was behind them. His clever aeroplane had taken a spiral dip, and just in time.

Drag River For Body Of Woman, Suicide Victim

Wife Of Prominent Carbondale Attorney Jumps Into Susquehanna River

(International News Service)

PITTSTON, Pa., Nov. 8.—Police today dragged the Susquehanna river for the body of a woman, believed to be Mrs. Clara Stuart, wife of R. J. Stuart, prominent Carbondale attorney near here, who leaped into the river from a bridge at Pittston last night. The entire affair is shrouded in mystery.

Three men walking on the bridge last evening saw a woman climb over the railing and jump into the water. Rushing to the spot, they found a purse which contained three blank checks bearing the signature of Mr. Stuart. They also found a letter addressed to Miss Helen Stuart, Carbondale, who was a daughter of the missing woman.

Mrs. Stuart and her husband were automobile riding yesterday and later she stopped at Pittston to go to Montclair, New Jersey, by train. Her husband continued on his way home. That was the last seen of Mrs. Stuart until the report of her drowning.

Mrs. Stuart was Miss Clara S. Smith, daughter of the Rev. Y. C. Smith, Methodist Episcopal clergyman who for years was at the Wyoming Seminary.

Anti-Freeze Is Needed Declares Motor Club Head

"Motorists who do not put some sort of anti-freeze solution in the radiators of their cars now run a very great danger of having frozen radiators," was the statement made this morning by Bernard N. Hanlon, secretary of the New Castle Motor club.

"Just Monday morning," Mr. Hanlon went on, "as I was coming down to the office, I saw a car with its radiator steaming. There is only one way to prevent your car from being in the same condition some morning, and that is to get the radiator filled up with some anti-freeze solution as soon as possible."

If you have a severe cough or chest cold, with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up at night with a hoarse cough, and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified honey if desired. San Francisco Voters To Elect New Mayor Today

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Voters will go to the polls here today to select a mayor, with a choice of three candidates—James Rolph, Jr., incumbent, James E. Power, former postmaster, and Adolph Uhl, business man. The mayoralty contest is expected to develop into a close race between the former two, with Uhl, according to political forecasters, running a poor third.

State Health Department Head Gives Suggestions

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—"Dame fashion is becoming more sensible every year. One has but to glance at the mode of dress of a few decades ago to appreciate thoroughly this statement," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, today.

"The two objectives of fashion are beauty and comfort, with equal emphasis upon both. That they have been attained is plain to everyone. However, be that as it may, a note of warning is still needed on some details of dress, one of the most important of which at this season is with reference to fur coats.

"This article of apparel is not only beautiful to gaze upon and comfortable to wear but demands the application of judgment if it is not to back-fire upon it's successor in the form of illness.

"In this latitude, unlike that of more northern countries, fur coats must be 'handled with care' or they will carelessly handle you. There are of course many days during Pennsylvania's winter months when this garment is of value. The main thing to remember is that there are also numerous days from November to April when a fur coat positively should not be worn. This is frequently forgotten, and sometimes with dire results.

"Colds, sore throats and even the deadly pneumonia are all on good speaking terms with fur coats when the temperature is high. While no definite statistics are available, it can be stated with a reasonable amount of certainty that an appreciable amount of illness which will be contracted this winter, especially among the feminine branch of the population, will be caused by the injudicious use of the fur coat. Isn't this rather too high a price even for style?

"It follows then, that no matter how attractive a fur coat may be, or how attractive one may appear when wearing it, vanity has no right to overcome judgment when the thermometer plainly indicates that a coat of lighter weight is required.

"Follow Fashion, for she never was more sensible and attractive than now, but do not follow her blindly. Fashion and common sense make the ideal team—a combination that not only lends itself to beauty but to good health also.

"Therefore, if you have a fur coat, use it. But let the mercury in your outside thermometer dictate the days when it should and should not be worn. Health is in this advice; illness may follow its rejection.

One may become ill this winter in spite of precautions. But get out of the fur-coat-victim class by getting into the coat only when the day is cold."

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

"Electric Power!— A Consumer-Owned Industry"

Says Haley Fiske

President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company

"There can be no doubt that light and power distribution is a most important element in our life, in the community, in the neighborhood, in the household. The ownership of the electric light and power companies is now in the hands of more than 2,000,000 direct investors in public utility stocks, and indirectly, in the hands of millions more of bank depositors and holders of life insurance policies through their ownership of public utility bonds. This is people's ownership under public regulation."

SINCE Mr. Fiske's statement was made, the number of investors in electric power companies has grown to over three million. It is estimated that during 1926, nearly four hundred thousand customers bought over three million shares in the electric power companies serving them. All told, over thirteen and a half million shares of stock have been purchased by the customers of these companies. These owners are found in every walk of life. Two companies alone report nearly fourteen thousand customer stockholders, representing 269 separate occupations.

The movement toward customer ownership of industry finds its largest expression in the electric power companies because of the high sense of responsibility developed by these companies in their dealings with the public.

Operated under the American principle of individual initiative, and directed by a personnel of tested integrity and public-mindedness, these companies have so definitely identified themselves with the interest of the public, that the structure of America's prosperity and progress rests to a large degree upon their service.

America's unequalled level of comfort and prosperity, made possible through cheap, abundant power, developed under the American principle of individual initiative, is the best of reasons why that principle should be preserved and perpetuated.

International Hobo Convention Opens In Minneapolis Today

(International News Service)
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.—With stacks of doughnuts and large kettles of boiling hot coffee on the tables in the Minneapolis labor temple convention hall ready for consumption, the International Hobo convention, presided over by James Eads How, "millionaire hobo", opened its annual convention here today.

Several western delegates were missing when the convention was called to order. It was explained, however, that the delegates experienced difficulty while passing through Colorado, where strikebreakers are wanted for the coal mines.

After partaking of "doughnuts and coffee" the delegates were addressed by Dr. How, the millionaire doctor and Harvard graduate, who is devoting his money to the unemployed. How told the delegates the chief aim of the Minneapolis meeting is to urge the need for demanding jury trial when arrested for vagrancy.

"Judges have usually decided," he said, "that a man has a right to be on the street whether or not he has any money in his pocket and no jury in the world will convict a man for this. Last year, however, 100,000 of our crowd were arrested and sentenced without rhyme or reason."

Shelters for homeless workers was also urged.

Sessions will last throughout the week.

Boy's Dormitory At Orphanage Is Damaged By Serious Fire Today

(International News Service)
MORRISTOWN, N. J., Nov. 8.—Three baby boys, the oldest barely three years old, were believed burned to death today when fire swept the boys' dormitory of the Villa O'Connor orphanage, driving the boys housed there out into the winter morning in their night clothes.

Nuns of the order of Sisters of St. John the Baptist, who manage the recently organized orphanage, located near here in the borough of Peapack-Gladstone, assisted by a priest and farm workers, managed to get most of their little charges from the blazing building, but three were unaccounted for when a check was made. One nun, overcome by smoke, was in a serious condition.

The ruins of the dormitory, which had been a coach barn before the $3,000,000 George Mosely estate was given to the Catholic order for an orphanage, were too hot several hours after the fire to permit a search for the remains of the little orphans believed to have perished.

The fire was believed started by a defective oil heater. When the firemen arrived, summoned by one of the orphans, who ran a half mile to reach the nearest telephone, burning debris was blazing on top of the oil tank. Fighting up as close to the flames as they could, they extinguished the fire on top of the tank. Turning their efforts to the adjoining garage, they prevented the spread of the flames to it.

A strong, cold wind was blowing, carrying embers to farm buildings a considerable distance from the fire. Firemen were kept busy extinguishing incipient blazes.

Signs Subpoenaes For Appearance Of Pair Of Witnesses

Judge Siddons Signs Papers Asking Apprehension Of Blackmer And O'Neil

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Federal Justice F. L. Siddons today signed subpoenaes for the appearance of H. M. Blackmer and James E. O'Neil as witnesses in the second trial of Harry F. Sinclair and ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall for criminal conspiracy, set for Jan. 16.

Blackmer and O'Neil, oil men, are the "missing witnesses" the government is so anxious to produce to tell of the deal from which it is charged the money came with which Fall was bribed to lease the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve.

Both men have been in Europe for the past three years and the subpoenaes call for their service by American consular officers "when and where they may be found."

Ex-Service Men Make Inspection Of City Lockup

Seven representatives of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the invitation of Mayor William H. Dunlap, last night inspected the city jail, which it has become necessary to use for bunkroom purposes as a result of the usual influx of unfortunate men.

Accompanied by the mayor, these representatives of soldier organizations, visited the jail, intended primarily for prisoners, but through necessity turned over to the use of unfortunates, who apply for a night's lodging.

They found fourteen of these men lying on the iron benches of the cells, and scattered here and there through the cells, except in one instance, where there was a prisoner.

They were also informed by the mayor, that if there were the crowds of last winter, such as thirty-five or forty men, that it would be almost impossible to provide them with a place big enough for them to stretch out.

At the close of the inspection, it was decided that an organization composed of representatives of the soldier organizations as well as other charitable organizations be perfected and an organized effort be started to eliminate this condition of affairs.

He Downed His Cold As Curtain Went Up!

A vicious cold contracted at the matinee, and not a trace remained to mar his evening performance! Most professional people know the simple compound which clears up a cold in a few hours.

Next time sore throat, a stuffy head, or feverish feeling comes on, try the innocent but amazingly efficient little white tablet every druggist keeps in stock. Pape's Cold Compound; only 35c. Nothing is better, even for the grippe or "flu". Pape's way of knocking out a cold is worth remembering—so remember the name!

Bitter Mayoralty Fight In Detroit Stirs Voters Today

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Nov. 8.—With the wet and dry issues overshadowing all other questions, Detroit went to the polls today to decide one of the bitterest mayoralty campaigns in its history.

Mayor John W. Smith has based his campaign for re-election on a "liberal view" of the enforcement of the Volstead Act and belief that the first duty of the police should be to stamp out major crimes, such as murder and robbery.

John Lodge, so called "drafted candidate" for mayor, has ignored all requests for his views on civic questions.

Several Accidents Reported To Police

Miss Barbara Sleigh of 106 Wallace avenue, reported to the police Monday that she was driving north on North Jefferson street at Falls street when a car of Barnes and Snyder driven by a Mr. Fox going east on Falls street and turning north on Jefferson street, collided with her machine. Some damage was done.

Mrs. Flossie Wilson, 712 Wilmington avenue, reported this morning that she was driving east on West Washington street in front of Dewberry's when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 958-588 going in the same direction pulled out from the curb and into her machine. Some damage was done.

New State Code Makes Many Traffic Changes Secretary Hanlon Warns

Many changes in the highway code have been made, which will take effect the first day of the new year, says B. N. Hanlon, secretary of the New Castle Motor club, and among the most drastic changes are those of the speed limits.

The changes in the law which are important are covered briefly below for the benefit of the motoring public. Mr. Hanlon urges that they be studied carefully, because they come into effect in less than two month's time.

Speed Limit Raised

The changes are made in the speed limit laws as follows:

At all railroad grade crossings, the maximum speed limit will be 20 miles an hour.

When passing school houses, 15 miles an hour.

At highway intersections in business or residential districts, 20 miles an hour.

Where proper signs have been erected in business or residential districts, 20 miles an hour.

Under all other conditions, 35 miles an hour.

Trucks are given new speed limits by classes. The heaviest pneumatic tired truck registered, that of 2600 pounds, may not travel faster than 12 miles an hour, while no truck may travel faster than 26 miles an hour. The limit for larger, solid tired trucks is 10 miles. Between these figures lie the various truck classes.

Police and fire vehicles may go as fast as they like, but this exemption does not protect drivers from the consequence of reckless disregard of the rights or safety of others.

Drive On The Right

The new code repeats the injunction that the users of the highway must at all times keep to the right of the center of the highway, except where it is necessary to pass another vehicle. The driver of the vehicle about to be passed is forbidden to increase his speed. Before passing, the operator must have an unobstructed view for 300 feet. Passing on curves or on grades is forbidden, as is passing on grade crossings.

No Horn Blowing

In the business or residential sections of a municipality the driver of a motor car is forbidden to make any unnecessary noise. Section 1012 provides that the driver of an overtaking vehicle shall give audible warning when attempting to pass another car when not in the business or residential districts.

Through Traffic Highways

Cities of the first, second, and third classes are empowered to create thru traffic highways, as is the secretary of highways. This means that there will be through traffic state highways, as well as streets. No vehicle may enter or cross such highways without first coming to a full stop.

Other important parts of the new state code will appear in a condensed form in early issues of the New Castle News.

"This steak is plenty tough," Neran told his dinner companion, Jack Neagles, the latter reported to the police.

Neran followed this advice and with the first bite choked.

Some Local Comment Ideas and Suggestions As Given To News Man

BOB YOUNG

Surely I believe that New Castle should have organized singing between halves of their football games. I remember at Penn State, there was organized singing at all the football games.

Between halves, the sophomores would all come out on the field, and either form a giant S or indulge in a snake dance, singing Victory all the while.

It is something like this that breaks up the monotony between halves, and offers the boys a chance to blow off steam, especially if their team is winning.

CHARLES H. HARTMANN
The Castleton

You know, it takes some time to get a new hotel to function smoothly, but in The Castleton, things have gotten down to a running basis much sooner than I expected. The reason is, I believe because the men in the different departments co-operate so well.

I have worked at the openings of many hotels in this chain, and I believe that I am correct when I say that The Castleton has gotten on a working basis sooner than any other of which I know.

WILLIAM M. DOBSON
Locust Street

Although I come to New Castle from New York City, yet I can truthfully say that I like the town much better than the Big Stem, because here everyone seems to know everyone else.

And, in my ramblings, I have been all over the country, yet, to me at least, Pennsylvania, and Western Pennsylvania especially seems more like home than any place else.

The Earth's Atmosphere

By S. S. MYERS

I heard a chap remark, recently, that he supposed someone would eventually construct a machine that would enable us to go up in the air and remain stationary while the earth roted by beneath.

"Just think of it," said he. "We could go up here and come down in China 12 hours later! All we would have to do would be to go up and remain there while the earth rotated under us and come down anywhere on the globe we might care to land."

There are three things that human ingenuity has not yet been able to discover, viz: perpetual motion, the fourth dimension and how to overcome gravitation or relativity, as Einstein would put it.

No one knows exactly how far out, or up, the earth's atmosphere extends, but the farther up the thinner and colder it becomes. There is a certain distance beyond which the aviator cannot go, because the air becomes too thin to sustain life or support his machine. Meanwhile the atmosphere rotates with the earth. If it were not so the earth would experience a continual storm—the wind sweeping over its surface with a velocity of something over 1,100 miles an hour! Cities and forests would be blown into the oceans and the oceans dashed over the continents.

Nevertheless, the earth does slip through under the atmosphere to some extent, causing the so-called trade winds. The cold air from either pole is continually moving toward the equator, where, becoming heated, it ascends and moves back toward the poles. Consequently, if the earth were not rotating there would be a continual breeze, and also a continual breeze from the south over the southern hemisphere. But the earth, slipping away just a little beneath these air currents, causes the trade winds which blow periodically in a certain direction in latitudes near the equator.

This, of course, has no bearing upon sudden local storms which are caused by some portion of the earth's surface becoming heated, causing the air to expand and then contract as the colder air rushes in with a cyclonic movement. Nor has it anything to do with the tornado which is caused by a stream of cold air meeting a stream of warm air, in which case they swirl around each other, forming a funnel-shaped monster dealing death and disaster along a narrow path wherever it touches the earth's surface.

There is a vast difference between a cyclone and a tornado. All winds and storms north or south of the equator are a part of a cyclone which is a current of air circling over a large area and rarely doing any damage. A tornado is made up on a smaller scale, but it always means business.

In Day's News

Friends of Prince Hohlenlohe Langeburg and Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt, widow of the late Reginald Vanderbilt, whose engagement has been announced in Europe, will join in the hope that their marriage may result as happily as did the romance of Prince Charles of Hohenlohe Langeburg, relative of the bridegroom-elect. Prince Charles was heir to the family title and estates, but immediately after his father's death in 1860 he renounced all his rights for the purpose of marrying Marie Grathwoh a beautiful girl of the people, who wa then twenty-three years old. Thei marriage was solemnized in Paris th following year. The couple lived fo forty years in ideal happiness, which was ended only by the wife's death in 1901. The King of Wurtemburg had in 1890 ennobled her, conferring on her the title of Baroness Von Bronn. Prince Charles died in 1907.

A Message to Mothers

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

GAVE BABY STRENGTH—PREVENTED COLDS.

MRS. W. R. HUGHES, 652 East Grand Ave., Decatur, Ill., in a recent signed statement issues this message, which all mothers should heed: "We have a little son aged 20 months. His first winter I gave him Father John's Medicine every night at bedtime. He did not have a cold all winter. We did not keep him in, but when I took him out I gave him Father John's Medicine. In April he had whooping cough and we gave him Father John's all through the time. This picture was taken at the worst stage of the sickness. We are giving it again this winter, and, as before, he has no cold. I wish every mother would use it for it seems so unnecessary for little folks to be always sick."

Anthracite Coal Leaders Gather For Conference

Mount Carmel Prepares To entertain Leading Anthracite Operators

BEGIN EFFORT TO REGAIN PROSPERITY

By WILLIAM T. WELDON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Nov. 8.—The Anthracite coal industry today began its supreme effort to regain prosperity.

With scores of delegates to the anthracite cooperative congress on hand for the opening session tomorrow, promptu conferences were the order of the day as Mount Carmel, gaily decorated and illuminated, completed preparations for the most momentous event in its history.

Local hotels long ago announced that all rooms had been taken, while all available rooms in private homes have been assigned to delegates. The overflow is expected to be accommodated in nearby communities, including Shamokin, Ashland and Girardville.

As delegates gathered for the conference, the major issues to come before the seven hundred economists, merchandising experts and public figures took definite form. Conjecture as to what solution Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and Governor John S. Fisher would have to offer for the anthracite industry's delemma came in for their share of attention.

As labor and capital prepared to sit together in conference, Rinaldo Cappellini, of Scranton, president of the District United Mine Workers served notice that he would oppose any efforts to split the mine union into bituminous and anthracite groups.

Election Briefs

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—Greene county party leaders predicted a vote of less than half of the eligibles at today's election. Although the county is solidly Democratic, a close fight was expected in the contest for county commissioner, the candidates being M. P. Headlee and J. N. Scott, Democrats; Paul Debolt, incumbent, and J. L. Hartley, Republicans.

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 8.—Three sets of candidates stood for election in the Beaver county commissioners contest today. Enoch Engle, Beaver, and John Martzell, Rochester, defeated for nomination on the Republican ticket, are running on the Prohibition ticket. Art W. Combs, Woodlawn, and William O. Coulter, Beaver Falls, are the Republican nominees. William Freed, Big Beaver township, and Walter Goettman, Brighton township, are Democratic nominees. The voting started light.

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 8.—A record vote was anticipated in Mercer county at today's election. Spirited contests were waged for sheriff, prothonotary, district attorney and county tuberculosis hospital bond issue up. The fight for sheriff, with three candidates entered, occupied chief interest.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 8.—Few voters turned out early today here, where the chief contest was for mayor with Mayor W. W. Hoyt, Democrat, seeking re-election and R. H. McBurney, Republican, opposing him. Republican nominees for county offices were expected to win handily.

CANONSBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—With interest it a high pitch over the proposal to elevate Canonsburg from a borough to a third class city, a heavy vote was being polled here today.

Resignation Of King Accepted

Vice Crusader Returns To Pittsburgh And Explains His Mysterious Absence

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—William L. King, former executive secretary of the Citizens League, a reform organization, was back in Pittsburgh today after an absence of six weeks, explaining that he had not "disappeared," but was looking for a new position in the West while sought by officials of the league.

King's resignation as director of the League's vice-crusaders has been accepted and William J. Kane, for twenty-one years a member of the local police department, named as his successor. King will be retained by the league in a minor capacity until cases he worked up have been prosecuted in the courts.

Commenting upon the affidavit of Miss Ruth Arnot, of Kansas City, made public by Superintendent of Police Peter Walsh, King's arch-foe, the latter branded it as the hallucinations of a mentally deranged woman. He said his invitation to lunch were made because Miss Parnot, who came here as King's secretary, was alone in this city.

High School Boys Waive Hearings

Thirteen high school students, who on October 14, 1927, are alleged to have acted in a riotous manner at Lakewood Beach; and three members of the same group, who are alleged to have held and assaulted a son of John D. Rung, proprietor of Lakewood Beach, appeared with their counsel, Attorney Samuel L. Clark, last night, at the office of Alderman O. H. P. Green, and waived hearings. They gave the bail required for their appearance at the December term of court.

Earl Turk, Paul Cuba and Paul Reider, who are charged with aggravated assault and battery, were required to give bail in the sum of $500 each.

These three young men, with ten others, who are Tom Harper, Angelo Mooney, Arthur Sillman, Charles Richards, Toby Tenzlis, Robert Dinsmore, Glen Thomas, Tony Ostrowsky, Bennie Cicone and William Hawley are also charged with riot. This group provided bail in the sum of $2000, as a unit, for their appearance at the December terms of court.

Charges in the case are made by Mr. Rung.

Man Kills Wife, Then Suicides

(International News Service)

SOMERSET, Pa., Nov. 8.—Five small children were left orphans today by a double tragedy in the home of William Naugle, 53, a lumberman. Depressed by financial and domestic difficulties, authorities said, Nagle shot and killed his estranged wife, Bessie, 30, at her home here last night, and then killed himself by firing a bullet into his head. A daughter found the bodies.

About the only way to be happy though married is to get a mate better than you deserve.

Attend Funeral Of Jas. W. Stewart

President W. C. Wallace And Faculty Members Attend Funeral In Cleveland

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 8. — Dr. W. Charles Wallace and several members of the faculty of Westminster college left here today for Cleveland where they will attend the funeral of James William Stewart who died in Cleveland Sunday. Mr. Stewart, who was an alumnus of Westminster, was very prominent as an attorney and real estate man in Cleveland.

Since his graduation from Westminster in the class of 1869 Mr. Stewart had been an active alumnus of the college returning here regularly for the annual homecoming days and at the commencement seasons. This year he did not come back to the school because he was confined to his bed at the time.

Besides his Bachelor of Arts degree which he received at Westminster, Mr. Stewart also had had conferred upon him a Master of Arts and Doctor of Laws degree from other schools.

Westminster people mourn his passing as one of the most willing and active alumni that the school has ever had, and Dr. Wallace with members of the college faculty is attending the funeral in Cleveland today to confer upon Mr. Stewart the final honor that he has so well merited at the hands of Westminster.

Three Inch Snow Ushers In Winter

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 8.—A three-inch snow fall in two storms of the week-end summarized an unusual weather condition here.

On the verge of a second spring here flowers were in bloom and vegetation making ready to usher in another budding season. During the afternoon of Sunday and that evening were two storms of a blizzard character.

The freezing weather which accompanied the first storm is also very unusual. Many local residents not expecting such a quick reversal of weather had failed to buy their winter coal or make ready their furnaces.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—No longer is New York the city of the disreputable taxi. In spite of taxi owners' continual complaint about not making money in the business, more and more swanky cars are appearing on the streets, Packards and Studebakers and Buicks and Chryslers, masquerading as cabs and proudly bearing on their shields their trade names. When first I came to New York the "sea-going hacks" of the fly by night chauffeurs were about the best you could do along Broadway. If you took a girl to the theatre, and she was fashionably turned out, you were struck by the incongruity achieved by the presence of her evening finery in the decadent interior of the mournful taxi. That day is past. Any swain who has the price of a cab for his lady may be proud to pick one of the smart new taxis browsing up and down the lanes of the metropolis. Even an ermine coat might be proud to ride in one of the latest cabs.

On the diner of the Twentieth Century Limited, the waiter lets the luckless traveler order rolls or bread, and then in wily fashion sneaks up on his victim with the tray of free rolls offered to all customers "on the house". These infinitesimal hot biscuits are toothsome morsels, but it seems to me an unkind trick of the management to get travelers to order bread or rolls which are certainly not used, once the highly superior brand of free tidbits appears on the scene.

In the list of public auctions advertised in the dailies, I observed one which interested me a lot. This is the notice of a sale of merchandise held by Macy's store in storage, and advertised for auction sale to cover "our lien thereon for repair charges or storage charges." Included the various fur coats and pieces of jewelry. Most of the pieces sound drab and uninteresting, even the jewelry has a spurious sound about its description. I can just imagine the dingy crowd which would attend a sale of Macy's storage articles.

It costs money to be absent-minded in the subway. The other day I went to a change booth to get change for a quarter so I might drop the required nickel in the turnstile slot. The change-maker shoved three nickels into the trough and seemed to get paralysis of the arm, and in my preoccupation and haste to catch the train that had just pulled up at the platform I grabbed the three nickels and dashed to the train. The doors had closed upon me before I realized that I had let myself be gyped out of ten cents.

Since then I experimented. The change makers in the subway booths never count the change out into one pile and shove the whole pile at you. If the change is for a quarter, they hurriedly throw out three nickels and then after a hesitation of about three seconds throw out a dime, or two more nickels. In making change for a half dollar they first shove toward you a quarter and three nickels and then, after a noticeable hesitation add a dime to the pile. This is not short-changing, of course. If you don't get your right change it is your own fault. I imagine that even if you rushed away too soon and returned for the rest of your change you would get it; but I suspect that there are a great many who use the subway daily, who, in the excitement or the crowds and the rush to get a train, don't wait for that extra dime.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken, Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Not Like Medicine

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine. Perfected by the famous Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle.

Texas Man Hurt In Pittsburgh

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

External treatments seldom banish Piles.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in hundreds of cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at McKee's Kut Rate, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 8.—Judge James A. Chambers of the common pleas court of Lawrence county made a stirring address Monday evening at the G. O. P. rally which was held in the Shelby auditorium. Judge Chambers described the wonderful work of the Republican party since its inception and emphasized the fact that prosperity and commercial and industrial growth of the country was due to the work of the Republican leaders of the country and the principle of protective tariff.

The political rally which was attended by over 300 Republican men and women followed the parade which was conducted over the main streets and through every voting ward of the city. Marshal H. J. Jenkins was assited in arranging the cars in line by Captain W. B. Hampton, Lieutenant Hall, Frank Blackburn, Chief Teater, Frank Biordi and T. J. Cain. Every car was decorated with a Republican slogan and led by the marshal's car and the Shelby band, under the direction of John Ruscovitz, the parade left the starting point promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

J. L. Kennedy, Jr., of the Fourth ward was the young man that brought along the G. O. P. coon—perched on top of an auto. Young Kennedy and his raccoon enjoyed every minute of the parade.

About 80 cars were in line making one of the longest parades ever held in Ellwood City. With the assistance of Chief Teater and the local police force traffic was handled very satisfactorily and the parade passed over the route quickly and without mishap.

Corporal Al Glasser, Patrolman Lynn of the state highway patrol and Private Brush of the state police assisted the marshal in handling the details of the parade.

A number of Wampum and New Castle Republican voters were present at the rally.

President Burton J. Bell of the Republican club of Ellwood City presided and in his opening remarks Presideint Bell stated that the club was not for one or two factions, but for the entire Republican party of Ellwood City. The club hopes to get these various cliques or factions together and make the Republican vote a solid one and to assist in election times, to cut out the ill feeling that some times exist, through failure of a candidate to receive the nomination of the party at primary election.

The Republican club is permanent in Ellwood City and Judge Chambers complimented the Ellwood Republicans in starting such an organization, that would be able to do so much good in another year, during the national campaign in connection with the presidential election.

The candidates on the city ticket for council were called upon and remarks were made by William A. Kerr, John E. Powell, Clyde B. Houk and J. W. Mattocks. The Republican candidates on the county ticket who were present and addressed the gathering included Miss Adda M. Smiley, candidate for county treasurer; T. J. McCullough, for county commissioner; R. M. Campbell for prothonotary, and G. Scott Kildoo for county auditor.

The club workers have arranged to cover the polls today and it is expected that a real 100 percent Republican vote will be gotten out for the ticket.

Success Attends Courtesy Bridge At Country Club

Many Novel Innovations Introduced At Bridge Party Last Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 8.—One hundred and fifty members of the Ellwood City Country club were present at the courtesy bridge given Monday evening at the club house in honor of the members of the 1927 ladies' entertainment committee.

Thirty-two tables of bridge were in play in the club lounge made bright with gay autumn colors interspersed with autumn leaves, bittersweet and chrysanthemums.

At the conclusion of a series of pleasant games high score club honor went to Mrs. Bruce Hunter. During the serving of refreshments a bowl of peanuts was passed around, each guest being permitted to take one. Upon opening the shells a number was discovered with No. 13 being the lucky number posted on the mantel, with the gift behind it. Mrs. John Brennamen drew the lucky number. This stunt was successfully evolved by Mrs. Earl Yahn. The honor guests were served at a special table decorated with chrysanthemums and places marked with diminutive figurines dressed in autumn leaves.

During the serving of the menu Miss Marian Slocum contributed a lovely piano solo entitled "Hungaria" by McDowell, followed by Miss Helen Zeeman, who pleased with a reading, "The Thunder Storm." Later Mrs. T. L. Haines, chairman of the lunch committee, made a clever presentation speech and gave Mrs. Loring Gelbach, chairman of the 1927 committee, and Mrs. W. R. Johnston, permanent treasurer, a gift of silver from the club ladies. The other members of the committee who worked so faithfully during the summer were each presented with crystal-ware. Mrs. Gelbach and Mrs. Johnston responded to the presentation with words of thanks. Honor guests at the affair were Mesdames Loring Gelbach, W. R. Johnston, R. C. Stiefel, W. W. Siedel, William Dean, J. S. Passavant III of Zelienople and James Hughes of Beaver Falls.

Members of the club committee responsible for the success of the evening were: Mrs. John Powell, chairman of the party: Mrs. T. L. Haines, luncheon chairman; Mrs. Earl Yahn, entertainment chairman; Mrs. Thomas Magee, treasurer, and Mrs. B. J. Bell, invitations and decorations, assisted by Mesdames Harry Harris, J. Reed Carpenter, Lyle Blandford, A. F. N. Thomas, Henry Schenck and Patterson. Indeed, the entire membership of the club, with the exclusion of the honor guests, entered into the spirit of the occasion and produced last night one of the most enjoyable parties of the year.

Battery Valued At $900 Is Taken From Plant Of National Radiator Company

In an effort to apprehend the thief who stole a 30 cell truck battery from the plant sometime between Friday and Monday, the officials of the National Radiator company are offering $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the culprit.

On Monday morning it was discovered that the battery in weight and worth about $900 was missing and a search thus far has failed to reveal the thief. Several clues are being run down and detectives are confident that they will bring the thief to justice.

The battery was used on a ten-ton truck and was in four sections, each of which could be carried away. E. L. Brundage, plant manager is of the opinion that the job was done by some one who knew the plant and knew the hours and route of the night watchman.

Heavy Snow Storm Strikes City Today

A real snowstorm struck New Castle this morning just before noon and soon the air was filled with large whirling flakes. At first the snow melted about as fast as it fell but soon a covering began to appear on exposed surfaces.

The weather for the last few days has been quite wintery, the thermometer falling several degrees below freezing. This morning seemed quite a bit warmer but it is likely that the snow in the air may cool it off again.

The children hail the coming of snow with enthusiasm and those who are older although they do not enjoy the cold weather as much as they use to, yet, it brings them a thrill with the memories of how they once revelled in the snow drifts.

Senor Latour, Gautemalean Minister, Succumbs To Self-Inflicted Wounds

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — Senor Francisco Sanchez Latour, Guatemalan minister to the United States, died here early today as the aftermath of a self-inflicted bullet wound some months ago.

Senor Latour had been in ill health for several years and last summer was taken to Emergency hospital with a bullet wound in the chest. His friends said he had accidentally shot himself while examining a revolver. He partially recovered from the effects of the wound, but the effects of the injury and his ill health caused his death today. He came from an old Guatemalan family, and had been minister from his country in Washington for many years.

Perhaps the nations could end war by erecting a few bronzes of tax payers' shelling out.

Take a pencil and write the words humorous, delightful, pathetic and charming, and when you have added them, the result is—one of our most popular young folk's books.

This book of happiness is indeed a treat. The story is very lifelike and, as most stories do, it also contains a love story. Its romance is one of endurance for the Aunt and the Doctor, but for our two young characters it is indeed quite evident from early childhood until joyous grown-up days. As is often told, "true love never did run smooth", and there are quite a lot of bumps in our tale. But the little orphan with her freckled face and light hair, brings about a happy union of the two estranged lovers. And, indeed, she awakens the love of her King, who has been shutting the sunshine out of his life because he had lost his faith in people.

Our heroine is truly a wonder and it is with no surprise that we recognize her title, M. W.—Miracle Worker. She goes through the village comforting the sick and bringing joy and gladness into their lives. Her medicine is not a tonic but a game. Don't you wish all medicines were like hers? But she is not always good. In fact, at times she is quite a little imp, bringing home all the stray cats, dogs and orphans that she finds along the way. Her wealthy aunt is nearly driven to distraction by her pranks.

However, the little girl's life is not all sunshine. Her little heart is starved for love—love such as her parents gave her before they were taken away. She tries hard to win the love of her aunt, but only learns that she is not wanted—an unwanted niece. Still she tries to be glad and does all she can to make others happy.

Then our climax comes when—, but no, I shan't tell you her name— is hit by a car and loses the use of her limbs. For a while all is despair, but with five years' treatment in Europe she returns happy and well and possessing the love of all. Because now her aunt yields to both the love of her niece and to the love of her old sweetheart, and thus our heroine aids in bringing love, beauty, charm and gladness to the closing scene.

No. 4

One time, in one of my journeys through Bookland, I met a girl whom I was not sure that I liked at first. She was such a queer girl—or at least I thought she was—for she wore her hair so unbecomingly and all of her dresses were alike, just exactly alike. She lived in such a queer place, too, a place where all of the children were just as plain as she was. I was sure that I could never learn to like her until I discovered that other folks in Bookland praised her highly. At length I became very interested in her and I kept careful watch on all that she did.

I was somewhat worried at first when she ran away from her home and took a little three-year-old boy with her. Yet, I was sure she would be careful, and she was. She found a very nice place for them to stay—not in the most beautiful section of town, it's true, but in a truly homelike place. I was glad to see that the landlady did not act like a landlady; instead, she took the two little wanderers to her heart in real mother fashion. My queer girl soon lost all her queerness and I was surprised at how pretty she became and how she thrived under her kind treatment.

She was industrious, too, for she worked and "paid her board an' keep". Once her little boy was nearly taken from her, but she kept him after all. I was so glad, for he meant life to her.

As she grew older she became more lovely and lovable, and oh, how very proud I was when I last saw her! She was starting off on a trip, a long, happy one. When she comes back I must see her again for I did like my trip in Bookland with my queer little girl friend!

Many Attend Services For Son-In-Law Of E. B. Locke, Late Of New Castle

Funeral services for the late M. J. Rich of Rice's Landing were held in Hewitt's church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All stores and schools were closed during the hour from 2 to 3.

Mr. Rich was born near Khedive, Green county. He attended Waynesburg college after which he taught school for three years. He was united in marriage to Carrie Ella Locke, oldest daughter of the late E. B. Locke of Highland avenue, New Castle. For many years he was the cashier of the Rice's Landing National bank.

Mr. Rich was very popular in church and community life in Green county and in banking circles in Southwestern Pennsylvania.

He is survied by his wife and two sons, Raymond A. Rich of Sharon, Pa., and Bennett M. Rich a student in Waynesburg college. He also leaves one sister Miss May Rich of Rices Landing and one brother Dr. D. L. Rich of the University of Michigan.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

The influence of college football teams is creeping into every walk of life. After watching Pitt and W. and J. battle to a scoreless tie on Saturday, Robert White city solicitor must have had the idea that he could hold a line single handed.

Monday afternoon he tried holding back his automobile in Water street but was thrown down for a a loss. The loss being mostly a yard of skin off his elbows and legs where he was dragged by his car in its crazy peregrinations.

That idea of a New Castle Products Show, broached in this colyum a few days ago is meeting with some favorable reaction. Mrs. G. M. Gibson, a New Castle woman who has traveled much, sends in a note today which is on the subject. It follows;

Mr. Richards:—

Reading the enclosed item in the News (which was concerning a products show) I recalled while visiting in Chattanooga, Tenn., a year ago, after seeing all the historic places, and there were many the only place down town where I visited or rather spent most of the afternoon was the second and third floors of a storeroom in which was a collection of each industry in the city or rather a sample of them. I assure you it was very interesting. They are always there and visitors always include it in their sight seeing of the city. A view of the city from the top of the mountains was a beautiful sight. MRS. G. M. GIBSON.

From Mrs. Gibson's letter I gather that it was a permanent exhibit in Chattanooga. Must be a beautiful city although the only time I ever saw it was about January 1, 1919. Occupied the upper berth in a troop train that was enroute from Camp Hancock, Augusta Ga., to Camp Grant Rockford Ill. and the night we went through Chattanooga it was raining.

Another club is about on the verge of being organized. George Muse who is himself a "jiner" of the 33rd degree, has started work on the Friday Feeders, which will be a group of men of the city who will gather about the festive board in The Castleton every Friday. The purpose of the organization is non-political, non-religious in fact non-everything except eat and talk. Just a sort of glorified kaffeklatsch.

Contributions to this column are much appreciated at all times. But ocasionally the contribution takes the form of something besides news copy. Today it was a lake trout, fresh from Georgian Bay with the ice still clinging to it. Were it not that the lady is averse to such publicity the name would be run but as it is she gets a private vote of thanks.

And after looking at the lake trout you would call it anything but a poor fish.

Saw an amusing thing in front of The Castleton Coffee Shop. Two little girls were standing with their respective noses flat against the window arguing about the bowl of fruit inside. One of them insisted that it was real fruit and the other insisted that the fruit was wax. If either of the young lassies see this they can settle the argument. The fruit is real.

Did you ever wind spaghetti? Its a great pastime when it has been cooked a la Italienne by the folks who know how. Dropped in on a spaghetti supper in the Italian M. E. church last night and if all the spaghetti eaten there Monday night were placed end to end it would reach from a given point to another given point and you can do your own giving.

We shall be converted to Bolshevik doctrine when all the Russian bosses in soft places offer to swop places with laborers.

WRONG TO JOKE ABOUT YOUR HEALTH!

Don't let friends "kid" you when they say, "You're looking fine". Because you know how often you feel weak, nervous, headachy, stomach not so good, and other spells. Some of these slight attacks may be symptoms of System Poisoning—professionally called TOXEMIA. Ordinary laxative pills and waters do not eliminate the poisonous wastes that bring on TOXEMIA. Far better to get a box of PARTOLA, the internal antiseptic and laxative. Take two of these mint-flavored wafers at night, clean out the poisons, then your friends can truly say "you're looking fine". All good druggists sell regular box of PARTOLA 30¢, double size 50¢.

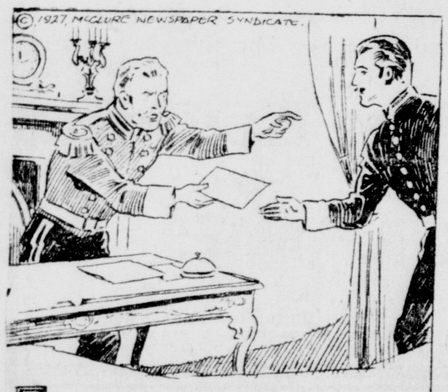
The Case Of The "Virginius"—Part Two

THE EXECUTION BY THE SPANIARDS IN CUBA OF THE AMERICAN SKIPPER AND FIFTY-TWO OTHER PERSONS SEIZED ABOARD THE "FILIBUSTERING" SHIP "VIRGINIUS" IN 1873 WAS CARRIED OUT IN SPITE OF THE PROTESTS OF THE AMERICAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH CONSULS.

ACCORDING TO INTERNATIONAL LAW, A SHIP CARRYING CONTRABAND OF WAR COULD BE SEIZED, AND THOSE ON BOARD HELD AS SMUGGLERS. BUT THOUGH FILIBUSTERING WAS UNLAWFUL, IT WAS NOT PIRACY AND DID NOT MERIT THE DEATH PENALTY.



THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT IN MADRID, WHEN THE SEIZURE OF THE "VIRGINIUS" WAS REPORTED, HAD CABLED ITS OFFICERS IN CUBA NOT TO CARRY OUT ANY SENTENCES UNTIL FURTHER ORDERS WERE SENT FROM SPAIN.

THIS MESSAGE WAS DELAYED BETWEEN HAVANA AND SANTIAGO, AND ARRIVED TOO LATE TO SAVE ALL OF THE DOOMED MEN.

PLAN BOOSTER DAY AT GAME SATURDAY

New Castle Will Play Erie East

Local Alumni Committee Hard At Work On "New Castle Day" Plans

Fitting Ceremony Will Be Paid High School Football Team By Fans

Football players as a rule have a mighty tough time of it every Saturday afternoon. It is their lot to do the entertaining of thousands of gridiron enthusiasts who jam their way into the stadiums and yell themselves hoarse at the least semblance of a good play.

Saturday afternoon, November 12, at Ben Franklin high field the situation is going to be reversed to some extent at least, and instead of the vast multitude of pleasure seekers getting all the benefits of the occasion the New Castle high and Erie East high teams will come in for a share of the "lionizing".

The big feature for this coming week-end at the local arena is to be known as "New Castle day". A group of energetic alumni of the senior high school, together with the townspeople, have hit upon the idea of a fitting ceremony and tribute to the husky red and black clad warriors.

The committee in charge of this big "New Castle day" program is arranging for some mighty attractive features, the doings of the committee are very secret so they say, but they will try as much as possible to spring several surprises.

It is the intention to have the entire student body of New Castle high school sit enmasse on the wooden bleachers with flying banners and flocks of colors and all that sort of thing, and also to have the cheerleaders pepped up. The noise from this aggregation should rip open the clouds.

Secure Two Bands.

The stadium will be fittingly decorated in the red and black colors for the occasion, and the place is going to be all dressed up. There will be a couple of bands, the senior and junior high bands having volunteered their services to help make the program a joyous one, and also to lend sweet music to the ears of the throng.

There is also going to be something nice in the way of appreciation for the Erie East football team and the students who accompany them. The visitors from the Lake City will not be forgotten.

Now the whole thing boiled down is this: Saturday is the day selected to boost New Castle high football team and to show the boys that students, alumni and townsfolk appreciate their work. So let's get behind this "New Castle day" program and help to make it the biggest thing that has been staged at Ben Franklin high field this year.

More detailed information regarding the plans of the committee will be published from time to time during the week. But don't forget to mark that big double XX on the calendar for Saturday, November 12.

In "Frenchy" Belanger the Toronto boxing fans believe they have a promising candidate for the world's flyweight crown recently laid aside by Fidel La Barba. In his recent bouts Belanger has displayed considerable class.

Association football has developed into the most popular sport in Austria since the war.

GRID CAPTAINS

Bill Feaster, tackle, is the captain of the 1927 Georgetown (Washington) eleven.

He had the edge taken off of his play early this year as a result of an injured shoulder. The New York U. game was the first in which he played this fall, and his shoulder bothered him considerably.

Feaster is accustomed to playing a dashing brand of football. He is a good defensive man.

New Wilmington Meets Bessemer Next Saturday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 8. — With a victory now behind it, the New Wilmington high school football team is now in hard training for the game with Bessemer which is to be played here this Saturday. Bessemer high school is one of the college town high's greatest rivals and it is expected that the game will be a hard one.

Despite the fact that his proteges showed the best form of the season in defeating the Ben Franklin Trade school team Friday, Coach Wiggins is taking no chances but is driving his team hard to have them in the best possible condition for the Bessemer clash. It has been reported that Bessemer which was the class champion last year has another championship team.

Erie East To Battle Locals Here Saturday

New Castle High Team Takes Rest Monday Afternoon; Resumes Practice Today

Monday afternoon was a day of rest for the New Castle High football team. Coach Bridenbaugh excused the boys from rehearsal due to the fact that they had a rather strenuous contest Saturday with Swissvale.

Practices will be resumed today it was announced by Coach Bridenbaugh. The locals will be called on Saturday to meet a team that should test their strength. The Erie East team is perhaps one of the best and fastest teams in Erie this year and they have enjoyed a most successful season to date.

The Lake Erie boys are preparing for a real tussle when they take the field here against the powerful New Castle outfit, well do they realize that this is one of the hardest games on their schedule.

The New Castle team had a merry romp last Saturday with Swissvale and chased themselves bow-legged going for touchdowns. Erie East will not prove another Swissvale, that much can be taken for granted.

They have a habit of turning out good football teams in Erie, and the East team this season is no exception.

Penn-State Auto Service Team In Lead For Title

Ben Franklin High Tops Mahoningtown, Fabian Is Big Star

Final Score Is 21 To 0; Franklin Team Junior High Champions

The fast and powerful Ben Franklin High team, junior champions, concluded their 1927 city school schedule Monday night at the Ben Franklin High field, by trouncing Mahoningtown 21 to 0.

The Seventh warders were outclassed in all departments of the game. The first half of the game was almost an exact replica of the New Castle-Swissvale contest, while the final half of the game was a reminder of the New Castle-South High memorial conflict. Although headed for touchdowns on numerous occasions the Ben Franklin team lost the ball on fumbles or misplays.

In the first quarter of the game Fabian took the ball on a triple pass and raced 30 yards for a touchdown through a broken field, the extra point was added by a line plunge through tackle with Fabian again carrying the ball. The score at the end of the first quarter, Ben Franklin 7, Mahoningtown 0.

Early in the second quarter Fabian again broke away on a run that netted him 30 yards and another touchdown and he also added the extra point through tackle. Near the close of the first half Fabian again scampered 45 yards for the third and final touchdown and again crashed the line for the extra point. The score at the end of the half Ben Franklin 21, Mahoningtown 0.

Fabian Big Star.

The teams battled on rather even grounds for the entire third quarter with neither side able to advance the ball with any degree of effectiveness. Several exchanges of punts took place with Franklin gaining more ground via this route.

Fabian was the outstanding player of the contest and tallied all three of the touchdowns. Heasley performed in brilliant fashion in both passing and also played a bangup defensive game. Crisci played a good game at guard and with his fellow linemen opened gaping holes for the backfield.

The Mahoningtown team was somewhat handicapped by the absence of several of their star players and had but eleven men in uniform for the battle. When Tommelleo their quarterback was injured late in the game Coach Norton of the Franklin team very generously gave the Seventh warders Gennock in order that the game could contnue. This was a fine piece of sportsmanship on the part of the Franklin High coach and drew considerable praise and comment.

The Franklin team is deserving of the championship, the boys having played fine football this year. The Franklin team is very well balanced and their is a wealth of material at the Junior High chool.

The summary:

Ben Franklin—21	Mahoningtown—0
Cunningham	L. E. Rapp
Deep	L. T. Hutton
Crisci	L. G. Morgan
Heasley	C. Rishel
McCurdy	R. G. Rice
Davis	R. T. Logue
Alfero	R. E. Ungst
Ruha	Q. B. Tommelleo
Fabian	L. H. Carr
Morgan	R. H. McIlwain

Score by quarters:

Ben Franklin	7	14	0	0	—21

Touchdowns—Fabian 3.

Points after touchdown—Fabian 3, (line plunges.)

Westminster Meets Thiel On Saturday

Football Season Of 1927 Will Be Closed For New Wilmington Eleven

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 8.—Surprising many of the grid sages when they invaded enemy quarters last Saturday, battling the strong Waynesburg College eleven to a scoreless tie amide snow flurries and on swells of billows of mud. Westminsters' football stalwarts are now anticipating the coming week-end tilt with Thiel College on the latter's field at Greenville.

This game with the Lutheran institution on Saturday will mark the termination of the Blue and White's football fortunes for 1927. Despite the fact that the annual battle with Waynesburg is in the record files, an engagement that was predicted as likely to prove the most strenuous and toughest on the calendar, "Dyke" Beede's team is by no means situated to enjoy a trip to St. Moritz, as there is still that climaxing game with Thiel.

Placing two major college football teams on their schedule this season, the Holleran coached outfit have met defeat at both the hands of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech. Thiel succumbed to Tech, 40-6, and lost to Pitt by a 48-0 score. However, both of these opponents are considered as devastating clubs as any in the country, and victory was not expected by the Greenvillers. Since those defeats Thiel encountered Waynesburg, fighting to a scoreless tie. Duquesne was barely able to get the advantage a few weeks ago when they edged an 8-7 triumph over Thiel. Last Saturday the Lutherans outplayed Allegheny College, winning by a 2-0 margin.

The Greenville mentor has developed a powerful running attack which consists chiefly of line slicer and off-tackle thrusts. This method of ground gaining was the feature of Thiel's game against Allegheny last Saturday.

Bitter rivalry exists between Westminster and Thiel, and a hardfought game with both aggregations determined will be the program this Saturday when they clash in the Blue and White's grid finale. Last year Thiel defeated Westminster at New Wilmington by a 7-6 score.

Football's Guiding Light — By Feg Murray

As the football rules committee said, in a resolution passed in 1925 soon after Walter Camp's death, "American football has lost its great champion, but his influence on the game will endure as long as the game is played." Walter Camp's tireless efforts as a coach, critic, author, selector of "all-America" teams, and as the guiding genius who safeguarded the good name of football and kept pace with its evolution until his death, are all well known, but perhaps his abilities as a player have been more or less forgotten. Let me quote from "Big Bill" Edwards' book, "Football Days". Edwards quotes F. R. Vernon, who played on the Yale team with Camp:

"Camp was always alert and seemed to sense developments before they occurred. One of my chief recollections of Camp's play was his great confidence with the ball. In his room, on the campus, in the gym', wherever he was, if possible, he would have a football with him. He seemed to know every inch of its surface, and it seemed almost as if the ball knew him. It would stick to his palm like iron to a magnet.

"In one of his plays Camp would run down the side of the field, the ball held far out with one arm, while the other arm was performing yeoman service in warding off the oncoming tacklers. Frequently he would pass the ball from one hand to the other, while still running, depending upon which arm he saw he would need for defense. Smilingly and confidently Camp would run the gauntlet of opposing players for many consecutive gains. I do not recall one instance in which he lost the ball through these tactics."

FEG MURRAY SAYS—

"Darn it all!" wailed the football coach who had ordered his men to play without stockings on account of the heat. "My star kicker is terrible today. Why, there isn't any sock to his boots at all."

Sport Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

Well the boys are back in the alleys again.

Bowling is played with a ball and 10 pieces of wood. Baseball on the other hand is played with a ball and nine.

A BOWLING ALLEY IS LIKE WALL STREET. EVERYBODY IS TRYING TO KNOCK DOWN AS MUCH AS HE CAN.

To the bystander the ten pins look as close as a party of collegians and co-eds on the back steps.

But when the ball gets down there they seem as far apart as a hula dancer and modesty.

Pitt Gridders Plan For Battle With Nebraska

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—The University of Pittsburgh gridiron warriors rushed preparations today for one of the stiffest games in their schedules this season, when they meet the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers here next Saturday. The Cornhuskers are reported at their peak of power now and the Panthers will have to be in perfect shape to win.

Coach Jock Sutherland's team came through the Washington & Jefferson battle without serious injury last Saturday and most of the cripples, including Paul Fisher and Charley Edwards, are expected to be in shape for Saturday's game.

Sutherland will pit his squad against the plebes the remainder of the week with the freshmen demonstrating some of Nebraska's tricky plays.

Volley Ball Games Scheduled Friday

The Buckeye and Shenango Tin Mill volley ball teams are ready to play at the Y. M. C. A. court on Friday night, in the first of the volley ball series in this city.

The girls of the Buckeye plant will play the Shenango Pottery girls in the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock. Walter Kirker, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. will officiate all games.

East Without Real Gridiron Champion

Pitt And W. & J. Battle To Scoreless Tie To Eliminate Both Of Them

Princeton Stands Undefeated, But Support Rather Weak Schedule, Say Experts

By REGIS CURRAN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—The football situation today was a national muddle with practically every important football face in the country sporting a blemish of some sort, including the two best in Western Pennsylvania, Pitt and Wash-Jeff, who each developed a pimple by playing a scoreless tie. This left only Princeton with clear complexion. But even Princeton is not without sin, it seems, for there are some who have alleged that her schedule is rather a bit of a setup, although admitting the 20-0 victory over Ohio State was impressive.

The Panthers, however, can keep itself in the running by bowling over Nebraska and Penn State, an undertaking which may force Pitt authorities to call in a football undertaker. Wash-Jeff has a slightly more restful time for the rest of the season, but Bucknell or West Virginia or both may do dirt to the Presidents.

The widely-heralded battle between the two stars, Amos and Welch, saw Bullet Booth, Panther fullback, come out with whatever honors there were Saturday by his powerful line plunging. Douds, President tackle, took greatest praise among the linemen.

Geneva holds the undisputed lead of the class B colleges in Western Pennsylvania, their 13-0 victory being without surprise.

Carnegie Tech went down to a 20-6 victory over New York University, one of the East's best but fans hereabouts took solace from the fact that the score was just about even with the Pitt-Tech affair, which ended 23-7. And, the people prate, New York University did not have to face the traditional Tartan fight in the measure that Pitt saw.

All other games in this section of the state kept in line with expectations. Westminster and Waynesburg played a scoreless tie; Duequesne vanquished St. Francis, 10-0; and Thiel scored its first victory in history over Allegheny by a safety, 2 to 0.

Aquatic Club To Meet Wednesday

The New Castle Aquatic Club will hold their regular monthly business meeting and program at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday night, November 9, at 8 o'clock, said Alec Samuels today.

It is understood that Jack Hulmes, swimming instructor at Westminster College, will be the principal speaker on the short program that has been arranged by the officials of the club.

Football figures of the present season show that few winners of sectional and conference championships for 1926 are destined to repeat this year.

Cardinals-Phillies Sign New Managers

McKechnie To Head St. Louis Team In Race For 1928 Pennant

Burt Shotton Signs To Manage Philadelphia Nationals For Next Year

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Baseball's annual fall house cleaning swept two new managers in yesterday in the persons of Bill McKechnie with the Cardinals and Burt Shotton with the Phillies, leaving only the detail of substracting one and adding another for the vacuum cleaner at Cleveland.

Of course, the White Sox may decide to play along with their idea that a manager a day keeps the pennant away and dust Ray Schalk right off their managerial door step but, as to that, Ray was supposed to have had only an abstract interest in the management of the club last year, so perhaps the Comiskeys at last have found their ideal team leader.

The new Cleveland owners, I understand, are looking for a man who has had his name up in the lights, and, among others, are supposed to have under consideration no less a personage than Tyrus Raymond Cobb. Just how far, if a literal inch, this thing has gone, the writer is not prepared to say, but there is no doubt that an appointment of Cobb to Speaker's old job would be an interesting, if radical, step. Frankly, I don't expect to see it taken.

Speaker himself is alleged to be through in Washington and, for a time, the exhorters had him right back in Cleveland at the head of the new club. Of course, boys will be boys and boys will be premature. I suspect they were both that time. Speaker is said to have had his chance with the Boston Braves but wanted $50,000. However, so do I and the funny thing about that is that neither of us will get it.

Collins Mentioned.

Eddie Collins is another ex-star who has been mentioned for the position but it may be that Edward will decide to remain as close to Philadelphia as possible. Connie Mack is getting no younger very rapidly and, if in the next year or two he decided to step down, Collins is the man who is most likely to get the nod.

Meanwhile, Arthur Fletcher, former manager of the Phillies, has come forward in the light of what is supposed to be a leading candidate for the Cleveland job. In fact, they say Arthur has a right good chance of being named. Cleveland might look further and do worse.

Fletcher didn't make a profound impression upon that solemn, solid alligarchy of National League ownership while he was in Philadelphia. But the boy has the fight and the stuff, and a co-operating owner some day will bring it out.

The appointment of Shotton yesterday and of Jack Slattery as manager of the Braves are experiments of the first water. Shotton handled the old Cardinals from time to time when Rickey was at divine worship but, otherwise, neither appointee can show anything in the way of major league experience.

McKechnie, with a world's champion in 1925, is another matter. The writer always has felt that Bill simply was in the middle in that Pittsburgh upheaval in 1926 and naturally had to take the slap. It seems only bare justice that he is to get another chance.

As for Sam Breadon, he wins the rungless stepladder for managerial changes of heart. Hornsby won him a world's title in 1926 and was demoted. Bob O'Farrell finished a fighting second this year, with the highest percentage ever reached by a Cardinal team, and was demoted. However, I guess that is no doubt, in the latter's case, that a good catcher was spoiled to make an ordinary manager.

Two Westminster College Artists Contest Winners

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 8. — Of the four artists that were picked from the 1,300 entrants in the Victor Press-Stanley Talent Hunt conducted for to find the best qualified persons to make test records for the Victor Talking Machine Co., two are well-known as former Westminster college artists.

Miss Alta Shultz who has taken part in many difficult oratories at Westminster, and Norval Brelos who was director of the conservatory of Music at Westminster are the two artists who are well known here.

After his departure from Westminster Mr. Brelos attended the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Brelos is better known here than Miss Shulz, having been at Westminster for a much longer period of time.

However, both of the artists are being warmly congratulated by their Westmin

Michigan Coach Old Diamond Star

By JACK SORDS

Helping to add more prestige to the University of Michigan athletic teams is Ray Fisher, one-time Yankee and Cincinnati pitching star. Though engaged in the fall as coach of the freshman team, his long suit is baseball, and he has developed teams that have either won or finished second every year but one in the conference.

Fisher, a thorough and hard worker, has had wide experience both as a player and a coach of football. He first demanded attention while a student at Middlebury College, where he pitched for the varsity baseball team besides starring in all the other sports. After being graduated in 1909 he went direct to the New York Yankees and pitched for that team until 1916, when he answered the call to arms. After his release from the service he went to the Cincinnati Nationals and pitched for the Reds in 1919 and 1920. Fisher found time during the off season in baseball to act as athletic director of Middlebury College, and at another time to give courses in pitching at the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College. He went to Michigan in 1921 and is still there doing his job and doing it well.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Tom McMahon, former Bearcat of the light-heavyweights, is helping Emmett Rocco get into physical condition for his bout with Sandy Seifert Friday night at Youngstown. Rocco clashed with Seifert a month ago and captured the popular decision. McMahon has been engaged by Manager Joe Cumo to not only act as a tutor but a training partner, and according to McMahon, the big fellow has improved under his tutelage.

It is expected that Rocco will show improved form when he steps into the ring against Seifert, who is a more clever fighter than Rocco. However, Seifert lacks the punishing power of the Ellwood City lad, who hopes to score a knockout within the limit of 12 rounds. Seifert has a steel jaw and during the last fight Emmett concentrated his punches there but may try to win with body punches when they meet again.

Bill McKechnie, former manager of the Pirates, has been named manager of the St. Louis Cardinals to succeed Bob O'Farrell, who will give all his attention to the position behind the bat. Bert Shotten has been signed to replace "Stuffy" McInnis as manager of the Phillies and only recently Jack Slattery was given the position recently held by Dave Bancroft as manager of the Boston Braves. Shotten managed the Syracuse Internationals last season, converting them from a second division team to a crew of pennant winners.

American league arbiters who have worked under Ban Johnson, former president of the American league, have sent a testimonial to their former chieftain in the form of a set of resolutions embossed on a big bronze plaque. When it is presented, Clarence Rowland, Brick Owens and Hugh Brennan, the latter a Chicago fan, will make the presentation.

Earl Sande, noted jockey, will be given a hearing today by the Maryland racing commission on charges that he committed a foul in the Pimlico Futurity. Sande has been reluctant to discuss the ruling that virtually bars him from tracks in North America. Several jockeys who rode with Sande in the classic will testify in his behalf.

Young Sailor of Charleroi handed Jack Zivic a trimming in 10 rounds at Motor Square Garden, Pittsburgh, last night and Tony Canzoneri knocked out Billy Henry of Chicago in the second round at Philadelphia. Canzoneri is the chap that the New York boxing commission favors as a featherweight champion while the Pennsylvania body has recognized Benny Bass as the titleholder.

New Castle high holds the high point scoring mark in the W. P. I. A. league, according to reports today from Pittsburgh. They have scored 349 points against 20. Westinghouse is second with 290 against 18. The league intends to appoint a committee soon which will have charge of selecting the league champion. Defeats by non-league members are not considered this year in the rating of league teams and the title will be awarded on a high point method.

Beall May Finish Third In Marathon

Beall, one of the lads who has recently been graduated from the boys' department in the Y. M. C. A., to the full status of a man, is showing some of his elders a considerable chase in the race to see who will finish third in the 1700-lap marathon swimming race which is being held in the Y. M. C. A. pool. To date Beall has 1100 laps on the title and expects to finish by the end of the week.

Again, the interest in the marathon race has been revived. It will be remembered that Montanari and Glass, two of the strongest swimmers that the Y has produced in some time, finished first and second, respectively.

FREEDOM, Pa., Nov. 8.—Imbued with the spirit that it is better to give than to receive, the thief who stole a handbag containing $30 and church papers from Mary J. Cheney, treasurer of the McClure Bible class, last week, returned the loot today with an additional dollar for the conscience fund.

Built for comfort, what I mean!

COMFORT and lots of it. I'm talking about Prince Albert, Gentlemen, the National Joy Smoke. Why, there's friendliness in the very aroma of P. A., as you open the tidy red tin. Some fragrance it is, too.

The first pull on a pipe packed with P. A. tells you the taste is equally friendly. Cool and long-burning. Sweet as grape-clusters, hanging on the vine. Mild as arctic sunshine, yet with plenty of good, rich tobacco-body to it you know you're smoking. So mild, in fact, that you can load-up and light-up from breakfast to bedtime.

Now, I'm not one to mix in on other people's affairs. But this pipe-thing is different, somehow. I can't resist tipping you off to what I consider the greatest pipe-tobacco in the world. Get some P. A. now and get some of this comfort I've been telling you about.

Quality and quantity both — TWO full ounces in every tin.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

British Solons Again In Session

British Parliament Convenes Today For Period Of Six Weeks

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 8—After a recess of more than three months parliament convened today for a six weeks session. The legislative program is so contentious and threatens such turbulance that predictions are being made that parliament will be disolved in February and a general election called.

The chief measures which will come before commons include:

1—The unemployment insurance bill which is designed to put the system of unemployment in Britain upon a solvent basis again.

2—Reform of the House of Lords with modification of the hereditary principle.

3—The vinematograph films bill by which British moving picture theatre owners would be compelled to exhibit a certain quota of British-made films.

In addition to the measures introduced the government will be interpellated at length upon the collapse of the Anglo-Japanese-American naval limitation conference at Geneva and the part that British policy played in causing the conference to fall.

New York Man Jail Prisoner, Suicide Victim

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 8.—Stung by the disgrace of his arrest on a charge of larceny and forgery, Carl Zukerman, 35, of New York, hanged himself in the city jail here today. The body was discovered by Chief of Police De Wald.

A torn sheet indicated Zuckerman had attempted to hang himself previously, but it was believed here the sheet broke. Apparently the man then used a leather strap. The cell was so low he was compelled to swing his legs to one side to strangle himself.

Had Zuckerman waited a few hours longer he would have been released and the charges against him dropped, according to the police.

Marines Oversee Election Vote In Nicaragua

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—U. S. marines, aided by the local constabulary, "successfully observed" the municipal elections throughout Nicaragua yesterday, and there were no disorders, according to a dispatch to the navy today.

Indications are, the dispatch said, that the Liberal party has won a substantial victory and the Conservatives have been defeated.

The American state department has been backing the Conservatives in Nicaragua, maintaining Adolfo Diaz in the president's palace, and refusing recognition to Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, the Liberal leader, who claimed to be the constitutional president of the republic.

I. W. W. Leaders In Pueblo Jail

State Police May Be Sent To Mines By Governor Adams

(International News Service)

DENVER, Nov. 8.—With sixteen of the I. W. W. leaders of coal strike of Southern Colorado in jail at Pueblo today, activities shifted to the Northern field.

According to reports from the Columbine mine of the northern part of the state, a march of 800 strikers upon the mine to intimidate miners who have been faithful to their work since the strike began three weeks ago, was broken up by deputy guard who were armed with sawed off shot guns. No one was injured.

All precautions possible are being taken to quell any outbreak at the Columbine mine today. Governor William H. Adams is said to be ready to send a body of state police to that region immediately should need arise.

The streets of Pueblo are being guarded by armed state police today as a motor party of 140 automobile loads of striking miners is said to be making its way to that city to liberate the I. W. W. leaders held there by the state.

Borland Comments On Community Chest

Jim Borland of the Franklin News-Herald has the following regarding the Community Chest drive here:

"New Castle "fell down" in her first two attempts in 1925 and 1926 to reach the desired goal, $100,000 in her Community Chest campaign but last week she went "over the top" largely through the efforts of Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson who not only put six weeks of hard work into it but also several thousand dollars in real money. The New Castle News gave $1,000 in addition to $600 subscribed by the editor, Fred L. Rentz who says in his paper that she is a wonderful woman and "deserves all the credit as no other person could have put the drive over."

Rehabilitation Work Is Faced In New England

Fires Are Conquered In Several Cities In Flood-Swept Districts

FOOD SUPPLIES ARE LOW IN SOME TOWNS

Deny Reports That Cambridge, Vermont, Has Been Swept By Fire

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 8.—Having fought and conquered flood, freezing temperatures, fire and disease, each in turn, New England today was face to face with the terrific task of rehabilitation.

Fire, the newest of New England's portuous menaces of the past four days, struck at Ludlow, Vt., and at Springfield, Vt., yesterday, but a battle waged in knee deep slime and debris left by the retreating flood waters found citizens victorious today.

With food supplies already dangerously low, the Ludlow, Vt., fire added to the town's troubles by leveling the only bakery. From this shop the citizens had been receiving their daily ration of half a loaf of bread.

Fire Subdued

Although scores of men volunteered in fighting the blaze, only the flood saturated condition of other buildings prevented a general conflagration. High winds whipped the blazing brands over the downtown district for more than an hour before the fire was subdued.

At Springfield frantic and weary citizens found it necessary to repair broken water mains before water could be directed on the fire which broke out there. Cambridge, Vt., denied late last night the reports circulated earlier in the day that fire had swept the community.

Vermont in Distress

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Starvation and commercial ruin were the two gaunt spectres stalking hand-in-hand in the wintry blasts over the desolate flood-swept areas of Vermont today.

While Connecticut, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Massachusetts were rapidly recovering from the blow dealt by the raging torrents, the

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Coolidge gave a "flood control" breakfast at the White House this morning, entertaining a number of Illinoisans and others who came to the capital to impress upon congress the need for saving the Mississippi valley from further catastrophes.

The guest list was headed by Gov. Len Small of Illinois, and Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson of Chicago.

Rogers Reckons Indians May Pay For Boulder Dam

LAGUANA, N. M., Nov. 8.—They struck oil on the Navajos over three years ago. I foolishly asked "how often do they get their payments for their oil royalty."

Well they hadn't any yet. They took a million of it to build a bridge across the Little Colorado River so tourists wouldn't have to drive so far around to see the Grand Canyon.

The Navajos paid for the bridge and there had never been a Navajo crossed it yet.

If the Indians' oil royalties hold out they will have enough to build the Boulder Dam for the whites. Poor Lo!

I suppose I will be recalled for telling this Magruder and Summerall.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—Pennsylvania went to the polls today at the general election to fill local and county offices in all parts of the commonwealth and to elect 50 persons to judicial office in 24 counties.

Crisp weather, with a hint of snow in some parts of the state, promised a heavy vote. While unofficial reports were that registration was in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 persons, it was anticipated that the total vote today would be slightly in excess of 1,500,000.

Seek Judicial Places

One hundred thirteen candidates holding a total of 168 nominations, seek election to the half hundred judicial positions. The Republican party has candidates for every position, while the Democrats are in the running in 48 of the 50 races, having withdrawn in two instances.

The prohibition party has nominees in 43 places in the judiciary, the labor party 16 and the socialist party 11. In many instances one candidate holds two or more nominations, and in one case, that of Judge John S. Fine, in Luzerne county, four nominations are held by one man.

Some indication of the statewide interest shown in the judicial elections is gained by the fact that only in three counties are nominations for common pleas judgeships without opposition, while in Allegheny county, for instance, there are 33 candidates for nine judgeships.

Alleged Sleuth "Fixer" Appears Before Probers

Norman Glasscock, Juror, Discredits Story About Meeting With Lamb

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — The man who the government now believes actually hired the 16 Burns detectives that kept the Fall-Sinclair jurors under surveillance came before the Federal Grand Jury today.

The grand jury is probing charges of alleged jury tampering by Harry F. Sinclair and his associates, disclosure of which resulted in a mistrial of the Teapot Dome Oil conspiracy case. The witness who appeared today was Harry Jeffreys, chief clerk of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company.

Injection of Jeffreys into the investigation came as a direct result of yesterday's testimony by William J. Burns and his son W. Sherman Burns.

Those following the probe were somewhat surprised as both Burns and his son had indicated that H. Mason Day, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration Company, was the employer of the detectives. Day is out on $25,000 bond, he and Sinclair having been charged by assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw with conspiracy to attempt to illegally influence a petit jury.

Several To Testify

Waiting to appear before the grand jury while Jeffreys was testifying, was A. Cheldon Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Refining Company. He and Day are alleged by the government to have been "contact men" between the Burns agents and Sinclair. Charles G. Ruddy, Burns manager in charge of the jury stalkers,

OHIO OUTCOME IS RATHER IMPORTANT

Number Of Congressmen To Be Elected In Scattered Districts

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Today is election day in a score of states.

The fact, however, evoked but a flicker of interest in the capital. The issues, such as they are, are so denationalized that even the most farsighted of party leaders here could see but little significance in the results as applied to the presidential sweepstakes a year from today. Local issues everywhere predominate.

Perhaps the nearest approach to a national issue at stake today is provided by the wet and dry contests that feature several of the elections.

Ohio Center of Interest

In Ohio, long a cockpit for the warring elements of prohibition, the voters are called upon to ratify or reject an enactment of the legislature that is backed by the Anti-Saloon League. It involves the system of local justice courts whereby liquor law violators may be haled before rural tribunals and penalized accordingly. The United States supreme court knocked out the previous system, whereupon the Anti-Saloon League had it re-enacted in somewhat different form. Today's election amounts to a referendum on that re-enactment. Mo-

Dr. J. J. Tigert Makes Address

Educational Commissioner Is Heard By Large Crowd At Senior High

OPENS OBSERVANCE OF EDUCATION WEEK

Educational week was opened in New Castle Monday evening when Dr. John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, spoke on "The Teacher Supreme" in the Senior High School auditorium. About five hundred people were present to hear the Commissioner.

Dr. Tigert is an entertaining speaker. Tall and droll, with the Kentucky accent still strong, he has a dry humor which is thoroughly enjoyable. The public school teacher he termed as being the hope of the Republic and in speaking on his subject said among other things.

The "Teacher Supreme" suggests the qualities of the ideal teacher. No teacher can attain to the ideal of perfection, but the ideal is a constant stimulus in the struggle for self government. The primary incentive for the gathering of teachers in meetings and associations is professional growth. Valuable and pleasant as the social aspects of these gatherings may be, unless they provide a medium for better teachers and better teaching they can not be justified.

First, no teacher is ever likely to achieve great success who does not love teaching. No one is likely to suc-

Philadelphians At Polls Today To Elect Mayor

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Partly overcast skies and freezing weather greeted Philadelphians today as they went to the poles to elect a mayor, an entire city council, a district attorney, a sheriff, receiver of taxes, a recorder of deeds, three county commissioners, five judges of common pleas court, two orphans' court judges, a judge of the municipal court and 19 magistrates. The Republican organization candidates were heavy favorites to win all places.

TWENTY PRECINCTS GIVE GILLESPIE LEAD OF 110 FOR MAYOR

All Other City And County Republican Candidates Are Elected On Tuesday—Boyd Is Ahead For Minority Place On County Commissioner's Board.

At eleven o'clock tonight, with twenty precincts reported out of a total of 27 in the city, William H. Gillespie, Democratic candidate for mayor appears to be a winner over Louis G. Genkinger, Republican candidate. The twenty precincts reported show Gillespie 3757 and Genkinger 3647.

Of the precincts missing, the fifth of the Second Ward is expected to add to the majority of Gillespie, two precincts of the First Ward will probably be a standoff, the second of Third Ward will probably be close, and the second of the Fifth and the third of the Seventh will probably show a lead for Genkinger. However, the lead established by Gillespie, with the almost certain heavy increase in the fifth precinct of the Second Ward appear to be an indication of Gillespie's success.

In the early returns Genkinger piled up a lead which at one time approximated 800 votes. These precincts were from the precincts in the southern end of the city and from a scattering over the Fourth Ward. As the hill precincts of the Second Ward and the Third Ward began to come in Gillespie ate up the lead of Genkinger and he forged ahead.

No other contest was even close. The one fight on the Republican candidate in the county which promised any opposition was that of county treasurer. Miss Adda C. Smiley, Republican candidate ran far ahead of Woodie W. Thompson, Democratic candidate and James R. Lamoree who was a candidate on the Citizens ticket.

The following is the list of county officers who are elected.

For Judge—James A. Chambers.

For County Treasurer—Miss Adda C. Smiley.

For Prothonotary——Ralph M. Campbell.

For County Auditor—R. C. McCaslin, Jr., and A. Scott Kildoo. The minority auditor elected is William Eroe, Jr.

For County Commissioner—Thomas J. McCullough and P. O. Elder on the Republican ticket. Calvin C. Boyd, Democrat, had no trouble for the minority commissionership, running ahead of Stewart J. Hunt on the Prohibtion ticket.

For Coroner—James P. Caldwell.

The city ticket aside from the mayor follows:—

City Controller—Alvah L. Porter.

School Director for four years—A. C. Hyde.

In numbers the vote ran about the same as in the primary, with the city showing a little stronger percentage perhaps than the county.

52 Straight Votes In 563 In First Ward, First Precinct

How the voters cast their ballots is indicated somewhat by the count in the First Precinct of the First Ward. In all 563 votes were cast, nearly all Republican. Of this number but 52 voted the straight Republican ticket. On the balance the voters showed their preference for candidates on other tickets than the one under which they registered.

JOSEPH RUOFF DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Resident Is Found Dead In Bed Late Monday

Joseph Ruoff, aged 62 years, a well-known resident of this city, was found dead in bed at his home, 318 Northview avenue, late Monday afternoon by members of his family when they went to call him to go to work.

Mr. Ruoff's death was very unexpected, as he had been in his usual health when he had laid down earlier in the day. He worked on Sunday night, having been on the night turn at the Grasselli powder plant, where he was employed in the fuse department. He had not complained to anyone about feeling ill. His death is believed to have been the result of heart trouble.

He was born in Transfer, Mercer county, March 6, 1865, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ruoff. He had been a resident of New Castle for 23 years and was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Mary E. Ferguson Ruoff, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. George Miles of Cuyahoga Falls, O., and Miss Hazel Louella Ruoff, at home. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Louise Bartteiger, of Youngstown, and a brother, Andrew Ruoff, of Transfer, Pa.

Funeral services will take place Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 2:30 p. m. from his late residence. Rev. W. E. McClure of the First Presbyterian church will officiate.

Allegheny Takes Steps To Prevent Dishonest Vote

CAVANAUGH LEADS LIST OF WATCHERS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—With alleged irregularities in the recent primaries still fresh in mind, officials of the Allegheny County Elections Association pledged themselves to see an honest vote count here.

Leading the forces of the County Elections Association, which is affiliated with the state body, was Thomas J. Cavanaugh, known throughout Pennsylvania for his many raids and seizures as federal prohibition agent. A host of Cavanaugh's subordinates were assigned to watch the polls.

In Allegheny county the contest attracting most attention was that for county commissioner. C. C. McGovern, county controller, bolted the Republican party following his defeat for Republican nomination for county commissioner in the primaries, and with his supporters formed an "Independent" party.

McGovern is opposing James Houlahen, Democratic incumbent, for the minority party commissioner post. J. G. Armstrong and C. V. Babcock, Republican incumbents, stood for reelection.

Appointment of the former federal dry agent as chief investigator for the County Elections Association came on the eve of the election. Cavanaugh said he would co-operate with the Allegheny County Bar Association and the district attorney in prosecuting election irregularities.

dicial races, there was no dearth of competition in the municipal, borough and county elections. In the large cities, in fact, there was almost unparalleled bitterness, especially in Philadelphia and Harrisburg mayoralty fights.

Nineteen counties will elect 36 judges to serve 10-year terms on common please benches, with 86 persons seeking the offices.

In only seven instances sitting judges are not candidates for reelection: in Blair, Centre and Delaware counties the incumbents failed of renomination at the primaries, while in Luzerne county the sitting judge was not a candidate, the same being true of two judges in Philadelphia. A third incumbent in Philadelphia withdrew.

Although the 29 other judges are all candidates in a number, they are under different banners than those which they carried to victory originally. This holds true in Allegheny, Schuylkill and Lackawanna counties. In Bradford, Montgomery and Northampton counties nominees for common pleas judgeships are without opposition.

Five judges of orphans' courts are to be elected for 10-year terms in Berks, Montgomery, Fayette and Philadelphia county. With all five present judges candidates for re-election in five counties—Adams, Forest, Mifflin, Perry and Snyder—associate judges are to be elected for six-year terms.

has testified that he reported to both men.

Also waiting were Norman Glasscock member of the Fall-Sinclair jury, and William V. Young, Burns operative. An affidavit was filed in court yesterday by Long stating that on October 22, Glasscock motored to a commercial flying field and there met H. R. Lamb, assistant to the Attorney General, the two engaging in a twenty minute conversation.

This according to Burns constituted "jury tampering."

Lamb already has denied the affidavit in toto and established an alibi. Glasscock was prepared to do likewise today, he said.

"I've never been on Potomac Flying Field in my life," said the juror, "and I haven't the slightest idea who Lamb is."

Long, the Burns agent personally failed to support his affidavit charging that H. R. Lamb, assistant to the Attorney General had attempted to tamper with juror Glasscock.

The operative was brought down from New York for questioning.

Assistant District Attorney Burkinshaw took Long into his office preliminary to bringing him before the grand jury.

"I'm going to give you an opportunity to identify Lamb," Burkinshaw told him.

Long had sworn he followed Glasscock to a commercial flying field where he met the driver of a roadster, later identified as Lamb's car, and the two had engaged in a twenty minute conversation.

Lamb was brought into Burkinshaw's office alone.

"No," said Long after a careful scrutiny, "that's not him."

A dozen newspaper men were then brought in.

"Can you pick Mr. Lamb out of this group?" challenged Burkinshaw.

Harry Lilly, New York club woman, Kerwin H. Fulton, president of the General Outdoor Advertising company, and C. B. Lovell, secretary of the Chicago organization.

All arrangements are being made through Tom Mokes of Johnstown, who is secretary of the state association.

When the company met in convention last year at Reading, New Castle was selected as the next convention city, because it is in the center of a territory which has more population to the square mile, large cities excluded, than any other part of Pennsylvania. Delegates from Ohio and West Virginia will also attend the convention.

While they are here, the delegates will attempt to standardize the bill board structure that will be used in coming years. To do this, some building in New Castle will be leased for the convention, and on it will be placed the new sign. An attempt will also be made to iron out the conflict between newspaper and direct mail advertising, and to link up these different branches of general advertising so that they will harmonize.

DR. J. J. TIGERT MAKES ADDRESS

ceed in any vocation who does not have his heart in it. Natural ability and ample technical qualification will not insure success where there is inertia or indifference. Among the ancients, Moses stands out as the central figure. No other man of his time possessed greater natural talent. For the development of his talent Moses took forty years of education. He was skilled in all the arts of his time. He was a savant and post-graduate of the University of Karnak. As soldier, statesman and scholar, he stood without a peer. And yet, at the culmination of his preparation and training, he found himself facing failure. He had no purpose in life. One day, swept off his feet by uncontrolled passion, he committed an act of violence and became a fugitive from justice. On the Plains of Midian, there came to him the vision of a great task to which he might dedicate his exceptional abilities. He bared his feet at the side of the burning bush and, filled by God with ambition to go back into Egypt, he returned to the land of his birth to dedicate the rest of his life in leading his people from a land of ignominious bondage. He was literally fired by God with enthusiasm.

"Enthusiasm" means "God within us." There is little hope that the teacher who regards teaching as an ordinary task or a temporary pursuit will ever rise above mere mediocrity or, perhaps, failure. The turn-over among teachers has been too great to raise the standing of many teachers to excellence. Three-fourths of those teaching in our rural schools change positions each year. The president of one of our great universities has characterized us "a tribe of intellectual tramps." Reliable estimates have established the fact that each year approximately 16 per cent of our teachers leave the profession.

Art, science, philosophy, and literature have not opened the gates which lead into the corridors of spiritual enjoyment and intellectual appreciation. A boating party on a beautiful lake was attracted by the unusual size and color of the water flowers. Some were enraptured at the beauty of the flowers, but one member of the party said, "It is a shame that no one ever learned to cook water lilies so you can eat them."

Much strife has been engendered and no little surprise awakened in recent years with reference to the scientific theory of the origin of man. The hand of man and the hand of the anthropoid ape are so similar in their physical characteristics that scientists link them together in their physical origin and evolution. But what a vast difference between the hand which for countless ages has climbed the trees, gathered cocoanuts, and of late turned the handle of an organ under the tutelage of man, and the hand which built the pyramids, the Brooklyn bridge, and the Woolworth Building, composed the oratories of Handel and the sonatas of Beethoven, placed upon immortal canvas the sainted madonnas of Raphael and the silvery landscapes of Corot, and who wrote the tragedies and comedies of Shakespeare? Physically these hands are almost alike. They have the same number of bones and the same prehensile qualities. The difference is in the intelligent and spiritual power back of the physical manipulation of the hand. It is a difference in education.

He closed with the following quotation.

"I am Education. I bear the torch that enlightens the world, fires the imagination of man, feeds the flames of genius. I give wings to dream and might to hand and brain.

"From out the deep shadows of the past I come, wearing the scars of struggle and the stripes of toil, but bearing in triumph the wisdom of all ages. Man, because of me, holds dominion over earth, air, and sea; it is for him I leash the lightning, plumb the deep, and shackle the ether.

"I am the parent of progress, creator of culture, molder of destiny. Philosophy, science, and art are the wheels of my hand. I banish ignorance, discourage vice, disarm anarchy.

"Thus have I become freedom's citadel, the arm of democracy, the hope of youth, the pride of adolescence, the joy of ages. Fortunate the nations and happy the homes that welcome me.

"The school is my workshop; here I stir ambitions, stimulate ideals, forge the keys that open the door to opportunity. I am the source of inspiration; the aid of aspiration. I am irrestible power."

Dr. C. C. Green introduced Dr. Tigert and said that in selecting a speaker to open Educational Week here the school system wanted nothing but the best and that the best had been secured.

Prior to Dr. Green's introduction Mrs. Rose M. Nothdurft vice president of the New Castle School Board made a plea for the school carnival which will be held on Thursday, November 10, the proceeds of which will go to the Library Fund.

havoc and destruction. Let's not count the dollars, but the good their expenditure will do."

Seek Speedy Aaction

Harrison told the committee he hoped flood control legislation would be the first tackled in the new congress "and shoved right along to the President's desk." He, too, stressed the point that the burden of cost must be borne by the Federal government.

"It is absolutely impossible," he said, "for the stricken people in these flooded areas to bear 25 or even 15 per cent of the cost. Their cotton and grain lands are now seas of mud. It's going to require all their resources and more to rehabilitate themselves. I cannot conceive of congress doing otherwise than dealing with this situation in a big non-partisan way. Personal views should be forgotten for the common good of all."

Judge A. G. Little of Arkansas, reviewed for the committee the flood-ridden history of the lower Mississippi Valley, and told of the millions the various states have spent in trying to control the Mississippi and her tributaries.

"They can't do it," he said. "The job is too big. It must be done by the Federal government."

Congress Elections

There are four special elections to fill vacancies in Congress, and two of them involve the prohibition issue.

In the first district of Colorado the issue is clearly drawn between Francis J. Knauss, Republican and dry, and S. Francis White, Democrat and wet.

In the second district of Ohio there is a three-cornered contest involving various degrees of dampness. Harry Schafer, independent Republican, is classed as the wettest of the trio, which includes Charles Tatgenhorst, regular Republican, and John C. Dempsey, a Democrat.

Detroit Contest

Still another wet-dry contest is offered by Detroit's mayoralty election, in which Mayor John W. Smith, the incumbent, is running on a platform so wet that it literally drips. He has made no bones about the fact that liquor is sold in Detroit, and that it will continue to be so if he is re-elected. His opponent, John C. Lodge, has conducted a campaign of silence.

These contests involving prohibition will hold the center of interest for national party leaders. They are expected to provide, in a small way, the answer to the disputed question between wets and drys as to whether prohibition sentiment is waning or gaining in these United States.

In Pennsylvania

The other congressional elections are in the 35th New York district and in the first district of Pennsylvania. For the latter place, John M. Beck, former solicitor general, seems to have a walkaway. He has the support of the Vare machine in Philadelphia. His election will bring to the House one of the nation's foremost constitutional lawyers.

The only two governor contests are in Mississippi, where the voters merely ratify the victory won by Governor Theodore Bilbo in the recent Democratic primary, and the other, a slambang contest in Kentucky between J. C. W. Beckham, Democrat, and Flem D. Simpson, Republican. The continuance of pari-mutuel betting in Kentucky horse-racing hinges upon the outcome there, Beckman being anti-racing. A number of states will pass on constitutional amendments and legislative enactments, and three states, Kentucky, Virginia and New Jersey, select new legislatures.

The most important of the constitutional amendments is in New York, where the Republicans are endeavoring to have the governors elected for four years instead of two, and have the gubernatorial election synchronize with presidential election.

New York is normally a Republican state nationally, and the Republicans there feel that the change in the state constitution would help them in state campaigns. The Democrats are bitterly opposing it.

All else in today's elections is purely local. The contests scarcely afford a curtain-raiser for the big show that is now getting under way for a year's run into next election day.

REHABILITATION WORK IS FACED IN NEW ENGLAND

home state of President Coolidge, Vermont, was admitted on every hand to be in dire distress.

The hand of starvation was gripping the city of Newport, Vt., on the shores of Lake Memphremagog, according to a party of couriers. Even drinking water was on a ration basis. Relief must reach Newport soon or be too late.

Of the 130 known New England flood dead, 114 were in the state of Vermont. Motor trucks were battling the heavy mud cast up by the flood and airplanes were zooming overhead today. But this was only temporary relief for Vermont's thousands of homeless.

Those who traversed the Green Mountain state were of opinion that it will take months to restore railroad transportation. Not only are the railroads at a standstill, but the highways are a tangled, muddy mass of ruins and craters, a condition which will take months to repair. Snow has already fallen, aiding the work of rehabilitation, but causing great suffering among refugees. Warm clothing was said to be the greatest need.

The menace of fire was still abroad. Ludlow and Springfield, Vt., have fought it off.

Stores in Montpelier, Barre and several other Vermont cities were reported sold out of all stock with the merchants idle. No drug stores were open in the capital city, Montpelier.

With grim determination the people of Vermont—like the great mountain boys and minute men—were facing the situation bravely—struggling valiantly beneath a heavy load. To many it appeared that the load was too heavy to bear.

"We hope to be able to take care of the situation ourselves," was the statement of Governor John Weeks. But business men of Vermont did not appear to share his optimism. They were said to be of the opinion that there was not enough money in the state to provide for restoration and that man power was also needed.

Estimates of Vermont's property damage by the flood fluctuated between $25,000,000 and $50,000,000. Boston banks have sent $500,000 in currency into the stricken state. But it appeared today that Vermont must receive outside help. Unemployment throughout Vermont was widespread, a serious economic phase of the situation.

In other states reconstruction and relief were well organized and the situation was well in hand. Communication with the outside world had been re-established with hitherto isolated communities. Food and supplies were going forward along with medicines and doctors to battle dreaded typhoid and pneumonia.

automobile also started forward. He was unable to get out of the way and was shoved by his machine for the intervening space of fifty feet into the city truck, being caught between the two machines. There was a small Bell Telephone company hand truck in front of the city truck.

When Attorney White was extricated it was found that he was rather badly bruised and hurt and he was taken to the office of Dr. E. U. Snyder by Officer Nelson. From that place he was removed to the office of Dr. Jesse Cooper, where X-Ray pictures were taken, after which he was removed to his home.

When he was hurled and crushed between the two machines, he lost his watch and glasses. These were recovered later by the police department and turned over to Mr. White.

New York City adds about 450 to its population every day of the year.

Her parents, Colonel Henry H. Rogers, and Mrs. Rogers, apparently favored her wedding Ramos. An unconfirmed report was current today that the wedding gift of Colonel Rogers to his daughter was a check for $500,000. Most of those in a position to know would not discuss the rumor, but one member of the Rogers household said the report was not true.

Dr. Rosenthal Says Army Experience Most Valuable

Got A Wealth Of Experience Not Available Any Place Else In The World.

Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, Doctor of Optics, who is now located on the third floor of the Greer Building at 22 N. Mercer street, was among the first of America's young men to answer the "call to arms" in 1917, having enlisted the next day after war was declared. Dr. Rosenthal was at that time a practicing Optometrist at Brownsville, Penna., with a substantial clientelle—all of which he "threw over" to enlist.

It was decided that Dr. Rosenthal could best serve his country in the medical corps, keeping his "buddies" fit to fight, so he was sent to Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, and assigned to the staff of the School of Opthalmology at General Hospital 14, because of his special training and expert knowledge of optics.

At General Hospital No. 14, Dr. Rosenthal was associated with the greatest eye and eyesight specialists the country boasted, headed by Dr. Schweinitz and Dr. Meyer Weiner, with whom Dr. Rosenthal was associated for 24 months, during which time every imaginable optical case came to his attention. "I handled cases of every description and gained a wealth of clinical knowledge that would not be available any place in the world," says Dr. Rosenthal. Dr. Rosenthal never fails to attend some clinic from two to six weeks each year to keep abreast with modern methods in all branches of Optometry.

"Davis Shoes are as good or better than any other shoes sold in New Castle."
Here's hoping you win the bike.

POLITICAL GUESSERS

THERE is no mathematician like the political oracle and forecaster. On demand, or even without it, he will draw out his pencil and show precisely how many votes each candidate will receive and how the various districts are lined up. A year before a national convention he figures out on the back of an envelope how many delegates each candidate will have, and how the percentages of the whole number will vary on successive ballots in the convention.

Before President Coolidge's immortal words had sunk in, these lightning calculators had it all figured out how many delegates Lowden had in sight, the size of the Hoover camp, the numerical proportions of the Hughes following and the size of the delegates bodies supporting the other possible candidates. The problem is solved with the utmost exactitude, and it is apparent that the prophets would not give up a single one of the votes they assign to each man who may or may not be in the running.

Strangely enough, they never figure out a majority sufficient to nominate any one man, taking pains to point out that they are giving only a sober and cautious estimate which is likely to be far exceeded by next spring. Anyhow, they insist that the delegates whom they enumerate are already "in sight." But dreamers and intoxicated persons often "see things" which people who are awake and in full possession of their senses cannot perceive.

The fact is no one knows how the delegates will line up at either of the national conventions next spring. The decision of Mr. Coolidge not to seek reelection left the Republican nomination up in the air and the several issues dividing the Democratic party makes it equally uncertain as to who will win its presidential nomination.

RIVALRY BETWEEN CITIES

CLAIMS by Baltimore to having the cleanest streets of any city in the United States are disputed by Tulsa, Oklahoma, which does not stop there but goes so far as to boast of being the cleanest city in all respects.

It is a healthy sign when communities fall out over which is superior to the other in some department of community life. It is the first manifestation of civic self-consciousness, without which no community can expect to improve itself.

There should be more competition between cities and towns. Such competition always proves mutually beneficial. It supplies the "common cause" which mobilizes the entire community back of every community project. That is because it appeals to the patriotism, pride and sportsmanship of the whole citizenry.

Every state can furnish one or more instances where friendly rivalry between cities or towns has stimulated the growth and betterment of both rivals. Off hand one can cite Toledo and Columbus in Ohio, St. Paul and Minneapolis, Atlanta and Birmingham, Baltimore and Buffalo which are near-twins in population, and countless others. Set up two towns on opposite sides of a river and you start an eternal feud for leadership that manifests itself all the way down to the border battles of the younger generation.

The ease with which communities can be embroiled in competitive progressiveness suggests that much good might come from a contest among cities and towns for selection on a given date of communities excelling in various civic virtues. The largest population, best streets, best park system, cleanest city, least smoke, least traffic congestion, fewest traffic accidents and most efficient municipal government are but a few of the goals to be worked for in such a contest.

HUMAN CAPACITY TESTS

DESPITE the criticism which has been made of the efficacy of intelligence tests, the war department is satisfied they have their place in sifting out the recruits applying for enlistment in the army. The tests have been adopted after long study by a board convened for that purpose and a try-out in one recuiting district in each of the corps areas.

One of the tests is an abbreviation of the revised Binet-Simon scale used during the World War. The changes are still being rung on the validity and meaning of the conclusions as to the general level of American intelligence. That test alone is probably inadequate for a general sizing up of intellectual calibre. But it may have its place, subject to future necessary allowances as part of such an estimation. The war department practice will be to supplement this test by another, called the minimum mental examination. The recruiting officer gives a literacy test, a reading vocabulary test, a vocal vocabulary test and, for non-English speaking applicants, a performance test. All these together ought to prove more valuable than the isolated intelligence test. The try-out of the new system ought to be of value not only to psychologists, but to those in the business and the educational fields who are seeking a really fair and reliable means to estimate the human material with which they have to deal.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:49. Sun rises tomorrow 6:40.

A keen observer of traffic violations tells us confidentially that the main thoroughfare stop signs in New Castle do not seem to be wearing out very many brakes.

We heard a chap say after he got a bid to a banquet where it read "10 a plate" that he could go over to James M. Smith's pottery and get a far better plate for two or three dollars at the most.

We raised three or four stalks of tobacco in our garden this summer and we gave it to a chap who said he cured it. We do not want him to smoke it around where we are during this winter, but he can smoke it in our garden next summer so it will kill all the noxious bugs there. It is fierce stuff and the burning of an old boot would smell like ice cream compared to it.

Last week we got bills for about six or seven that we had already paid some days previous. Just because times are a bit hard is no good reason for trying to collect accounts several times. A lot of people are making a lot of mistakes and the only thing that saves us is the returned check or the receipt. It is often hard to convince a lot of people that you have paid if you have nothing to show for it.

The modern idea in fashion, so far as we have been able to observe seems to show everything but the brains.

Oil City is to have an airport and it is to be donated to the city by a prominent citizen. It is indeed a prominent citizen who will do a handsome thing like that and that kind of prominent citizens are also scarce. There are citizens who think they are very prominent, but they never feel it strong enough to give very much coin while they feel that way.

Some birds seem to be awful busy, even if it is nothing more than changing things from one pocket to another.

Ruth Elder says her husband is "a darling boy". He is waiting on the shore for her to come back to America after flying with another man. He sure is a darling sucker.

It is nice to be familiar with the classics, history and things scientific, we are told, but that kind of knowledge isn't very valuable in carrying on a conversation with a modern flapper.

A statue of Frederick the Great, which was removed from a prominent spot in Washington during the world war to keep it from being demolished, and placed away in a cellar, is to be brushed off and placed in its old position again. The war is really all over but the paying of the bills and taxes for it.

When a man thinks he knows more than he does he is pretty sure to talk more than he ought to.

One of the great advantages of not living near a tropical seacoast is that one does not have to look at beautiful bathing girls all the year around. It is said that the strain on the eyesight is terrible with men in such places. And we believe it.

A Chicago judge declared that the drinker and not the seller of booze should be put into jail. Where would we get all the jails? We hardly have jails enough now for the sellers and the drinkers outnumber the sellers five to one at least. The sellers are seldom drinkers, because they know at least that.

In Mexico they have an effective system of getting rid of objectionable political characters. They just keep on executing them until what is left finally shut up and keep quiet. You cannot beat that system!

There have been many cases where dead bodies have been found and identification has been impossible until some dentist came along and identified some of his work in the face of the victim. This leads us to believe that most dentists at least know their teeth.

Some of us are getting an awful wallop at the polls today. And we will pay for it in cash before four years are gone by.

America has few impressive chimes but that little bell on the cash register suits the national taste better anyway.

Astonishing, isn't it, how old habits cling? For instance, a woman will pull up her skirt when she sees a mouse.

What a tragedy we can imagine when we read the words, "The victim left a wife and children in the old country."

You may have noticed that when candidates start out to defeat the regular Republican nominees they designate themselves as "Democrat" or "Independent", but just run on false pretense. Are they ashamed of being what they would try to make the people think they are not?

You have seen many of the alleged politicians who tell you how to vote and who evidently think they know all about running the government. However, did you ever stop to think what kind of a government we would have if those birds were to run it? Heinz preserve us! Also murder!

SO SHE STOPPED CRYING

A young woman, suing a man for $50,000 for breach of promise, began to weep softly in the court room in Chicago the other day. But the cry didn't last long.

"I'm not going to have a crying spell going on in my court room," announced the judge. "You're crying your way into a verdict and I'll set it aside as soon as you get it."

The plaintiff promptly dried her tears and justice proceeded to proceed.

A dear old Quaker lady was asked what she used to make her complexion so lovely, and her whole being so bright and attractive, and she answered: "I use for the lips, truth; for the voice, prayer; for the eyes, pity; for the hands, charity; for the figure, uprightness, and for the heart, love."

THE PRINTED WORD

Printing was discovered in 1441. Previously the words of the human race were rudely recorded. Printing, as it improved, gave progress to thought. It has preserved and broadened ideas in all subsequent centuries. It releases to posterity the riches and research of the human mind. When people read they think; when they reason, they are on the road to righteousness.

If a newspaper picks and chooses its news for what is uplifting, or the opposite, it is not toting square with its readers and its readers will eventually desert it. A newspaper is a reflection of the happenings of the day. When it deflects the news it is not holding the mirror at a dependable angle.

Fable: Once there was a girl who posed for a kodak picture and didn't show all her teeth.

The Pittsburgh Sunday papers were full of advertising for advance Christmas buying, urging epople to make a payment and lay away. A trip to Youngstown a few days ago revealed that all the big stores have Christmas goods displayed there and are actively pushing its sale. Our own stores can take a lesson from this. Christmas goods ought to be displayed and on sale now. The idea of centering it all on the last two weeks and making an intensive drive is wrong. The cream of the business is gone long before that time. Within a few weeks the Christmas Savings club money will be disbursed and there will be lots of it this year. Have your friends and patrons make their purchases now on the layaway plan. To take the business away from outside stores competition must be met in the matter of price and convenience of buying.

The slight fall of snow and the extreme cold weather of Sunday brings to all of us the realization that the season is near when we can expect such weather. And it brings a real Thanksgiving and Christmas atmosphere. And it made a hole in the coal pile.

While the principal duty of the newspaper is to publish the news readers should not forget that papers do a great many acts that are beneficial as public service in digging up news and publishing it. It was a Washington, D. C. newspaper man, a reported, who ferreted out the alleged jury tampering in the Fall-Sinclair trial and brought it to an expose. It is those things that make a paper good.

Ruth Elder is on the way home and chief among those waiting for her is her loving husband and she is tickled pink to know that she will soon see him. Now we would like to know if Mrs. Haldeman is to be on the dock to meet her famous husband and to break up the combination that has met with so much acclaim the past several weeks.

The French dancing masters have taken a new step in the direction of ball room culture. It is called the "Dirty Dig." We have had the Black Bottom and now this Dirty Dig. Perhaps the next will be the "Wine Bath" with apologies to Earl Carroll.

A noted physician predicts that in the near future a man of 70 will be considered young. It would be fine if this condition coud be brought about before the next presidential nominating conventions. It would be a sweet relief to several gentlemen we know of.

An Englishman expressed his amazement at our lack of interest in the oil trials now going on in Washington. He isn't expected to know that nearly everyone is excitedly watching the race between Mayor Thompson of Chicago and the New Ford car.

A Rich Man's Trial.
Mexico's Quick Action.
A Clown's Death.
Plagues, Famine Needed?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

A private detective, engaged to shadow jurors in the Fall-Sinclair oil case and ascertain the financial condition of "jurors," has been found. When government detectives got him he had enlisted in the Marines, and would soon have been on his way to Haiti.

One juror in this case, involving a rich man and a former cabinet officer accused of bribery, said, according to government testimony, that he expected, when the case was over, to have an automobile "as long as a city block."

Our prosperous men, especially the very rich, are supposed to set a good example. At least they are interested in maintaining respect for law which protects them, first of all.

What impression is made on the average mind when a detective agency "trails" members of the Fall-Sinclair oil jury, plainly seeking some juror that might be bought?

Suppose a detective agency went about examining rich men's houses to find how burglars might most easily break in. Would that be tolerated? Evidently an attack on the jury system in the interest of high finance is different from a burglar's attack on the back door of prosperity.

Mr. Dwight Morrow, recently of J. P. Morgan & Co., is learning about other political methods in Mexico. Three days ago he was eating ham and eggs on President Calles' ranch. Today he reads that Calles' men caught Gen. Gomez, a rebel against Calles. Gomez was caught, fleeing through a Mexican canyon. Five minutes later he was dead.

President Calles does not mince matters, and those that oppose him, if wise conduct their opposition across the Mexican border, not on Calles' side.

Marceline, famous clown, rose to the top of his profession. Millions laughed at him, children especially, as he went about, with bright pink nose, baggy clothes, always serious.

He lies on a slab in the New York morgue today. Nobody claimed his body, after he shot himself to death, alone, poor, in a miserable furnished room. Photographs showing him in the day of his glory were spread before him on the bed, as he kneeled to blow his brains out.

"Laugh, and the world laughs with you. Weep, and you weep alone," Ella Wheeler Wilcox wrote her well known poem the morning after her first party, when she was seventeen.

In the train, going to the party, she saw a woman weeping. Her dead husband was in the baggage car. Mrs. Wilcox said: "I thought I could never smile again, after crying with that poor woman. But I went to the party and danced all night. I wrote the poem when I woke up in the morning; ashamed to think how easily I had forgotten."

Poor Marceline, now on his cold slab, learned also that the world forgets easily.

The Rev. W. A. C. Kennedy, British, says, "Britain stopping famines and plagues in India has sent the population from 100 to 300 millions. Now Hindus want to get into Africa, where there is more room."

European races in South Africa are attending to that.

Absence of plagues and famines in Asia has increased population there also. And they are anxious to get into the United States. That also will be attended to.

Lord Esher says there were only 850,000,000 people on earth in 1800. Today there are about 1,600,000,000. The increase, a little more than one per cent a year, will make the population of the earth in 3020 more than 12,457,000,000.

That need not worry you. Henry George reminds you that if a puppy dog's tail kept on growing as it grows when he is a puppy each old dog would have a tail thirty feet long. No dog has such a tail.

To begin with Texas could feed the 1,800,000,000 people now on earth, under intensive cultivation. In the second place, flying machines will enable people to live with plenty of room for ten billion humans, on hilltops and mountains with no inhabitants today.

And in the third place, when people become highly civilized they will have fewer children. Providence leaves nothing important to chance.

Greece, disturbed by assorted Bolshevism, Communism, Radicalism, and heaven knows what, requests our government to tell the Greek government how we "control the Reds."

Ours is a simple method, named PROSPERITY.

Give men work with good wages and they are content. That is their nature. Give them insufficient work or underpaid work, and you will have the demonstration called "red."

If prosperity were destroyed the red color would spread here as quickly as anywhere else.

Twenty thousand individuals in Britain, including women, are growing orchids and find it profitable. The Dutch tulip craze has not been duplicated or any insane price offered for a "black orchid." But a single orchid sells for as much as $5,000. One collection sold for $53,000.

Orchid raising is intricate, interesting work, with its cultivation of strange hybrids and trading in seedings and orchid spikes.

Young women that would like a beautiful occupation producing something that can be put in the savings bank might write to our Agricultural Department at Washington for advice.

Count Czernin, who was Austrian minister for Foreign Affairs in the war, thinks England, France and Germany will unite in the near future to wipe out Russian Bolshevism. That would be a considerable job. Russia, occupying one-sixth the surface of the globe, might be temporarily conquered, but wouldn't stay conquered. Besides, the young gentlemen of England, France and Germany are not anxious to go out and be shot all over again.

The latest plan "to help the farmer" is a farmers' union that would ascertain the cost of products and fix prices that the people must pay. You can do this for railroads, but can you do it for farmers? Suppose one year you raise more potatoes than the people will eat, and next year potatoes are scarce. How will you regulate prices then?

I'll bet if Frank Lowden lived in Mexico he'd run so fast from th' presidency that his vest pockets would dip sand. It's purty hard t' read a newspaper in a buss or street car full o' yellow knees.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE MOST INTERESTING THING IN THE WORLD

You may not believe it, but the stubborn fact is that the most interesting thing in the world is a fight of some kind.

The enormous crowds recently gathered in Chicago to witness the fight between Tunney and Dempsey and the enormous amount of money involved in that event, millions of dollars, shows that the most primitive form of personal contest still is at the front of all interesting things.

What the contest is about makes no difference. Nothing is to be settled. Nobody cares one way or another over the issues. They just want to see the fight.

Neither Tunney nor Dempsey is anybody in particular except rather prepossessing young men and men in the pink of physical perfection. They have no dispute to settle and no issue is involved.

Somehow the old question as to who is the best man is a perennial one. The school boy illustrates it when he walks up to another fellow and says: "I can lick you."

His licking is about nothing and settles nothing. But the licking business remains interesting.

The main thing for humanity to do is to transfer its desire for contest from a fight between men to a fight over the enemies of mankind.

Recently Von Hindenburg denied the fact that Germany was responsible for the war, although most of the allied people think she was. Mr. Briand stated, very properly, that the question had better be let alone.

Probably the thing responsible for the war is that everybody had a lot of gun powder stored up and a lot of men ready to fight and they wanted to see a scrap for their money.

Fundamentally the thing that brought on the great war was the same thing that brought on the Tunney-Dempsey fight.

Perhaps in time some other thing than the question who is the best man will come to the front, but so far in the world's history that remains the most interesting question.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

FROM THE DEPTHS.

Species of sea worms classified as "amazing creatures" some of which are said to be 100 feet long, have been captured in the Pacific Ocean near San Diego by Professor W. R. Coe, Yale University, as guest research worker at the University of California, Scripps Institution of Oceanography at La Jolla.

These remarkable sea denizens, known by the scientific name "nemerteans" have been examined by few biologists of the world. Dr. Coe is believed to be the only living scientist knowing much about them.

To a Zoologist the worms are especially notable for their length, some of the more common species extending a yard, their bodies being only a fraction of an inch in width. Certain of the "nemertean" species are reported to be longer than any known animal, 100 or more feet. Even the whale has not been found to reach quite that length, says Dr. Coe.

"'Nemerteans' are predatory animals," the authority asserts. "They live on other kinds of worms to a considerable extent. For killing and capturing prey they have an astonishing proboscis which is withdrawn through the head into a sheath in the body when not in use. From this sheath it is thrust out to strike the prey. In some species this weapon is longer than the body itself.

Most "nemerteans" live in the sea and most of those in the sea live upon the bottom in mud, rock crevices, spaces between shells and among sea weed. Some, however, live free, swimming at considerable depth in the ocean. There are about 600 species known of which nearly 400 exist along the California coast.

About seventy five of these California species were first revealed to science by Dr. Coe.

REVERSING THE TABLES

I stayed at home to work today
While Nellie went down town.
A woman poor came to the door,
Dressed in a tattered gown.
Her stockings were a shame to see.
Her skirt was frayed about the knee.
Her sorry plight appealed to me.

My heart was touched. Said I to her:
"Come in and sit you down,
Rest here awhile and maybe I'll
Get you another gown."
And so I hurried up the stairs
And searched her stock of teddy bears
For things I know she never wears.

I found that dame a hat or two
And several pairs of shoes,
A compact small, a cape and shawl
And things she'll never use.
I rigged her out from head to feet
In raiment warm and good and neat,
And sent her smiling down the street.

But when my Nellie homeward came
She liked it not at all.
I heard her cry: "Oh where are my
Good cape and party shawl?"
I gave those things away, said I.
A poor old woman happened by.
It was a foolish trick to try.

Bible Thought For Today

JUDGMENTS THAT COMFORT:—I remembered thy judgments of old, O Lord; and have comforted myself. Psalm 119:52.

POPULARIZING KNOWLEDGE

Thomas H. Hoyer of La Grange, Ill., writes that he was interested in a recent discussion in this column about the popularizing of knowledge. The discussion arose out of the prize offer made by a New York magazine and a New York book publisher for the best book having a tendency to make knowledge the property of the average reader.

Mr. Hoyer says: "You mentioned Van Loon's 'Story of Mankind' as an example of this kind of literature. What books had you in mind in addition to this one? I would appreciate a list of such books, and I believe many of your readers would also appreciate it."

It strikes me that there must be a demand for a short list of books that one might read this winter with good results for one's store of general knowledge. Books that are easy to read and cover a goodly range of knowledge. Books that one who is not a college graduate might read for the purpose of obtaining much of the knowledge that one is supposed to get in college.

All right, I'll try it. This will be a short list, such as a fairly busy person might get through between now and the next hot weather, by reading in spare time, in the evenings that are not otherwise occupied, and on holidays that are not too full.

I'd put the "Story of Mankind" at the top of the list, I believe, as a book covering history in a very easy manner, and interestingly.

Next, I'd try "The Story of Philosophy", by Will Durant. Especially for the man who has never had philosophy in school, this is a book worth careful reading.

Skipping back to history, I'd try Wells' "Outline of History". I wouldn't swallow it whole. I'd keep always in mind that this man Wells has strong prejudices that he cannot keep out of his most judicious writing. But the book is one that can be very useful.

Third on the list, "This Believing World", by Lewis Browne. It will give you a rapid review of the history of religions, which ought to help in getting a look at the world of thought.

That's a heavy list already. I would recommend interlarding this steady reading with a judicious selection of the "Today and Tomorrow Series", a line of very informative little books published by Dutton. In this list are books that are brief and easy to read, covering a vast range of subjects that are of interest to the knowledge-seekers of today.

That's a fair program of winter reading, all in all.

Consider Plans For Thanksgiving Services For Churches Of City

Tentative plans are being arranged for the annual Thanksgiving services of the churches of this city which will be observed during the Thanksgiving season either on Thanksgiving Day or the evening previous.

Arrangements are underway either to have a union meeting of all the congregations of New Castle in the Cathedral or to have services in churches in the various sections of the city.

It is quite probable that the East Side, South Side, Seventh Ward and downtown churches will have their own individual services.

Plans considered thus far by a number of the churches for a separate service are the services of the East Side churches, Epworth M. E. Second United Presbyterian and Third United Presbyterian. The meeting will be held in the new Third United Presbyterian church, East Washington and Adams street on Thanksgiving Day at 10 a. m. Dr. A. J. Randles of the Second U. P. church will deliver the message.

The South Side congregations will convene in Central Christian church, Long and Pennsylvania avenues Wednesday evening, November 23, at 7:30. Rev. Emrys Thomas, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church will preach. Music will be furnished by a mixed choir. On Thursday morning at 10:30 there will be a second Thanksgiving service in the Primitive Methodist church. Rev. J. L. Petrie of the Grace M. E. church will be the preacher.

Further arrangements for the services held throughout the city on this annual occasion will be announced within the next few days.

Burns Declares Juror Shadowing Always In Vogue

Alleges That All Important Criminal Juries Have Been Shadowed

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Shadowing jurors in important criminal cases has always been customary, William J. Burns, head of the detective agency that bears his name, said today in a statement defending the activities of 16 of his agents who trailed members of the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy jury.

"I know of my own knowledge," Burns said, "that for 35 years the government has employed operatives to watch jurors in important criminal cases in practically every state in the Union, and the defendant has been accorded the same right. The universal exercise of such rights has never been challenged."

Verdict Awarded To Plaintiff In Sum Of $5,985

In the case of Antonio Fiello against the Public Service Commission which has been on trial before Judge Chambers in the Lawrence county court, the jury this morning returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $5,985. This was one of the cases growing out of the erection of the Gardner avenue viaduct. Fiello owned properties, or 80 feet frontage on which there was a house and a cement block building which were left considerably below the street, when the western approach to the viaduct was built.

The viewers awarded $4,000 damages but the defense was not satisfied and took an appeal with the result that the award was increased $1,985 after a trial which lasted for several days.

The jury went out yeterday afternoon, agreed about 11 o'clock last night and returned a verdict when court convened this morning.

Business Change In Seventh Ward

Elder And Martin Store Is Purchased By G. O. Schiedemantle

With the closing on next Monday, Nov. 14, of the Elder & Martin store, at the corner of North Liberty and Wabash avenue, one of the oldest business of the seventh ward will pass out of existence. G. O. Scheidemantle having purchased the stock and merchandise of this merchandising establishment.

The corner store building in which this merchandising establishment has been conducted for approximately 40 years or more, although under different names and by different owners, is one of the landmarks of the community.

SATURATION.

One of the ablest manufacturers in this country gives a sensible definition of the "saturation point." We are always hearing about the saturation point for motor cars and for other products. In reality is there any such thing? Of course there is, theoretically, but not practically. The saturation point for any given article will be reached when "everybody has one and none ever wears out."

NOT GLOOMY.

A Chicago orator paints a gloomy picture of the world. He asks for the "re-establishment" of justice and fair dealing. And a Chicago newspaper man sets out to answer him. Says the defender of today's times and today's life

"Compare the Roman empire with its complete domination by wealth and family. Compare the England of Charles II with its utter cynicism and moral degradation. Compare the United States of Grant's administration with the United States of today. Would anybody trade the farmers of America today for the peasantry of Europe a hundred years ago?"

STUDY YESTERDAY.

Before we begin to paint pictures of the world today in comparison with the world of yesterday be sure that you have your history on straight. Be sure that you have learned something about the world of yesterday. There may indeed be evidence of a coming decline in civilization. This writer is inclined to think there are. But so far—in the present years—the state of mankind in the most enlightened countries is far happier than it was three or four or five hundred years ago.

GIVE IT TIME.

A good many people who find that the enforcement of the prohibition law is not the simple easy matter that they expected it to be, are now discouraged. They want to give up the experiment. They want to turn back to the free and easy production and consumption of alcoholic drinks. Those who thought the enforcement of prohibition would be an easy matter simply indicated their ignorance of the human nature of the average citizen. Pulling habit and custom out by the roots is a difficult and a serious matter. It can be done and in time will be done in this country but it will taek a great deal of time. Much progress has been made. The consumption of liquor has been enormously reduced. The effect on the health and temper of the people and upon a growing generation will be such that the effort will have been worth while. But it is folly to believe that we can proceed other than slowly.

Texas has more than fifty counties each of which has a greater number of square miles than the State of Rhode Island.

"Peter's Adventures in Animal Land"

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

ON THE BACK OF A BUCKING BAT.

No sooner had Peter taken his seat upon her soft, fat, furry back than Mrs. Flittermouse took to her wings, and so suddenly that the boy very nearly lost his balance.

Whish! Off to the right. Swish! To the left! Flip, flap! Up into the air! Flop! Down toward earth again.

Twitch! A stop half way between tree tops and the ground, and now, but for a moment only, right straight ahead!

"I've heard about a bucking bronco, but I'll bet a cookie he is no harder to ride than a flying Bat. It's lucky for me that her wings are so wide or I'de never keep my seat," muttered Peter, as Mrs. Flittermouse jerked her way through the moonlit sky. "Good gracious, how ever does Mrs. Flittermouse know where she is going? I can't notice that the lady keeps to any course like my bird steeds did! I should think by this time, with all her twists and turns and stops, she would have forgotten where she started for. Hey! Look out! Tree ahead!"

Peter cried out in alarm and braced himself for a crash against the tree's trunk. But nothing happened. So Peter straightened up and heaved a sigh of relief, as Mrs. Flittermouse skimmed by a white birch without so much as touching it with the tip of her wing, although between it and the bark one could scarcely have squeezed a feather.

"Don't see how you managed that, little lady!" cried the boy. "Good work, but I thought you were going to dash out your brains against that tree! Oooooch!"

In spite of the first escape Peter couldn't see how Mrs. Flittermouse could possibly avoid being caught in the prickly branch of a wild pear tree just ahead. He closed his eyes. Poor Mrs. Flittermouse! If nothing worse happened she was going to have a great gap torn in her left wing. He waited for a cry of pain. None came. Mrs. Flittermouse never even uttered a squeak. Peter opened his eyes. The prickly pear tree was behind them. His clever aeroplane had taken a spiral dip, and just in time,

Drag River For Body Of Woman, Suicide Victim

(International News Service)

PITTSTON, Pa., Nov. 8.—Police today dragged the Susquehanna river for the body of a woman, believed to be Mrs. Clara Stuart, wife of R. J. Stuart, prominent Carbondale attorney near here, who leaped into the river from a bridge at Pittston last night. The entire affair is shrouded in mystery.

Three men walking on the bridge last evening saw a woman climb over the railing and jump into the water. Rushing to the spot, they found a purse which contained three blank checks bearing the signature of Mr. Stuart. They also found a letter addressed to Miss Helen Stuart, Carbondale, who was a daughter of the missing woman.

Mrs. Stuart and her husband were automobile riding yesterday and later she stopped at Pittston to go to Montclair, New Jersey, by train. Her husband continued on his way home. That was the last seen of Mrs. Stuart until the report of her drowning.

Mrs. Stuart was Miss Clara S. Smith, daughter of the Rev. Y. C. Smith, Methodist Episcopal clergyman who for years was at the Wyoming Seminary.

"Motorists who do not put some sort of anti-freeze solution in the radiators of their cars now run a very great danger of having frozen radiators," was the statement made this morning by Bernard N. Hanlon, secretary of the New Castle Motor club.

"Just Monday morning," Mr. Hanlon went on, "as I was coming down to the office, I saw a car with its radiator steaming. Home-made, but Ends Coughs In a Hurry

A family supply of dependable cough medicine. Easily made and saves about $2

If you have a severe cough or chest cold, with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up at night with a hoarse cough, and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified honey, if desired. This makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes of the throat and bronchial tubes with an ease and promptness that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

San Francisco Voters To Elect New Mayor Today

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Voters will go to the polls here today to select a mayor, with a choice of three candidates—James Rolph, Jr., incumbent, James E. Power, former postmaster, and Adolph Uhl, business man. The mayoralty contest is expected to develop into a close race between the former two, with Uhl, according to political forecasters, running a poor third.

Success doesn't come without labor It takes some work just to build up your sucker list.

Election Boards Must Post Returns

Election boards serving at the city and county precincts today are required to post a complete return of the vote cast at the election in their precincts outside the polling places, when the vote count is complete. In some instances at recent elections this has not been done.

State Health Department Head Gives Suggestions

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—"Dame shion is becoming more sensible ery year. One has but to glance the mode of dress of a few decades o to appreciate thoroughly this tement," said Dr. Theodore B. Ap- secretary of health, today.

"The two objectives of fashion are uty and comfort, with equal em- asis upon both. That they have en attained is plain to everyone. wever, be that as it may, a note of rning is still needed on some de- ls of dress, one of the most import- t of which at this season is with erence to fur coats.

"This article of apparel is not only autiful to gaze upon and comfort- le to wear but demands the appli- tion of judgment if it is not to ck-fire upon it's successor in the m of illness.

"In this latitude, unlike that of re northern countries, fur coats ust be 'handled with care' or they ll carelessly handle you. There are course many days during Pennsyl- nia's winter months when this gar- nt is of value. The main thing to member is that there are also num- ous days from November to April en a fur coat positively should not worn. This is frequently forgotten, d sometimes with dire results.

"Colds, sore throats and even the adly pneumonia are all on good eaking terms with fur coats when e temperature is high. While no finite statistics are available, it can stated with a reasonable amount certainty that an appreciable amount of illness which will be contracted this winter, especially among the feminine branch of the population, will be caused by the injudicious use of the fur coat. Isn't this rather too high a price even for style?

"It follows then, that no matter how attractive a fur coat may be, or how attractive one may appear when wearing it, vanity has no right to overcome judgment when the thermometer plainly indicates that a coat of lighter weight is required.

"Follow Fashion, for she never was more sensible and attractive than now, but do not follow her blindly. Fashion and common sense make the ideal team—a combination that not only lends itself to beauty but to good health also.

"Therefore, if you have a fur coat, use it. But let the mercury in your outside thermometer dictate the days when it should and should not be worn. Health is in this advice; illness may follow its rejection.

One may become ill this winter in spite of precautions. But get out of the fur-coat-victim class by getting into the coat only when the day is cold."

"Electric Power!—
A Consumer-Owned Industry"

President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company

"There can be no doubt that light and power distribution is a most important element in our life, in the community, in the neighborhood, in the household. The ownership of the electric light and power companies is now in the hands of more than 2,000,000 direct investors in public utility stocks, and indirectly, in the hands of millions more of bank depositors and holders of life insurance policies through their ownership of public utility bonds. .This is people's ownership under public regulation."

SINCE Mr. Fiske's statement was made, the number of investors in electric power companies has grown to over three million. It is estimated that during 1926, nearly four hundred thousand customers bought over three million shares in the electric power companies serving them. All told, over thirteen and a half million shares of stock have been purchased by the customers of these companies. These owners are found in every walk of life. Two companies alone report nearly fourteen thousand customer stockholders, representing 269 separate occupations.

The movement toward customer ownership of industry finds its largest expression in the electric power companies because of the high sense of responsibility developed by these companies in their dealings with the public.

Operated under the American principle of individual initiative, and directed by a personnel of tested integrity and public-mindedness, these companies have so definitely identified themselves with the interest of the public, that the structure of America's prosperity and progress rests to a large degree upon their service.

America's unequalled level of comfort and prosperity, made possible through cheap, abundant power, developed under the American principle of individual initiative, is the best of reasons why that principle should be preserved and perpetuated.

International Hobo Convention Opens In Minneapolis Today

(International News Service)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.—With stacks of doughnuts and large kettles of boiling hot coffee on the tables in the Minneapolis labor temple convention hall ready for consumption, the International Hobo convention, presided over by James Eads How, "millionaire hobo", opened its annual convention here today.

Several western delegates were missing when the convention was called to order. It was explained, however, that the delegates experienced difficulty while passing through Colorado, where strikebreakers are wanted for the coal mines.

After partaking of "doughnuts and coffee" the delegates were addressed by Dr. How, the millionaire doctor and Harvard graduate, who is devoting his money to the unemployed. How told the delegates the chief aim of the Minneapolis meeting is to urge the need for demanding jury trial when arrested for vagrancy.

"Judges have usually decided," he said, "that a man has a right to be on the street whether or not he has any money in his pocket and no jury in the world will convict a man for this. Last year, however, 100,000 of our crowd were arrested and sentenced without rhyme or reason."

Shelters for homeless workers was also urged.

Sessions will last throughout the week.

Boy's Dormitory At Orphanage Is Damaged By Serious Fire Today

(International News Service)

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Nov. 8.—Three baby boys, the oldest barely three years old, were believed burned to death today when fire swept the boys' dormitory of the Villa O'Connor orphanage, driving the boys housed there out into the winter morning in their night clothes.

Nuns of the order of Sisters of St. John the Baptist, who manage the recently organized orphanage, located near here in the borough of Peapack-Gladstone, assisted by a priest and farm workers, managed to get most of their little charges from the blazing building, but three were unaccounted for when a check was made. One nun, overcome by smoke, was in a serious condition.

The ruins of the dormitory, which had been a coach barn before the $3,000,000 George Mosely estate was given to the Catholic order for an orphanage, were too hot several hours after the fire to permit a search for the remains of the little orphans believed to have perished.

The fire was believed started by a defective oil heater. When the firemen arrived, summoned by one of the orphans, who ran a half mile to reach the nearest telephone, burning debris was blazing on top of the oil tank. Fighting up as close to the flames as they could, they extinguished the fire on top of the tank. Turning their efforts to the adjoining garage, they prevented the spread of the flames to it.

A strong, cold wind was blowing, carrying embers to farm buildings a considerable distance from the fire. Firemen were kept busy extinguishing incipient blazes.

Signs Subpoenaes For Appearance Of Pair Of Witnesses

Judge Siddons Signs Papers Asking Apprehension Of Blackmer And O'Neil

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Federal Justice F. L. Siddons today signed subpoenaes for the appearance of H. M. Blackmer and James E. O'Neil as witnesses in the second trial of Harry F. Sinclair and ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall for criminal conspiracy, set for Jan. 16.

Blackmer and O'Neil, oil men, are the "missing witnesses" the government is so anxious to produce to tell of the deal from which it is charged the money came with which Fall was bribed to lease the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve.

Both men have been in Europe for the past three years and the subpoenaes call for their service by American consular officers "when and where they may be found."

Ex-Service Men Make Inspection Of City Lockup

Seven representatives of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the invitation of Mayor William H. Dunlap, last night inspected the city jail, which it has become necessary to use for bunkroom purposes as a result of the usual influx of unfortunate men.

Accompanied by the mayor, these representatives of soldier organizations, visited the jail, intended primarily for prisoners, but through necessity turned over to the use of unfortunates, who apply for a night's lodging.

They found fourteen of these men lying on the iron benches of the cells, and scattered here and there through the cells, except in one instance, where there was a prisoner.

They were also informed by the mayor, that if there were the crowds of last winter, such as thirty-five or forty men, that it would be almost impossible to provide them with a place big enough for them to stretch out.

At the close of the inspection, it was decided that an organization composed of representatives of the soldier organizations as well as other charitable organizations be perfected and an organized effort be started to eliminate this condition of affairs.

Bitter Mayoralty Fight In Detroit Stirs Voters Today

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—With the wet and dry issues overshadowing all other questions, Detroit went to the polls today to decide one of the bitterest mayoralty campaigns in its history.

Mayor John W. Smith has based his campaign for re-election on a "liberal view" of the enforcement of the Volstead Act and belief that the first duty of the police should be to stamp out major crimes, such as murder and robbery.

John Lodge, so called "drafted candidate" for mayor, has ignored all requests for his views on civic questions.

Several Accidents Reported To Police

Miss Barbara Sleigh of 106 Wallace avenue, reported to the police Monday that she was driving north on North Jefferson street at Falls street when a car of Barnes and Snyder driven by a Mr. Fox going east on Falls street and turning north on Jefferson street, collided with her machine. Some damage was done.

Mrs. Flossie Wilson, 712 Wilmington avenue, reported this morning that she was driving east on West Washington street in front of Dewberry's when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 958-588 going in the same direction pulled out from the curb and into her machine. Some damage was done.

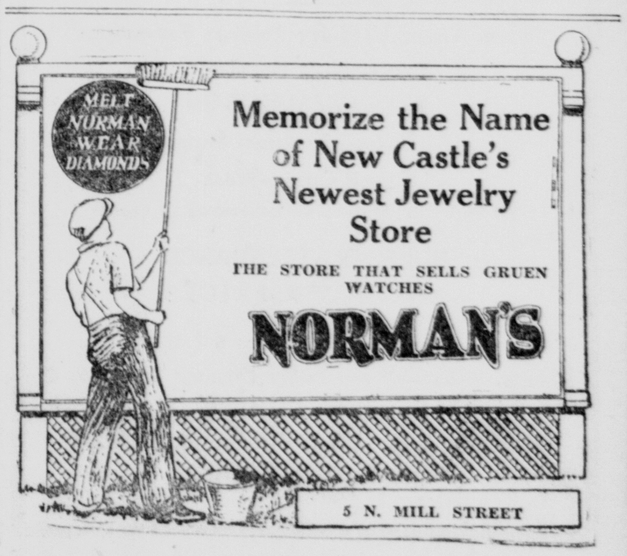
POSTPONE CLINIC.

Because today is a legal holiday, the State Chest Clinic, which is held in the Associated Charities rooms on East street, has been postponed to November 15. This clinic is conducted by Dr. H. C. Harper, county medical director.

Rev. Haverfield Makes Address

A meeting of the Senior Hi Y club was held Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. with John C. Leonard, boy's secretary, in charge.

After an address by the Rev. Ross M. Haverfield, a regular business meeting followed.



New State Code Makes Many Traffic Changes Secretary Hanlon Warns

Many changes in the highway code have been made, which will take effect the first day of the new year, says B. N. Hanlon, secretary of the New Castle Motor club, and among the most drastic changes are those of the speed limits.

The changes in the law which are important are covered briefly below for the benefit of the motoring public. Mr. Hanlon urges that they be studied carefully, because they come into effect in less than two month's time.

Speed Limit Raised

The changes are made in the speed limit laws as follows:

At all railroad grade crossings, the maximum speed limit will be 20 miles an hour.

When passing school houses, 15 miles an hour.

At highway intersections in business or residential districts, 20 miles an hour.

Where proper signs have been erected in business or residential districts, 20 miles an hour.

Under all other conditions, 35 miles an hour.

Trucks are given new speed limits by classes. The heaviest pneumatic tired truck registered, that of 2600 pounds, may not travel faster than 12 miles an hour, while no truck may travel faster than 26 miles an hour. The limit for larger, solid tired trucks is 10 miles. Between these figures lie the various truck classes.

Police and fire vehicles may go as fast as they like, but this exemption does not protect drivers from the consequence of reckless disregard of the rights or safety of others.

Drive On The Right

The new code repeats the injunction that the users of the highway must at all times keep to the right of the center of the highway, except where it is necessary to pass another vehicle. The driver of the vehicle about to be passed is forbidden to increase his speed. Before passing, the operator must have an unobstructed view for 300 feet. Passing on curves or on grades is forbidden, as is passing on grade crossings.

No Horn Blowing

In the business or residential sections of a municipality the driver of a motor car is forbidden to make any unnecessary noise. Section 1012 provides that the driver of an overtaking vehicle shall give audible warning when attempting to pass another car when not in the business or residential districts.

Through Traffic Highways

Cities of the first, second, and third classes are empowered to create thru traffic highways, as is the secretary of highways. This means that there will be through traffic state highways, as well as streets. No vehicle may enter or cross such highways without first coming to a full stop.

Other important parts of the new state code will appear in a condensed form in early issues of the New Castle News.

Some Local Comment Ideas and Suggestions As Given To News Man

BOB YOUNG

Surely I believe that New Castle should have organized singing between halves of their football games. I remember at Penn State, there was organized singing at all the football games.

Between halves, the sophomores would all come out on the field, and either form a giant S or indulge in a snake dance, singing Victory all the while.

It is something like this that breaks up the monotony between halves, and offers the boys a chance to blow off steam, especially if their team is winning.

CHARLES H. HARTMANN
The Castleton

You know, it takes some time to get a new hotel to function smoothly, but in The Castleton, things have gotten down to a running basis much sooner than I expected. The reason is, I believe because the men in the different departments co-operate so well.

I have worked at the openings of many hotels in this chain, and I believe that I am correct when I say that The Castleton has gotten on a working basis sooner than any other of which I know.

WILLIAM M. DOBSON
Locust Street

Although I come to New Castle from New York City, yet I can truthfully say that I like the town much better than the Big Stem, because here everyone seems to know everyone else.

And, in my ramblings, I have been all over the country, yet, to me at least, Pennsylvania, and Western Pennsylvania especially seems more like home than any place else.

The Earth's Atmosphere

By S. S. MYERS

I heard a chap remark, recently, that he supposed someone would eventually construct a machine that would enable us to go up in the air and remain stationary while the earth roted by beneath.

"Just think of it," said he, "We could go up here and come down in China 12 hours later! All we would have to do would be to go up and remain there while the earth rotated under us and come down anywhere on the globe we might care to land."

There are three things that human ingenuity has not yet been able to discover, viz: perpetual motion, the fourth dimension and how to overcome gravitation or relativity, as Einstein would put it.

No one knows exactly how far out, or up, the earth's atmosphere extends, but the farther up the thinner and colder it becomes. There is a certain distance beyond which the aviator cannot go, because the air becomes too thin to sustain life or support his machine. Meanwhile the atmosphere rotates with the earth. If it were not so the earth would experience a continual storm—the wind sweeping over its surface with a velocity of something over 1,100 miles an hour! Cities and forests would be blown into the oceans and the oceans dashed over the continents.

Nevertheless, the earth does slip through under the atmosphere to some extent, causing the so-called trade winds. The cold air from either pole is continually moving toward the equator, where, becoming heated, it ascends and moves back toward the poles. Consequently, if the earth were not rotating there would be a continual breeze, and also a continual breeze from the south over the southern hemisphere. But the earth, slipping away just a little beneath these air currents, causes the trade winds which blow periodically in a certain direction in latitudes near the equator.

This, of course, has no bearing upon sudden local storms which are caused by some portion of the earth's surface becoming heated, causing the air to expand and then contract as the colder air rushes in with a cyclonic movement. Nor has it anything to do with the tornado which is caused by a stream of cold air meeting a stream of warm air, in which case they swirl around each other, forming a funnel-shaped monster dealing death and disaster along a narrow path wherever it touches the earth's surface.

There is a vast difference between a cyclone and a tornado. All winds and storms north or south of the equator are a part of a cyclone which is a current of air circling over a large area and rarely doing any damage. A tornado is made up on a smaller scale, but it always means business.

In Day's News

Friends of Prince Hohlenlohe Langeburg and Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt, widow of the late Reginald Vanderbilt, whose engagement has been announced in Europe, will join in the hope that their marriage may result as happily as did the romance of Prince Charles of Hohenlohe Langeburg, relative of the bridegroom-elect. Prince Charles was heir to the family title and estates, but immediately after his father's death in 1860 he renounced all his rights for the purpose of marrying Marie Grathwohl a beautiful girl of the people, who was then twenty-three years old. Their marriage was solemnized in Paris the following year. The couple lived for forty years in ideal happiness, which was ended only by the wife's death in 1901. The King of Wurtemburg had in 1890 ennobled her, conferring on her the title of Baroness Von Bronn. Prince Charles died in 1907.

A Message to Mothers

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

GAVE BABY STRENGTH—PREVENTED COLDS.

MRS. W. R. HUGHES, 652 East Grand Ave., Decatur, Ill., in a recent signed statement issues this message, which all mothers should heed: "We have a little son aged 20 months. His first winter I gave him Father John's Medicine every night at bedtime. He did not have a cold all winter. We did not keep him in, but when I took him out I gave him Father John's Medicine. In April he had whooping cough and we gave him Father John's all through the time. This picture was taken at the worst stage of the sickness. We are giving it again this winter, and, as before, he has no cold. I wish every mother would use it for it seems so unnecessary for little folks to be always sick."

Anthracite Coal Leaders Gather For Conference

Mount Carmel Prepares To entertain Leading Anthracite Operators

By WILLIAM T. WELDON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Nov. 8.—The Anthracite coal industry today began its supreme effort to regain prosperity.

With scores of delegates to the anthracite cooperative congress on hand for the opening session tomorrow, promptu conferences were the order of the day as Mount Carmel, gaily decorated and illuminated, completed preparations for the most momentous event in its history.

Local hotels long ago announced that all rooms had been taken, while all available rooms in private homes have been assigned to delegates. The overflow is expected to be accommodated in nearby communities, including Shamokin, Ashland and Girardville.

As delegates gathered for the conference, the major issues to come before the seven hundred economists, merchandising experts and public figures took definite form. Conjecture as to what solution Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and Governor John S. Fisher would have to offer for the anthracite industry's delemma came in for their share of attention.

As labor and capital prepared to sit together in conference, Rinaldo Cappellini, of Scranton, president of the District United Mine Workers served notice that he would oppose any efforts to split the mine union into bituminous and anthracite groups.

Election Briefs

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—Greene county party leaders predicted a vote of less than half of the eligibles at today's election. Although the county is solidly Democratic, a close fight was expected in the contest for county commissioner, the candidates being M. P. Headlee and J. N. Scott, Democrats; Paul Debolt, incumbent, and J. L. Hartley, Republicans.

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 8.—Three sets of candidates stood for election in the Beaver county commissioners contest today. Enoch Engle, Beaver, and John Martzell, Rochester, defeated for nomination on the Republican ticket, are running on the Prohibition ticket. Art W. Combs, Woodlawn, and William O. Coulter, Beaver Falls, are the Republican nominees. William Freed, Big Beaver township, and Walter Goettman, Brighton township, are Democratic nominees. The voting started light.

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 8.—A record vote was anticipated in Mercer county at today's election. Spirited contests were waged for sheriff, prothonotary, district attorney and county tuberculosis hospital bond issue up. The fight for sheriff, with three candidates entered, occupied chief interest.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 8.—Few voters turned out early today here, where the chief contest was for mayor with Mayor W. W. Hoyt, Democrat, seeking re-election and R. H. McBurney, Republican, opposing him. Republican nominees for county offices were expected to win handily.

CANONSBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—With interest it a high pitch over the proposal to elevate Canonsburg from a borough to a third class city, a heavy vote was being polled here today.

Resignation Of King Accepted

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—William L. King, former executive secretary of the Citizens League, a reform organization, was back in Pittsburgh today after an absence of six weeks, explaining that he had not "disappeared," but was looking for a new position in the West while sought by officials of the league.

King's resignation as director of the League's vice-crusaders has been accepted and William J. Kane, for twenty-one years a member of the local police department, named as his successor. King will be retained by the league in a minor capacity until cases he worked up have been prosecuted in the courts.

Commenting upon the affidavit of Miss Ruth Arnot, of Kansas City, made public by Superintendent of Police Peter Walsh, King's arch-foe, the latter branded it as the hallucinations of a mentally deranged woman. He said his invitation to lunch were made because Miss Parnot, who came here as King's secretary, was alone in this city.

High School Boys Waive Hearings

Thirteen high school students, who on October 14, 1927, are alleged to have acted in a riotous manner at Lakewood Beach; and three members of the same group, who are alleged to have held and assaulted a son of John D. Rung, proprietor of Lakewood Beach, appeared with their counsel, Attorney Samuel L. Clark, last night, at the office of Alderman O. H. P. Green, and waived hearings. They gave the bail required for their appearance at the December term of court.

Earl Turk, Paul Cuba and Paul Reider, who are charged with aggravated assault and battery, were required to give bail in the sum of $500 each.

These three young men, with ten others, who are Tom Harper, Angelo Mooney, Arthur Sillman, Charles Richards, Toby Tenzlis, Robert Dinsmore, Glen Thomas, Tony Ostrowsky, Bennie Cicone and William Hawley are also charged with riot. This group provided bail in the sum of $2000, as a unit, for their appearance at the December terms of court.

Charges in the case are made by Mr. Rung.

Man Kills Wife, Then Suicides

(International News Service)

SOMERSET, Pa., Nov. 8.—Five small children were left orphans today by a double tragedy in the home of William Naugle, 53, a lumberman. Depressed by financial and domestic difficulties, authorities said, Nagle shot and killed his estranged wife, Bessie, 30, at her home here last night, and then killed himself by firing a bullet into his head. A daughter found the bodies.

About the only way to be happy though married is to get a mate better than you deserve.

Attend Funeral Of Jas. W. Stewart

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 8. — Dr. W. Charles Wallace and several members of the faculty of Westminster college left here today for Cleveland where they will attend the funeral of James William Stewart who died in Cleveland Sunday. Mr. Stewart, who was an alumnus of Westminster, was very prominent as an attorney and real estate man in Cleveland.

Since his graduation from Westminster in the class of 1869 Mr. Stewart had been an active alumnus of the college returning here regularly for the annual homecoming days and at the commencement seasons. This year he did not come back to the school because he was confined to his bed at the time.

Besides his Bachelor of Arts degree which he received at Westminster, Mr. Stewart also had had conferred upon him a Master of Arts and Doctor of Laws degree from other schools.

Westminster people mourn his passing as one of the most willing and active alumni that the school has ever had, and Dr. Wallace with members of the college faculty is attending the funeral in Cleveland today to confer upon Mr. Stewart the final honor that he has so well merited at the hands of Westminster.

Three Inch Snow Ushers In Winter

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 8.—A three-inch snow fall in two storms of the week-end summarized an unusual weather condition here.

On the verge of a second spring here flowers were in bloom and vegetation making ready to usher in another budding season. During the afternoon of Sunday and that evening were two storms of a blizzard character.

The freezing weather which accompanied the first storm is also very unusual. Many local residents not expecting such a quick reversal of weather had failed to buy their winter coal or make ready their furnaces.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—No longer is New York the city of the disreputable taxi. In spite of taxi owners' continual complaint about not making money in the business, more and more swanky cars are appearing on the streets, Packards and Studebakers and Buicks and Chryslers, masquerading as cabs and proudly bearing on their shields their trade names. When first I came to New York the "sea-going hacks" of the fly by night chauffeurs were about the best you could do along Broadway. If you took a girl to the theatre, and she was fashionably turned out, you were struck by the incongruity achieved by the presence of her evening finery in the decadent interior of the mournful taxi. That day is past. Any swain who has the price of a cab for his lady may be proud to pick one of the smart new taxis browsing up and down the lanes of the metropolis. Even an ermine coat might be proud to ride in one of the latest cabs.

On the diner of the Twentieth Century Limited, the waiter lets the luckless traveler order rolls or bread, and then in wily fashion sneaks up on his victim with the tray of free rolls offered to all customers "on the house". These infinitesimal hot biscuits are toothsome morsels, but it seems to me an unkind trick of the management to get travelers to order bread or rolls which are certainly not used, once the highly superior brand of free tidbits appears on the scene.

In the list of public auctions advertised in the dailies, I observed one which interested me a lot. This is the notice of a sale of merchandise held by Macy's store in storage, and advertised for auction sale to cover "our lien thereon for repair charges or storage charges." Included the various fur coats and pieces of jewelry. Most of the pieces sound drab and uninteresting, even the jewelry has a spurious sound about its description. I can just imagine the dingy crowd which would attend a sale of Macy's storage articles.

It costs money to be absent-minded in the subway. The other day I went to a change booth to get change for a quarter so I might drop the required nickel in the turnstile slot. The change-maker shoved three nickels into the trough and seemed to get paralysis of the arm, and in my preoccupation and haste to catch the train that had just pulled up at the platform I grabbed the three nickels and dashed to the train. The doors had closed upon me before I realized that I had let myself be gyped out of ten cents.

Since then I experimented. The change makers in the subway booths never count the change out into one pile and shove the whole pile at you. If the change is for a quarter, they hurriedly throw out three nickels and then after a hesitation of about three seconds throw out a dime, or two more nickels. In making change for a half dollar they first shove toward you a quarter and three nickels and then, after a noticeable hesitation add a dime to the pile. This is not short-changing, of course. If you don't get your right change it is your own fault. I imagine that even if you rushed away too soon and returned for the rest of your change you would get it; but I suspect that there are a great many who use the subway daily, who, in the excitement or the crowds and the rush to get a train, don't wait for that extra dime.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken, Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Not Like Medicine

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine. Perfected by the famous Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle.

Texas Man Hurt In Pittsburgh

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

External treatments seldom banish Piles.

The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in hundreds of cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at McKee's Kut Rate, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

Judge Chambers Praises Republicans In Address

Impressive Parade Of About 80 Cars Traversed Principal Streets Of City

Candidates On City And County Ticket Gave Short Talks At Rally

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 8.—Judge James A. Chambers of the common pleas court of Lawrence county made a stirring address Monday evening at the G. O. P. rally which was held in the Shelby auditorium. Judge Chambers described the wonderful work of the Republican party since its inception and emphasized the fact that prosperity and commercial and industrial growth of the country was due to the work of the Republican leaders of the country and the principle of protective tariff.

The political rally which was attended by over 300 Republican men and women followed the parade which was conducted over the main streets and through every voting ward of the city. Marshal H. J. Jenkins was assited in arranging the cars in line by Captain W. B. Hampton, Lieutenant Hall, Frank Blackburn, Chief Teater, Frank Biordi and T. J. Cain. Every car was decorated with a Republican slogan and headed by the marshal's car and the Shelby band, under the direction of John Ruscovitz, the parade left the starting point promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

J. L. Kennedy, Jr., of the Fourth ward was the young man that brought along the G. O. P. coon—perched on top of an auto. Young Kennedy and his raccoon enjoyed every minute of the parade.

About 80 cars were in line making one of the longest parades ever held in Ellwood City. With the assistance of Chief Teater and the local police force traffic was handled very satisfactorily and the parade passed over the route quickly and without mishap.

Corporal Al Glasser, Patrolman Lynn of the state highway patrol and Private Brush of the state police assisted the marshal in handling the details of the parade.

A number of Wampum and New Castle Republican voters were present at the rally.

President Burton J. Bell of the Republican club of Ellwood City presided and in his opening remarks Presideint Bell stated that the club was not for one or two factions, but for the entire Republican party of Ellwood City. The club hopes to get these various cliques or factions together and make the Republican vote a solid one and to assist in election times, to cut out the ill feeling that some times exist, through failure of a candidate to receive the nomination of the party at primary election.

The Republican club is permanent in Ellwood City and Judge Chambers complimented the Ellwood Republicans in starting such an organization, that would be able to do so much good in another year, during the national campaign in connection with the presidential election.

The candidates on the city ticket for council were called upon and remarks were made by William A. Kerr, John E. Powell, Clyde B. Houk and J. W. Mattocks. The Republican candidates on the county ticket who were present and addressed the gathering included Miss Adda M. Smiley, candidate for county treasurer; T. J. McCullough, for county commissioner; R. M. Campbell for prothonotary, and G. Scott Kildoo for county auditor.

The club workers have arranged to cover the polls today and it is expected that a real 100 percent Republican vote will be gotten out for the ticket.

Success Attends Courtesy Bridge At Country Club

Many Novel Innovations Introduced At Bridge Party Last Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 8.—One hundred and fifty members of the Ellwood City Country club were present at the courtesy bridge given Monday evening at the club house in honor of the members of the 1927 ladies' entertainment committee.

Thirty-two tables of bridge were in play in the club lounge made bright with gay autumn colors interspersed with autumn leaves, bittersweet and chrysanthemums.

At the conclusion of a series of pleasant games high score club honor went to Mrs. Bruce Hunter. During the serving of refreshments a bowl of peanuts was passed around, each guest being permitted to take one. Upon opening the shells a number was discovered with No. 13 being the lucky number posted on the mantel, with the gift behind it. Mrs. John Brennamen drew the lucky number. This stunt was successfully evolved by Mrs. Earl Yahn. The honor guests were served at a special table decorated with chrysanthemums and places marked with diminutive figurines dressed in autumn leaves.

During the serving of the menu Miss Marian Slocum contributed a lovely piano solo entitled "Hungaria" by McDowell, followed by Miss Helen Zeeman, who pleased with a reading, "The Thunder Storm." Later Mrs. T. L. Haines, chairman of the lunch committee, made a clever presentation speech and gave Mrs. Loring Gelbach, chairman of the 1927 committee, and Mrs. W. R. Johnston, permanent treasurer, a gift of silver from the club ladies. The other members of the committee who worked so faithfully during the summer were each presented with crystal-ware. Mrs. Gelbach and Mrs. Johnston responded to the presentation with words of thanks. Honor guests at the affair were Mesdames Loring Gelbach, W. R. Johnston, R. C. Stiefel, W. W. Siedel, William Dean, J. S. Passavant III of Zelienople and James Hughes of Beaver Falls.

Members of the club committee responsible for the success of the evening were: Mrs. John Powell, chairman of the party: Mrs. T. L. Haines, luncheon chairman; Mrs. Earl Yahn, entertainment chairman; Mrs. Thomas Magee, treasurer, and Mrs. B. J. Bell, invitations and decorations, assisted by Mesdames Harry Harris, J. Reed Carpenter, Lyle Blandford, A. F. N. Thomas, Henry Schenck and Patterson. Indeed, the entire membership of the club, with the exclusion of the honor guests, entered into the spirit of the occasion and produced last night one of the most enjoyable parties of the year.

In an effort to apprehend the thief who stole a 30 cell truck battery from the plant sometime between Friday and Monday, the officials of the National Radiator company are offering $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the culprit.

On Monday morning it was discovered that the battery in weight and worth about $900 was missing and a search thus far has failed to reveal the thief. Several clues are being run down and detectives are confident that they will bring the thief to justice.

The battery was used on a ten-ton truck and was in four sections, each of which could be carried away. E. L. Brundage, plant manager is of the opinion that the job was done by some one who knew the plant and knew the hours and route of the night watchman.

Heavy Snow Storm Strikes City Today

A real snowstorm struck New Castle this morning just before noon and soon the air was filled with large whirling flakes. At first the snow melted about as fast as it fell but soon a covering began to appear on exposed surfaces.

The weather for the last few days has been quite wintery, the thermometer falling several degrees below freezing. This morning seemed quite a bit warmer but it is likely that the snow in the air may cool it off again.

The children hail the coming of snow with enthusiasm and those who are older although they do not enjoy the cold weather as much as they use to, yet, it brings them a thrill with the memories of how they once revelled in the snow drifts.

Foreign Minister To United States Dies Of Wounds

Senor Latour, Gautemalean Minister, Succumbs To Self-Inflicted Wounds

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — Senor Francisco Sanchez Latour, Guatemalan minister to the United States, died here early today as the aftermath of a self-inflicted bullet wound some months ago.

Senor Latour had been in ill health for several years and last summer was taken to Emergency hospital with a bullet wound in the chest. His friends said he had accidentally shot himself while examining a revolver. He partially recovered from the effects of the wound, but the effects of the injury and his ill health caused his death today. He came from an old Guatemalan family, and had been minister from his country in Washington for many years.

Perhaps the nations could end war by erecting a few bronzes of tax payers' shelling out.

Take a pencil and write the words humorous, delightful, pathetic and charming, and when you have added them, the result is—one of our most popular young folk's books.

This book of happiness is indeed a treat. The story is very lifelike and, as most stories do, it also contains a love story. Its romance is one of endurance for the Aunt and the Doctor, but for our two young characters it is indeed quite evident from early childhood until joyous grown-up days. As is often told, "true love never did run smooth", and there are quite a lot of bumps in our tale. But the little orphan with her freckled face and light hair, brings about a happy union of the two estranged lovers. And, indeed, she awakens the love of her King, who has been shutting the sunshine out of his life because he had lost his faith in people.

Our heroine is truly a wonder and it is with no surprise that we recognize her title, M. W.—Miracle Worker. She goes through the village comforting the sick and bringing joy and gladness into their lives. Her medicine is not a tonic but a game. Don't you wish all medicines were like hers? But she is not always good. In fact, at times she is quite a little imp, bringing home all the stray cats, dogs and orphans that she finds along the way. Her wealthy aunt is nearly driven to distraction by her pranks.

However, the little girl's life is not all sunshine. Her little heart is starved for love—love such as her parents gave her before they were taken away. She tries hard to win the love of her aunt, but only learns that she is not wanted—an unwanted niece. Still she tries to be glad and does all she can to make others happy.

Then our climax comes when—, but no, I shan't tell you her name— is hit by a car and loses the use of her limbs. For a while all is despair, but with five years' treatment in Europe she returns happy and well and possessing the love of all. Because now her aunt yields to both the love of her niece and to the love of her old sweetheart, and thus our heroine aids in bringing love, beauty, charm and gladness to the closing scene.

No. 4

One time, in one of my journeys through Bookland, I met a girl whom I was not sure that I liked at first. She was such a queer girl—or at least I thought she was—for she wore her hair so unbecomingly and all of her dresses were alike, just exactly alike. She lived in such a queer place, too, a place where all of the children were just as plain as she was. I was sure that I could never learn to like her until I discovered that other folks in Bookland praised her highly. At length I became very interested in her and I kept careful watch on all that she did.

I was somewhat worried at first when she ran away from her home and took a little three-year-old boy with her. Yet, I was sure she would be careful, and she was. She found a very nice place for them to stay—not in the most beautiful section of town, it's true, but in a truly home-like place. I was glad to see that the landlady did not act like a landlady; instead, she took the two little wanderers to her heart in real mother fashion. My queer girl soon lost all her queerness and I was surprised at how pretty she became and how she thrived under her kind treatment.

She was industrious, too, for she worked and "paid her board an' keep". Once her little boy was nearly taken from her, but she kept him after all. I was so glad, for he meant life to her.

As she grew older she became more lovely and lovable, and oh, how very proud I was when I last saw her! She was starting off on a trip, a long, happy one. When she comes back I must see her again for I did like my trip in Bookland with my queer little girl friend!

M. J. Rich Buried Monday Afternoon

Many Attend Services For Son-In-Law Of E. B. Locke, Late Of New Castle

Funeral services for the late M. J. Rich of Rice's Landing were held in Hewitt's church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All stores and schools were closed during the hour from 2 to 3.

Mr. Rich was born near Khedive, Green county. He attended Waynesburg college after which he taught school for three years. He was united in marriage to Carrie Ella Locke, oldest daughter of the late E. B. Locke of Highland avenue, New Castle. For many years he was the cashier of the Rice's Landing National bank.

Mr. Rich was very popular in church and community life in Green county and in banking circles in Southwestern Pennsylvania.

He is survied by his wife and two sons, Raymond A. Rich of Sharon, Pa., and Bennett M. Rich a student in Waynesburg college. He also leaves one sister Miss May Rich of Rices Landing and one brother Dr. D. L. Rich of the University of Michigan.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

The influence of college football teams is creeping into every walk of life. After watching Pitt and W. and J. battle to a scoreless tie on Saturday, Robert White city solicitor must have had the idea that he could hold a line single handed.

Monday afternoon he tried holding back his automobile in Water street but was thrown down for a a loss. The loss being mostly a yard of skin off his elbows and legs where he was dragged by his car in its crazy peregrinations.

That idea of a New Castle Products Show, broached in this colyum a few days ago is meeting with some favorable reaction. Mrs. G. M. Gibson, a New Castle woman who has traveled much, sends in a note today which is on the subject. It follows:

Mr. Richards:—

Reading the enclosed item in the News (which was concerning a products show) I recalled while visiting in Chattanooga, Tenn., a year ago, after seeing all the historic places, and there were many the only place down town where I visited or rather spent most of the afternoon was the second and third floors of a storeroom in which was a collection of each industry in the city or rather a sample of them. I assure you it was very interesting. They are always there and visitors always include it in their sight seeing of the city. A view of the city from the top of the mountains was a beautiful sight. MRS. G. M. GIBSON.

From Mrs. Gibson's letter I gather that it was a permanent exhibit in Chattanooga. Must be a beautiful city although the only time I ever saw it was about January 1, 1919. Occupied the upper berth in a troop train that was enroute from Camp Hancock, Augusta Ga., to Camp Grant Rockford Ill. and the night we went through Chattanooga it was raining.

Another club is about on the verge of being organized. George Muse who is himself a "jiner" of the 33rd degree, has started work on the Friday Feeders, which will be a group of men of the city who will gather about the festive board in The Castleton every Friday. The purpose of the organization is non-political, non-religious in fact non-everything except eat and talk. Just a sort of glorified kaffeklatsch.

Contributions to this column are much appreciated at all times. But ocasionally the contribution takes the form of something besides news copy. Today it was a lake trout, fresh from Georgian Bay with the ice still clinging to it. Were it not that the lady is averse to such publicity the name would be run but as it is she gets a private vote of thanks.

And after looking at the lake trout you would call it anything but a poor fish.

Saw an amusing thing in front of The Castleton Coffee Shop. Two little girls were standing with their respective noses flat against the window arguing about the bowl of fruit inside. One of them insisted that it was real fruit and the other insisted that the fruit was wax. If either of the young lassies see this they can settle the argument. The fruit is real.

Did you ever wind spaghetti? Its a great pastime when it has been cooked a la Italienne by the folks who know how. Dropped in on a spaghetti supper in the Itallan M. E. church last night and if all the spaghetti eaten there Monday night were placed end to end it would reach from a given point to another given point and you can do your own giving.

We shall be converted to Bolshevik doctrine when all the Russian bosses in soft places offer to swop places with laborers.

WRONG TO JOKE ABOUT YOUR HEALTH!

Don't let friends "kid" you when they say, "You're looking fine". Because you know how often you feel weak, nervous, headachy, stomach not so good, and other spells. Some of these slight attacks may be symptoms of System Poisoning—professionally called TOXEMIA. Ordinary laxative pills and waters do not eliminate the poisonous wastes that bring on TOXEMIA. Far better to get a box of PARTOLA, the internal antiseptic and laxative. Take two of these mint-flavored wafers at night, clean out the poisons, then your friends can truly say "you're looking fine". All good druggists sell regular box of PARTOLA 30¢, double size 60¢.

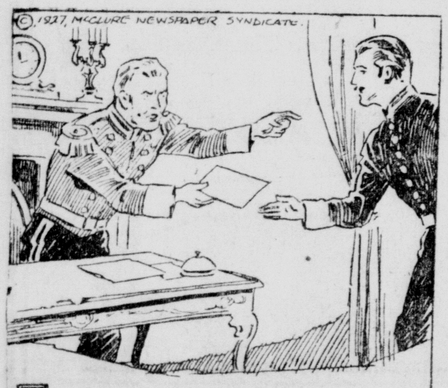
The Case Of The "Virginius"—Part Two

THE EXECUTION BY THE SPANIARDS IN CUBA OF THE AMERICAN SKIPPER AND FIFTY-TWO OTHER PERSONS SEIZED ABOARD THE "FILIBUSTERING" SHIP "VIRGINIUS" IN 1873 WAS CARRIED OUT IN SPITE OF THE PROTESTS OF THE AMERICAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH CONSULS.

ACCORDING TO INTERNATIONAL LAW, A SHIP CARRYING CONTRABAND OF WAR COULD BE SEIZED, AND THOSE ON BOARD HELD AS SMUGGLERS, BUT THOUGH FILIBUSTERING WAS UNLAWFUL, IT WAS NOT PIRACY AND DID NOT MERIT THE DEATH PENALTY.



THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT IN MADRID, WHEN THE SEIZURE OF THE "VIRGINIUS" WAS REPORTED, HAD CABLED ITS OFFICERS IN CUBA NOT TO CARRY OUT ANY SENTENCES UNTIL FURTHER ORDERS WERE SENT FROM SPAIN.

THIS MESSAGE WAS DELAYED BETWEEN HAVANA AND SANTIAGO, AND ARRIVED TOO LATE TO SAVE ALL OF THE DOOMED MEN.

PLAN BOOSTER DAY AT GAME SATURDAY

New Castle Will Play Erie East

Local Alumni Committee Hard At Work On "New Castle Day" Plans

Fitting Ceremony Will Be Paid High School Football Team By Fans

Football players as a rule have a mighty tough time of it every Saturday afternoon. It is their lot to do the entertaining of thousands of gridiron enthusiasts who jam their way into the stadiums and yell themselves hoarse at the least semblance of a good play.

Saturday afternoon, November 12, at Ben Franklin high field the situation is going to be reversed to some extent at least, and instead of the vast multitude of pleasure seekers getting all the benefits of the occasion the New Castle high and Erie East high teams will come in for a share of the "lionizing".

The big feature for this coming week-end at the local arena is to be known as "New Castle day". A group of energetic alumni of the senior high school, together with the townspeople, have hit upon the idea of a fitting ceremony and tribute to the husky red and black clad warriors.

The committee in charge of this big "New Castle day" program is arranging for some mighty attractive features, the doings of the committee are very secret so they say, but they will try as much as possible to spring several surprises.

It is the intention to have the entire student body of New Castle high school sit enmasse on the wooden bleachers with flying banners and blocks of colors and all that sort of thing, and also to have the cheerleaders pepped up. The noise from this aggregation should rip open the clouds.

Secure Two Bands.

The stadium will be fittingly decorated in the red and black colors for the occasion, and the place is going to be all dressed up. There will be a couple of bands, the senior and junior high bands having volunteered their services to help make the program a joyous one, and also to lend sweet music to the ears of the throng.

There is also going to be something nice in the way of appreciation for the Erie East football team and the students who accompany them. The visitors from the Lake City will not be forgotten.

Now the whole thing boiled down is this: Saturday is the day selected to boost New Castle high football team and to show the boys that students, alumni and townsfolk appreciate their work. So let's get behind this "New Castle day" program and help to make it the biggest thing that has been staged at Ben Franklin high field this year.

More detailed information regarding the plans of the committee will be published from time to time during the week. But don't forget to mark that big double XX on the calendar for Saturday, November 12.

In "Frenchy" Belanger the Toronto boxing fans believe they have a promising candidate for the world's flyweight crown recently laid aside by Fidel La Barba. In his recent bouts Belanger has displayed considerable class.

Association football has developed into the most popular sport in Austria since the war.

GRID CAPTAINS

BILL FEASTER
FORDHAM

Bill Feaster, tackle, is the captain of the 1927 Georgetown (Washington) eleven.

He had the edge taken off of his play early this year as a result of an injured shoulder. The New York U. game was the first in which he played this fall, and his shoulder bothered him considerably.

Feaster is accustomed to playing a dashing brand of football. He is a good defensive man.

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 8. — With a victory now behind it, the New Wilmington high school football team is now in hard training for the game with Bessemer which is to be played here this Saturday. Bessemer high school is one of the college town high's greatest rivals and it is expected that the game will be a hard one.

Despite the fact that his proteges showed the best form of the season in defeating the Ben Franklin Trade school team Friday, Coach Wiggins is taking no chances but is driving his team hard to have them in the best possible condition for the Bessemer clash. It has been reported that Bessemer which was the class champion last year has another championship team.

Erie East To Battle Locals Here Saturday

New Castle High Team Takes Rest Monday Afternoon; Resumes Practice Today

Monday afternoon was a day of rest for the New Castle High football team. Coach Bridenbaugh excused the boys from rehearsal due to the fact that they had a rather strenuous contest Saturday with Swissvale.

Practices will be resumed today it was announced by Coach Bridenbaugh. The locals will be called on Saturday to meet a team that should test their strength. The Erie East team is perhaps one of the best and fastest teams in Erie this year and they have enjoyed a most successful season to date.

The Lake Erie boys are preparing for a real tussle when they take the field here against the powerful New Castle outfit, well do they realize that this is one of the hardest games on their schedule.

The New Castle team had a merry romp last Saturday with Swissvale and chased themselves bow-legged going for touchdowns. Erie East will not prove another Swissvale, that much can be taken for granted.

They have a habit of turning out good football teams in Erie, and the East team this season is no exception.

Penn-State Auto Service Team In Lead For Title

The biggest football score which Princeton has been able to run up against Yale was made in 1925, when the Tigers won, 25 to 12.

Ben Franklin High Tops Mahoningtown, Fabian Is Big Star

Final Score Is 21 To 0; Franklin Team Junior High Champions

The fast and powerful Ben Franklin High team, junior champions, concluded their 1927 city school schedule Monday night at the Ben Franklin High field, by trouncing Mahoningtown 21 to 0.

The Seventh warders were outclassed in all departments of the game. The first half of the game was almost an exact replica of the New Castle-Swissvale contest, while the final half of the game was a reminder of the New Castle-South High memorial conflict. Although headed for touchdowns on numerous occasions the Ben Franklin team lost the ball on fumbles or misplays.

In the first quarter of the game Fabian took the ball on a triple pass and raced 30 yards for a touchdown through a broken field, the extra point was added by a line plunge through tackle with Fabian again carrying the ball. The score at the end of the first quarter, Ben Franklin 7, Mahoningtown 0.

Early in the second quarter Fabian again broke away on a run that netted him 30 yards and another touchdown and he also added the extra point through tackle. Near the close of the first half Fabian again scampered 45 yards for the third and final touchdown and again crashed the line for the extra point. The score at the end of the half Ben Franklin 21, Mahoningtown 0.

Fabian Big Star.

The teams battled on rather even grounds for the entire third quarter with neither side able to advance the ball with any degree of effectiveness. Several exchanges of punts took place with Franklin gaining more ground via this route.

Fabian was the outstanding player of the contest and tallied all three of the touchdowns. Heasley performed in brilliant fashion in both passing and also played a bangup defensive game. Crisci played a good game at guard and with his fellow linemen opened gaping holes for the backfield.

The Mahoningtown team was somewhat handicapped by the absence of several of their star players and had but eleven men in uniform for the battle. When Tommelleo their quarterback was injured late in the game Coach Norton of the Franklin team very generously gave the Seventh warders Gennock in order that the game could contnue. This was a fine piece of sportsmanship on the part of the Franklin High coach and drew considerable praise and comment.

The Franklin team is deserving of the championship, the boys having played fine football this year. The Franklin team is very well balanced and their is a wealth of material at the Junior High chool.

The summary:

Ben Franklin—21	Mahoningtown—0
Cunningham	L. E. Rapp
Deep	L. T. Hutton
Crisci	L. G. Morgan
Heasley	C. Rishel
McCurdy	R. G. Rice
Davis	R. T. Logue
Alfero	R. E. Ungst
Ruha	Q. B. Tommelleo
Fabian	L. H. Carr
Morgan	R. H. McIlwain

Score by quarters:

Ben Franklin	7	14	0	0	—21

Touchdowns—Fabian 3.

Points after touchdown—Fabian 3, (line plunges.)

Westminster Meets Thiel On Saturday

Football Season Of 1927 Will Be Closed For New Wilmington Eleven

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 8.—Surprising many of the grid sages when they invaded enemy quarters last Saturday, battling the strong Waynesburg College eleven to a scoreless tie amide snow flurries and on swells of billows of mud, Westminsters' football stalwarts are now anticipating the coming week-end tilt with Thiel College on the latter's field at Greenville.

This game with the Lutheran institution on Saturday will mark the termination of the Blue and White's football fortunes for 1927. Despite the fact that the annual battle with Waynesburg is in the record files, an engagement that was predicted as likely to prove the most strenuous and toughest on the calendar, "Dyke" Beede's team is by no means situated to enjoy a trip to St. Moritz, as there is still that climaxing game with Thiel.

Placing two major college football teams on their schedule this season, the Holleran coached outfit have met defeat at both the hands of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech. Thiel succumbed to Tech, 40-6, and lost to Pitt by a 48-0 score. However, both of these opponents are considered as devastating clubs as any in the country, and victory was not expected by the Greenvillers. Since those defeats Thiel encountered Waynesburg, fighting to a scoreless tie. Duquesne was barely able to get the advantage a few weeks ago when they edged an 8-7 triumph over Thiel. Last Saturday the Lutherans outplayed Allegheny College, winning by a 2-0 margin.

The Greenville mentor has developed a powerful running attack which consists chiefly of line slicer and off-tackle thrusts. This method of ground gaining was the feature of Thiel's game against Allegheny last Saturday.

Bitter rivalry exists between Westminster and Thiel, and a hardfought game with both aggregations determined will be the program this Saturday when they clash in the Blue and White's grid finale. Last year Thiel defeated Westminster at New Wilmington by a 7-6 score.

Football's Guiding Light — By Feg Murray

As the football rules committee said, in a resolution passed in 1925 soon after Walter Camp's death, "American football has lost its great champion, but his influence on the game will endure as long as the game is played." Walter Camp's tireless efforts as a coach, critic, author, selector of "all-America" teams, and as the guiding genius who safeguarded the good name of football and kept pace with its evolution until his death, are all well known, but perhaps his abilities as a player have been more or less forgotten. Let me quote from "Big Bill" Edwards' book, "Football Days". Edwards quotes F. R. Vernon, who played on the Yale team with Camp:

"Camp was always alert and seemed to sense developments before they occurred. One of my chief recollections of Camp's play was his great confidence with the ball. In his room, on the campus, in the gym', wherever he was, if possible, he would have a football with him. He seemed to know every inch of its surface, and it seemed almost as if the ball knew him. It would stick to his palm like iron to a magnet.

"In one of his plays Camp would run down the side of the field, the ball held far out with one arm, while the other arm was performing yeoman service in warding off the oncoming tacklers. Frequently he would pass the ball from one hand to the other, while still running, depending upon which arm he saw he would need for defense. Smilingly and confidently Camp would run the gauntlet of opposing players for many consecutive gains. I do not recall one instance in which he lost the ball through these tactics."

FEG MURRAY SAYS—

"Darn it all!" wailed the football coach who had ordered his men to play without stockings on account of the heat. "My star kicker is terrible today. Why, there isn't any sock to his boots at all."

Sport Ritticisms
By BILL RITT

Well the boys are back in the alleys again.

Bowling is played with a ball and 10 pieces of wood. Baseball on the other hand is played with a ball and nine.

A BOWLING ALLEY IS LIKE WALL STREET. EVERYBODY IS TRYING TO KNOCK DOWN AS MUCH AS HE CAN.

To the bystander the ten pins look as close as a party of collegians and co-eds on the back steps.

But when the ball gets down there they seem as far apart as a hula dancer and modesty.

Pitt Gridders Plan For Battle With Nebraska

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—The University of Pittsburgh gridiron warriors rushed preparations today for one of the stiffest games in their schedules this season, when they meet the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers here next Saturday. The Cornhuskers are reported at their peak of power now and the Panthers will have to be in perfect shape to win.

Coach Jock Sutherland's team came through the Washington & Jefferson battle without serious injury last Saturday and most of the cripples, including Paul Fisher and Charley Edwards, are expected to be in shape for Saturday's game.

Sutherland will pit his squad against the plebes the remainder of the week with the freshmen demonstrating some of Nebraska's tricky plays.

Volley Ball Games Scheduled Friday

The Buckeye and Shenango Tin Mill volley ball teams are ready to play at the Y. M. C. A. court on Friday night, in the first of the volley ball series in this city.

The girls of the Buckeye plant will play the Shenango Pottery girls in the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock. Walter Kirker, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. will officiate all games.

East Without Real Gridiron Champion

Princeton Stands Undefeated, But Support Rather Weak Schedule, Say Experts

By REGIS CURRAN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—The football situation today was a national muddle with practically every important football face in the country sporting a blemish of some sort, including the two best in Western Pennsylvania, Pitt and Wash-Jeff, who each developed a pimple by playing a scoreless tie. This left only Princeton with clear complexion. But even Princeton is not without sin, it seems, for there are some who have alleged that her schedule is rather a bit of a setup, although admitting the 20-0 victory over Ohio State was impressive.

The Panthers, however, can keep itself in the running by bowling over Nebraska and Penn State, an undertaking which may force Pitt authorities to call in a football undertaker. Wash-Jeff has a slightly more restful time for the rest of the season, but Bucknell or West Virginia or both may do dirt to the Presidents.

The widely-heralded battle between the two stars, Amos and Welch, saw Bullet Booth, Panther fullback, come out with whatever honors there were Saturday by his powerful line plunging. Douds, President tackle, took greatest praise among the linemen.

Geneva holds the undisputed lead of the class B colleges in Western Pennsylvania, their 13-0 victory being without surprise.

Carnegie Tech went down to a 20-6 victory over New York University, one of the East's best but fans hereabouts took solace from the fact that the score was just about even with the Pitt-Tech affair, which ended 23-7. And, the people prate, New York University did not have to face the traditional Tartan fight in the measure that Pitt saw.

All other games in this section of the state kept in line with expectations. Westminster and Waynesburg played a scoreless tie; Duequesne vanquished St. Francis, 10-0; and Thiel scored its first victory in history over Allegheny by a safety, 2 to 0.

Aquatic Club To Meet Wednesday

The New Castle Aquatic Club will hold their regular monthly business meeting and program at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday night, November 9, at 8 o'clock, said Alec Samuels today.

It is understood that Jack Hulmes, swimming instructor at Westminster College, will be the principal speaker on the short program that has been arranged by the officials of the club.

Football figures of the present season show that few winners of sectional and conference championships for 1926 are destined to repeat this year.

Cardinals-Phillies Sign New Managers

McKechnie To Head St. Louis Team In Race For 1928 Pennant

Burt Shotton Signs To Manage Philadelphia Nationals For Next Year

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Baseball's annual fall house cleaning swept two new managers in yesterday in the persons of Bill McKechnie with the Cardinals and Burt Shotton with the Phillies, leaving only the detail of substracting one and adding another for the vacuum cleaner at Cleveland.

Of course, the White Sox may decide to play along with their idea that a manager a day keeps the pennant away and dust Ray Schalk right off their managerial door step but, as to that, Ray was supposed to have had only an abstract interest in the management of the club last year, so perhaps the Comiskeys at last have found their ideal team leader.

The new Cleveland owners, I understand, are looking for a man who has had his name up in the lights, and, among others, are supposed to have under consideration no less a personage than Tyrus Raymond Cobb. Just how far, if a literal inch, this thing has gone, the writer is not prepared to say, but there is no doubt that an appointment of Cobb to Speaker's old job would be an interesting, if radical, step. Frankly, I don't expect to see it taken.

Speaker himself is alleged to be through in Washington and, for a time, the exhorters had him right back in Cleveland at the head of the new club. Of course, boys will be boys and boys will be premature. I suspect they were both that time. Speaker is said to have had his chance with the Boston Braves but wanted $50,000. However, so do I and the funny thing about that is that neither of us will get it.

Collins Mentioned.

Eddie Collins is another ex-star who has been mentioned for the position but it may be that Edward will decide to remain as close to Philadelphia as possible. Connie Mack is getting no younger very rapidly and, if in the next year or two he decided to step down, Collins is the man who is most likely to get the nod.

Meanwhile, Arthur Fletcher, former manager of the Phillies, has come forward in the light of what is supposed to be a leading candidate for the Cleveland job. In fact, they say Arthur has a right good chance of being named. Cleveland might look further and do worse.

Fletcher didn't make a profound impression upon that solemn, solid alligarchy of National League ownership while he was in Philadelphia. But the boy has the fight and the stuff, and a co-operating owner some day will bring it out.

The appointment of Shotton yesterday and of Jack Slattery as manager of the Braves are experiments of the first water. Shotton handled the old Cardinals from time to time when Rickey was at divine worship but, otherwise, neither appointee can show anything in the way of major league experience.

McKechnie, with a world's champion in 1925, is another matter. The writer always has felt that Bill simply was in the middle in that Pittsburgh upheaval in 1926 and naturally had to take the slap. It seems only bare justice that he is to get another chance.

As for Sam Breadon, he wins the rungless stepladder for managerial changes of heart. Hornsby won him a world's title in 1926 and was demoted. Bob O'Farrell finished a fighting second this year; with the highest percentage ever reached by a Cardinal team, and was demoted. However, I guess that is no doubt, in the latter's case, that a good catcher was spoiled to make an ordinary manager.

Two Westminster College Artists Contest Winners

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 8. — Of the four artists that were picked from the 1,300 entrants in the Victor Press-Stanley Talent Hunt conducted for to find the best qualified persons to make test records for the Victor Talking Machine Co., two are well-known as former Westminster college artists.

Miss Alta Shultz who has taken part in many difficult oratories at Westminster, and Norval Brelos who was director of the conservatory of Music at Westminster are the two artists who are well known here.

After his departure from Westminster Mr. Brelos attended the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Brelos is better known here than Miss Shulz, having been at Westminster for a much longer period of time.

However, both of the artists are being warmly congratulated by their Westmin[illegible]

Michigan Coach Old Diamond Star

By JACK SORDS

Helping to add more prestige to the University of Michigan athletic teams is Ray Fisher, one-time Yankee and Cincinnati pitching star. Though engaged in the fall as coach of the freshman team, his long suit is baseball, and he has developed teams that have either won or finished second every year but one in the conference.

Fisher, a thorough and hard worker, has had wide experience both as a player and a coach of football. He first demanded attention while a student at Middlebury College, where he pitched for the varsity baseball team besides starring in all the other sports. After being graduated in 1909 he went direct to the New York Yankees and pitched for that team until 1916, when he answered the call to arms. After his release from the service he went to the Cincinnati Nationals and pitched for the Reds in 1919 and 1920. Fisher found time during the off season in baseball to act as athletic director of Middlebury College, and at another time to give courses in pitching at the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College. He went to Michigan in 1921 and is still there doing his job and doing it well.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Tom McMahon, former Bearcat of the light-heavyweights, is helping Emmett Rocco get into physical condition for his bout with Sandy Seifert Friday night at Youngstown. Rocco clashed with Seifert a month ago and captured the popular decision. McMahon has been engaged by Manager Joe Cumo to not only act as a tutor but a training partner, and according to McMahon, the big fellow has improved under his tutelage.

It is expected that Rocco will show improved form when he steps into the ring against Seifert, who is a more clever fighter than Rocco. However, Seifert lacks the punishing power of the Ellwood City lad, who hopes to score a knockout within the limit of 12 rounds. Seifert has a steel jaw and during the last fight Emmett concentrated his punches there but may try to win with body punches when they meet again.

Bill McKechnie, former manager of the Pirates, has been named manager of the St. Louis Cardinals to succeed Bob O'Farrell, who will give all his attention to the position behind the bat. Bert Shotten has been signed to replace "Stuffy" McInnis as manager of the Phillies and only recently Jack Slattery was given the position recently held by Dave Bancroft as manager of the Boston Braves. Shotten managed the Syracuse Internationals last season, converting them from a second division team to a crew of pennant winners.

American league arbiters who have worked under Ban Johnson, former president of the American league, have sent a testimonial to their former chieftain in the form of a set of resolutions embossed on a big bronze plaque. When it is presented, Clarence Rowland, Brick Owens and Hugh Brennan, the latter a Chicago fan, will make the presentation.

Earl Sande, noted jockey, will be given a hearing today by the Maryland racing commission on charges that he committed a foul in the Pimlico Futurity. Sande has been reluctant to discuss the ruling that virtually bars him from tracks in North America. Several jockeys who rode with Sande in the classic will testify in his behalf.

Young Sailor of Charleroi handed Jack Zivic a trimming in 10 rounds at Motor Square Garden, Pittsburgh, last night and Tony Canzoneri knocked out Billy Henry of Chicago in the second round at Philadelphia. Canzoneri is the chap that the New York boxing commission favors as a featherweight champion while the Pennsylvania body has recognized Benny Bass as the titleholder.

New Castle high holds the high point scoring mark in the W. P. I. A. league, according to reports today from Pittsburgh. They have scored 349 points against 20. Westinghouse is second with 290 against 18. The league intends to appoint a committee soon which will have charge of selecting the league champion. Defeats by non-league members are not considered this year in the rating of league teams and the title will be awarded on a high point method.

Beall May Finish Third In Marathon

Beall, one of the lads who has recently been graduated from the boys' department in the Y. M. C. A., to the full status of a man, is showing some of his elders a considerable chase in the race to see who will finish third in the 1700-lap marathon swimming race which is being held in the Y. M. C. A. pool. To date Beall has 1100 laps on the title and expects to finish by the end of the week.

Again, the interest in the marathon race has been revived. It will be remembered that Montanari and Glass, two of the strongest swimmers that the Y has produced in some time, finished first and second, respectively.

Handbag Robber Returns Contents, But Adds Dollar

(International News Service)

FREEDOM, Pa., Nov. 8.—Imbued with the spirit that it is better to give than to receive, the thief who stole a handbag containing $30 and church papers from Mary J. Cheney, treasurer of the McClure Bible class, last week, returned the loot today with an additional dollar for the conscience fund.

(International News Service)

Built for comfort, what I mean!

COMFORT and lots of it. I'm talking about Prince Albert, Gentlemen, the National Joy Smoke. Why, there's friendliness in the very aroma of P. A., as you open the tidy red tin. Some fragrance it is, too.

The first pull on a pipe packed with P. A. tells you the taste is equally friendly. Cool and long-burning. Sweet as grape-clusters, ranging on the vine. Mild as arctic sunshine, yet with plenty of good, rich tobacco-body to it you know you're smoking. So mild, in fact, that you can load-up and light-up from breakfast to bedtime.

Now, I'm not one to mix in on other people's affairs. But this pipe-thing is different, somehow. I can't resist tipping you off to what I consider the greatest pipe-tobacco in the world. Get some P. A. now and get some of this comfort I've been telling you about.

Quality and quantity both — TWO full ounces in every tin.

PRINCE ALBERT

British Solons Again In Session

British Parliament Convenes Today For Period Of Six Weeks

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 8—After a recess of more than three months parliament convened today for a six weeks session. The legislative program is so contentious and threatens such turbulance that predictions are being made that parliament will be disolved in February and a general election called.

The chief measures which will come before commons include:

1—The unemployment insurance bill which is designed to put the system of unemployment in Britain upon a solvent basis again.

2—Reform of the House of Lords with modification of the hereditary principle.

3—The vinematograph films bill by which British moving picture theatre owners would be compelled to exhibit a certain quota of British-made films.

In addition to the measures introduced the government will be interpellated at length upon the collapse of the Anglo-Japanese-American naval limitation conference at Geneva and the part that British policy played in causing the conference to fail.

New York Man Jail Prisoner, Suicide Victim

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 8.—Stung by the disgrace of his arrest on a charge of larceny and forgery, Carl Zukerman, 35, of New York, hanged himself in the city jail here today. The body was discovered by Chief of Police De Wald.

A torn sheet indicated Zuckerman had attempted to hang himself previously, but it was believed here the sheet broke. Apparently the man then used a leather strap. The cell was so low he was compelled to swing his legs to one side to strangle himself.

Had Zuckerman waited a few hours longer he would have been released and the charges against him dropped, according to the police.

Marines Oversee Election Vote In Nicaragua

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—U. S. marines, aided by the local constabulary, "successfully observed" the municipal elections throughout Nicaragua yesterday, and there were no disorders, according to a dispatch to the navy today.

Indications are, the dispatch said, that the Liberal party has won a substantial victory and the Conservatives have been defeated.

The American state department has been backing the Conservatives in Nicaragua, maintaining Adolfo Diaz in the president's palace, and refusing recognition to Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, the Liberal leader, who claimed to be the constitutional president of the republic.

I. W. W. Leaders In Pueblo Jail

State Police May Be Sent To Mines By Governor Adams

(International News Service)

DENVER, Nov. 8.—With sixteen of the I. W. W. leaders of coal strike of Southern Colorado in jail at Pueblo today, activities shifted to the Northern field.

According to reports from the Columbine mine of the northern part of the state, a march of 800 strikers upon the mine to intimidate miners who have been faithful to their work since the strike began three weeks ago, was broken up by deputy guard who were armed with sawed off shot guns. No one was injured.

All precautions possible are being taken to quell any outbreak at the Columbine mine today. Governor William H. Adams is said to be ready to send a body of state police to that region immediately should need arise.

The streets of Pueblo are being guarded by armed state police today as a motor party of 140 automobile loads of striking miners is said to be making its way to that city to liberate the I. W. W. leaders held there by the state.

Borland Comments On Community Chest

Jim Borland of the Franklin News-Herald has the following regarding the Community Chest drive here:

"New Castle "fell down" in her first two attempts in 1925 and 1926 to reach the desired goal, $100,000 in her Community Chest campaign but last week she went "over the top" largely through the efforts of Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson who not only put six weeks of hard work into it but also several thousand dollars in real money. The New Castle News gave $1,000 in addition to $600 subscribed by the editor, Fred L. Rentz who says in his paper that she is a wonderful woman and "deserves all the credit as no other person could have put the drive over."
